O'DANIEL'S FILIBUSTER AGAINST OPA BILL ENDS WHEN HE AGREES TO LIMIT DEBATE

House Approves UNRRA Provision Aimed at Russia

Aid Would Be Denied Nations Censoring Distribution Reports

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—The House voted today to bar American relief through UNRRA to any nation censoring press accounts of its distribution—meaning Russia.

"The time has come to quit appeasing," declared Rep. Dirksen (R-Ill) who sponsored the provision.

Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of the Appropriations committee, asserted on the other hand that "the blood of a million boys" might be shed "if we proceed to gratuitously insult a friendly nation."

Despite administration opposition, the House adopted the amendment by a 154 to 53 standing (non-record) vote. It is subject to record vote tomorrow when the House acts finally on the bill to which it was attached. The Senate has yet to consider the bill.

$465,000,000 for UNRRA

The measure carries $465,000,000 for UNRRA, along with $261,571,909 for various other purposes. There was no indication how much of this amount might be slated for UNRRA relief in Russia. Latest reports show UNRRA budget commitments of $189,000,000 to the Ukraine and $61,000,000 to Byelorussia, while actual aid given to those countries through April 30 was $58,000,000 and $24,000,000, respectively. Dirksen said 72 cents of every UNRRA dollar is furnished by the United States.

Dirksen's amendment would prevent the money from being spent for relief in any country "which fails or refuses to permit the properly accredited representatives of the American press to enter, observe and report without censorship on the distribution and utilization of relief and rehabilitation supplies and services furnished to such country."

A similar provision was voted by the House in an UNRRA appropriation last November but the Senate refused to go along. A compromise then was adopted which called upon the president to use his best efforts to get other countries to permit American reporters to cover UNRRA activities freely.

President Truman reported Tuesday that satisfactory arrangements for such coverage "without censorship" were in effect with all countries except Russia.

Differs with Truman

In this connection an Associated Press dispatch from Berlin today reported that Marshall MacDuffie, head of the UNRRA mission in the Ukraine, said President Truman was incorrect when he notified Congress that American correspondents could not report UNRRA activities in Russia. MacDuffie said eight correspondents, including three Americans, visited Kiev and Minsk with UNRRA personnel a month ago.

Dirksen said there have been frequent reports that American food sent abroad for relief purposes has been used for political purposes instead. Only by impartial reporting, he added, can the American people know the true situation.

"I'm opposed to any further appeasement," declared Rep. Barden (D-NC) "I'll not duck my head and shy around every time Mr. Stalin or Mr. Tito says 'Watch out or you might step on my toes'."

Woman Is Stabbed To Death in Restaurant

BALTIMORE, June 27 (AP) — An attractive 28-year-old brunette was stabbed to death in an East Baltimore restaurant tonight.

The stabbling was done so quickly that the 80 diners in the place were unaware of anything unusual going on until the victim toppled to the floor.

Police Lt. Thomas Mooney identified the victim as Mrs. Helen Schuster, and said that he had taken a man into custody for investigation.

President Urges U. S. To Continue To Save Bread

By WILLIAM R. SPEAR

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP) — President Truman today released a report that world food needs "will still be great for many months to come" and urged Americans to continue the "determined effort" to save bread and flour.

The report showed that an estimated 5,500,500 long tons of food grains will have been shipped to hungry areas by the end of this month and Mr. Truman called this an "impressive record." The goal for the first half of 1946 was 6,000,000 tons, and this figure now is expected to be reached by the middle of July.

In issuing the report at his news conference, Mr. Truman declined to comment on the "Macedonian cry" of Sen. Tobey (R-NH) seeking grain for New England poultrymen. Tobey had made public a reply from Mr. Truman saying the question was whether people or chickens should be kept from starving, and the president said the letter speaks for itself.

Mr. Truman announced that Capt. Clark M. Clifford, his naval aide, a former St. Louis attorney, has been appointed special counsel to the president — the post formerly filled by Justice Samuel I. Rosenman. Capt. James H. Foskett, who commanded the cruiser Augusta on which Mr. Truman and President Roosevelt travelled, becomes naval aide.

The following was developed from questions:

1. Mr. Truman considers it unfortunate that Congress has taken so long to pass the OPA bill. Stabilization Director Chester Bowles has wanted to resign for some time but the president hopes he will stay.

2. The Hobbs bill making unions subject to the Anti-Racketeering act is not now before the president—it is going the rounds of various departments for their opinions — and after they are in the decision whether to sign or veto it will be made.

House Committee Votes Revisions In Security Law

Changes Include 50 Per Cent Boost in Funds for Aged, Blind

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP) — Broad revisions of the Social Security law, including a 50 per cent boost in federal contributions for needy aged and the blind, were approved today by the House Ways and Means committee and set for prompt House and Senate action.

The committee voted 17 to 8 for an increase in the public assistance program, which through the state-federal matching system would enable the needy to obtain $60 monthly relief against a present $40 top.

With this new provision inserted, the committee ordered introduction of a bill embracing these other stipulations it already had agreed upon:

1. A 50 per cent increase in the old age and survivors insurance tax Jaunary 1, from one per cent to 1.5 per cent against employes' pay and employers' payrolls. This tax on that date will jump automatically to 2.5 against each if Congress does not act.

2. Blanketing over 200,000 maritime workers under the unemployment compensation program of social security.

3. Inclusion of all veterans' families under the survivor insurance provisions for three years, without cost.

4. Repeal of a provision of the 1943 Revenue act whereby the federal treasury guarantees the solvency of the old age and survivors insurance fund. This guarantee was written when Congress refused to let the security tax increase in wartime.

Chairman Doughton (D-NC), of the Ways and Means group, said he hopes Congress will pass the security law revisions before it adjourns for the summer.

If Congress approves the committee recommendations, the federal cost of the public assistance program will be increased from a present $400,000,000 annually to above $500,000,000. Now receiving public assistance are approximately 2,050,000 aged, 660,000 dependent children and 55,000 blind.

Ministers Agree On Dodecanese But Not Trieste

Strategic Italian-Owned Islands Will Be Given to Greece

PARIS, June 27 (AP)—The "Big Four" foreign ministers agreed today to give the strategic Italian-owned Dodecanese islands to Greece, and the Tenda and Briga regions on the Franco-Italian border to France, an American informant said tonight.

United States Secretary of State James F. Byrnes was so pleased over the progress made at the fruitful three-hour session that he said "I'll need a couple of minutes to catch my breath and recover from the shock," a British source reported.

No Accord on Trieste

Despite the elation of the delegates leaving the council hall, a British authority said he did not believe it would be possible to hold a European peace conference in July, as sought by the Americans, but "perhaps later in the summer."

In today's session Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov also accepted a United States proposal concerning Romanian assets in Allied countries and agreed with the other ministers to limit the Bulgarian navy to 7,260 tons.

No agreement was reported in the key issue of Trieste, freedom of navigation of the Danube, or other major issues at stake as the conference's self-imposed Friday deadline for work on the Italian and Balkan peace treaties neared.

The Danube Question

No progress was made on the question of freedom of navigation on the Danube when Byrnes and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin refused to accept Soviet amendments to a British-proposed statement offered yesterday on that matter.

The British and American objections came on a Russian demand for deletion of a phrase stating that navigation should be on a basis of complete equality.

Byrnes said that as a result of the disagreement he would revert to his original demand that a clause on Danubian navigation be inserted in the Romanian treaty.

Agreement was reached, however, on a clause obliging Romania to restore United Nations property rights seized during the war.

Charleston, W. Va., Has Double Suicide, Murder

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 27 (AP)—A South Charleston girl and a chemical plant worker committed suicide by swallowing enough poison to "kill 100 persons," and another man was shot to death in a rooming house in the capital city area today.

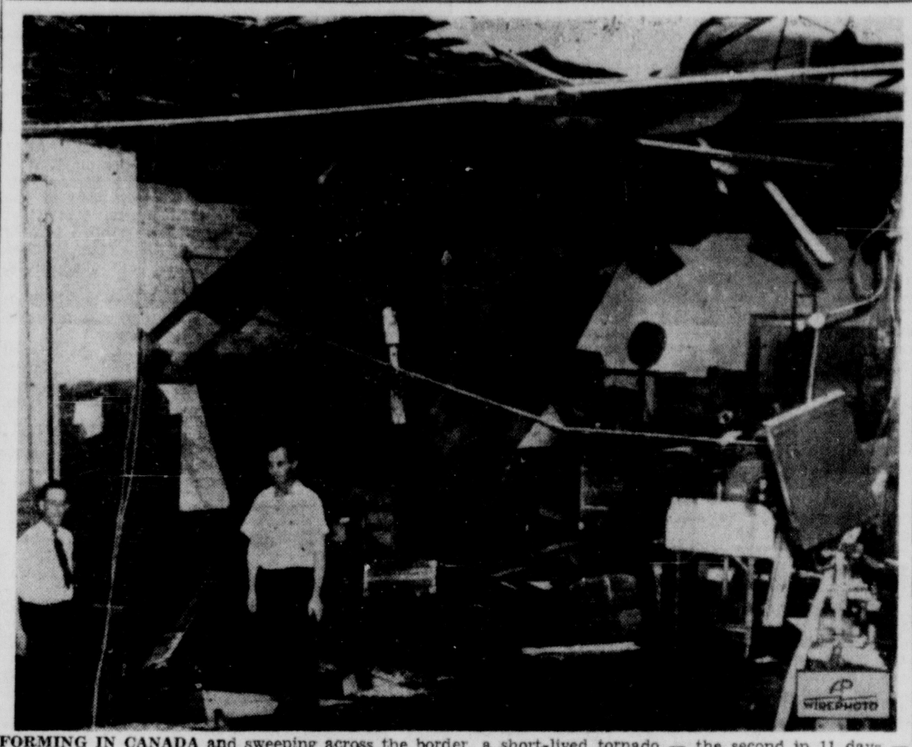
Olive Wymer, 25, a drug store clerk, and Woodrow Aldridge, 29, father of two small children and employed by the Carbide and Carbon Chemicals Corporation, died in her South Charleston apartment after taking ten strychnine tablets each, Acting Coroner R. H. Dunn reported.

City Patrolmen C. P. Gibbs and A. C. Woody said that John Leland Fitzwater, about 50, was arrested after the fatal shooting of Carl Thompson, 38, in a Charleston rooming house. Thompson died of a revolver wound.

Army Fund Is Approved

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—A $7,595,449,868 War department appropriations bill was approved today by the Senate Appropriations committee with a boost of $150,000,000, for relief in former enemy lands.

DETROIT PLANT IS DAMAGED BY TWISTER



FORMING IN CANADA and sweeping across the border, a short-lived tornado — the second in 11 days — caused the above damage yesterday to a Detroit plant which had manufactured brass tubing. The twister injured at least nine persons. There were no immediate reports of any fatalities.

Another Tornado Strikes Detroit; Nine Are Injured

Twister, Second in 11 Days, Causes Extensive Damage

DETROIT, June 27 (AP)—A short-lived tornado — the second in 11 days — swirled across the border today injuring at least nine persons and damaging property in Detroit and Windsor, Ont.

There were no immediate reports of any fatalities.

The twister apparently formed in Windsor, swung across the Detroit river and cut sharply through an industrial area of the American city.

It spent its strength in about two minutes.

Observers said it reversed the direction of a similar tornado that claimed fifteen lives and injured hundreds on June 17.

Witnesses on the Canadian side said a strong wind, accompanying an electrical storm, damaged a section of that city and injured one man.

Those on the American side first saw the black tornado cone in midstream. Seconds later it struck Detroit.

Leo F. Maseth, of the United States Customs Office said he saw a waterspout race across the river from the Canadian side in the vicinity of the international Ambassador bridge.

Meteorologist W. W. Oak, of the Detroit Weather Bureau, said he saw the cone from a window of his office at 3:37 p. m.

Homes and buildings on the Detroit side were extensively damaged.

Stork Visits Woman Who Seeks Governor's Chair in Tennessee

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 27 (AP) —Tennessee's only woman aspirant to the governor's chair —Mrs. Lee Richardson, Memphis housewife — has presented her husband with their fifth child—a daughter.

Attaches at St. Joseph hospital reported that mother and child were "getting along nicely." The baby was born yesterday.

The confinement for this birth made it necessary for Mrs. Richardson to limit her campaigning for the gubernatorial nomination in the August 1 Democratic primary to "writing letters to editors of newspapers."

Reds Abuse Veto, U.N. President Says

By LARRY HAUCK

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP) — Dr. Francisco Castillo Najera, president of the United Nations Security Council and foreign minister of Mexico, tonight described Russia's repeated negative votes on the Spanish question as "abuse of the veto."

Castillo Najera, who exchanged sharp words with Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko at last night's stormy council session, told reporters that the Spanish case "did not really merit" Gromyko's constant use of the veto.

"I have always opposed the veto power in essence," he said, "but I am particularly opposed to the abuse of the veto."

Castillo Najera, who voted with Russia, France and Poland for a world-wide diplomatic break with the regime of Generalissimo Francisco Franco, declared that the ultimate results of last night's debate are such that "it would not be strange if Franco, the man who stands accused, would interpret them in his favor."

Meanwhile, a final showdown on the veto question loomed as the aftermath of Russia's triple use of the veto in a single session.

GIRL BARES BRANDED BODY TO COURT JURY

BOSTON, June 27 (AP) — Helen Stavrou, 18-year-old former army airfield typist, showed burn-scarred breasts to a 12-man superior court jury today and later slumped unconscious as she was cross-examined on her testimony of 17 hours of suffering with a 24-year-old medalled army flier.

The girl pushed her dress from her shoulders and stood before jurymen at the request of Prosecuting Attorney Edward M. Sullivan.

On her breasts were ragged "T" and "F" scars which the former Westover field clerk said were initialled into her with burning cigarets when she was "in mortal terror" during 17 hours in a Boston hotel room with Lt. Thomas Farrell, Somerville.

Contained under early cross-examination, Miss Stavrou collapsed late today and after being carried to a window by policemen was revived by a court doctor.

Judge Edward J. Voke adjourned the trial when the girl regained consciousness.

Britain Decides To Ration Bread Starting July 21

Adults To Receive Nine Ounces Daily with Less for Children

LONDON, June 27. (AP)—Britain today rationed bread and flour effective July 21, cutting food to a point as low as at any time during the war, and bringing instant protest from housewives.

The long-dreaded step, evaded throughout six years of hostilities, was announced to a glum House of Commons by Food Minister John Strachey, who said there would be a basic bread ration of nine ounces daily for adults, with less for children and more for manual workers. The bread ration will be about three ounces a week less than present average consumption.

First public reaction was one of disappointment tempered by the fact that most people had expected the decision.

But the British Housewives' League, claiming thousands of members, immediately declared, "We are not going to take this lying down."

Former Prime Minister Winston Churchill told the House that "this is one of the gravest announcements ever heard made in the house in the time of peace."

In giving details of the decision, Strachey said "it would not be fair to say that the United States is making no efforts or sacrifices in this matter."

"The United States," he added, "is suffering very considerably in certain areas from difficulties of distribution."

Strachey explained that bread rationing would cut consumption by five to 10 per cent and declared it was absolutely necessary in order to avoid gambling with "the basic food supply of the British people."

He declined to give the grain facts and figures behind the decision, however, despite vigorous prodding from Churchill.

Churchill, recalling that his wartime coalition cabinet never rationed bread "even in the darkest days of submarine warfare," declared that "if we have to have rationing of bread, we must, but we are entitled to have the facts and figures."

Strachey replied "there are very great objections to mentioning our bread stocks." He said the intoduc-

Texas "Iron Man" Talks for More Than Eight Hours Against Measure

Husky Former Flour Salesman Had Hoped Out Loud for Assistance

VOTE ON LEGISLATION TODAY SEEMS CERTAIN

Indications Point to Passage of House-Approved Compromise

By FRANCIS J. KELLY

WASHINGTON, June 28 (Friday) (AP)—A lone wolf filibuster by Sen. O'Daniel (D-Tex) against the OPA bill blew up early today when the Texan grudgingly consented to a limitation on further debate.

After O'Daniel had held the floor continuously for eight hours and 18 minutes, Majority Leader Barkley put through the unanimous consent agreement which limits further debate to one hour per senator. O'Daniel started at 3:52 p. m. EST Thursday and called quits at 12:10 a. m. today.

The move apparently assured a final vote on the OPA extension bill today with indication it would be approved. The Senate recessed at 12:10 a. m. until 11 this morning, and few senators had indicated any desire to do much talking. O'Daniel under the agreement, can have another hour if he wants it.

O'Daniel, a husky former flour salesman, had been on his feet only a couple of hours when he conceded he could not talk the bill to death without help. To do so, he would have had to hold on until midnight Sunday, when the present law expires.

Hoped for Assistance

He kept hoping out loud for assistance, but none was forthcoming, except for brief respites while Sens. Bridges (R-NH) and Reed (R-Kas) propounded questions.

There were rumors that Sen. Langer (R-ND) was trying to get plane reservations to Washington to help carry on the fight, but he did not appear in time to help O'Daniel, and was reported still in Fargo when the Senate quit.

Refreshed by an occasional swig of milk, the Texan appeared remarkably fresh after his talking stint of a full working day.

Barkley was rebuffed twice in his efforts to get unanimous consent for a limitation of debate, and finally at 10 p. m. last night filed a cloture ptition signed by 24 senators.

It would have come up for a vote at 1 p. m. Saturday. If adopted by a two-thirds majority, it would have set the same one hour talk limit for each senator to which O'Daniel finally agreed.

Standies Line Gallery Walls

With standees lining the walls of crowded galleries, the big Texan pounded away at the New Deal in general and the OPA in particular

Senate Group Approves 25,000 More Officers

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—After a crisp appeal from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, a Senate Military subcommittee today quickly approved 25,000 additional regular army officers, doubling the present authorized strength.

The chief of staff said no one can accurately foretell now the exact requirements for the peacetime army but that it probably must be near one million men as long as our forces occupy Germany and Japan.

The 25,000 additional regular army officers will be needed "for the next 25 or 30 years, or until the UNO (United Nations) becomes a definitely effective force," he testified.

Sen. Radcliffe, Conceding Defeat, Wires Congratulations to O'Conor

BALTIMORE, June 27 (AP)—Sen. Radcliffe conceded today that he had been defeated for renomination in Monay's primary by Gov. O'Conor and wired his congratulations to the Democratic nominee.

The concession of defeat came only after return from the official canvass, which got under way today, showed that O'Conor had retained his lead in the counties where the vote was close.

The canvass showed O'Conor had carried Worcester county, 1,790 to 1,681 votes, Charles county, 713 to 565, and Carroll county, 1,684 to 1,406.

In the face of those returns, Radcliffe, who had hoped that the official count would swing some of the counties from O'Conor to his column, issued the following statement:

"Although election tabulations have not yet been completed, they indicate that Gov. O'Conor has been chosen as Democratic candidate for the United States Senate. I offer him my congratulations and assistance."

By 11 p. m., the official tallies had been competed in 11 counties—Calvert, Carroll, Cecil, Charles, Garrett, Harford, Howard, St. Mary's, Talbot, Washington and Worcester.

Except for a change in one county, the returns from the first group of counties to complete their official canvass bore out the unofficial returns.

NAVY DISCLOSES PLANE SHAPED LIKE PANCAKE

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—An experimental fighter plane, shaped like a pancake but expected to be able to hover at a standstill or skim along at speeds up to 550 miles an hour, was disclosed today by the United States Navy.

The plane is unlike anything disclosed anywhere else in the world.

Known privately as the "Skimmer" it was built by Chance Vought Aircraft at Bridgeport, Conn., and while the present model will not fly before Labor day, the design already has been tested with a full-scale flying model.

The navy withheld dimensions and performance of the "Skimmer" other than to say that it is expected to have a speed range of 40 to 425 miles an hour with the present 1,400 horsepower engines.

Quizzing of Kidnap-Slaying Suspect Is Delayed by His Partial Collapse

PHOENIX, Ariz., June 27 (AP)—Chicago officers questioned Richard R. Thomas for the first time today about the slaying of Suzanne Degnan but made no progress because of his partial collapse from nervousness.

Thomas, who claims he killed the Chicago girl, said he was ill and needed a rest. He asked that the questioning be deferred until he felt better. The request was granted and he was taken to a jail cell.

"We tried to go into the matter of the dissection," said Assistant District Atty. Edward F. Healy, of Chicago, "but could not get anywhere because he was so nervous and distraught."

A striking similarity of the letters "D" and "T" in the handwriting of Thomas and that of the author of the Degnan ransom note was disclosed earlier today.

However, in Chicago, Chief of Detectives Walter Storms said Thomas's fingerprints did not match those on the ransom note.

Thomas's wife, Margaret, a registered nurse, was questioned today by the Chicago authorities. She was accompanied by their six-year-old daughter, Geraldine. Thomas is awaiting sentence on conviction of attempted rape of another daughter 12.

Mrs. Thomas, who asserted her husband would "rather lie than tell the truth," Healy said, declared her 16 years of marriage to the roving radio singer and poet was one of wandering and financial uncertainty.

The Chicago district attorney said she confirmed her husband's statement that he had worked at Barnes hospital in St. Louis, from which he said he had stolen the surgical instruments used in dismembering Suzanne's body. However, Mrs. Thomas added, she did not believe Thomas could have kept surgical instruments in his possession without her knowledge.

She said that on the morning after Suzanne was kidnaped, Healy reported, her husband came home with two newspapers and, pointing to the headlines, said:

"Now isn't this a hell of a town we're living in. Don't let our girls go out by themselves."

CLEVELAND, June 27 (AP) — A judge decided today that Mrs. Mary Pauer, 51, "almost succeeded" in driving her husband George, 44, insane with "diabolic" stunts. So he awarded Pauer a divorce on his cross-petition.

"I think her stunts were diabolic," said Common Pleas Judge Samuel H. Silbert. "She sang late at night over his protests and she danced late into the night to antagonize him."

Echoing an attorney's phrase that "she was a tigress on the hunt," the judge declared "the psychological stunts practiced by this woman are the most unusual thing this court has ever heard."

The stunts, testimony in the case showed, including writing Pauer notes which said "Think, think, think," overturning furniture in their home, and the planting of a dummy dressed in women's clothes in the Pauer driveway.

The husband testified the dummy was intended to represent Mrs. Pauer, and that she put it in the driveway to make him believe he was "seeing things" and going crazy.

Mrs. Pauer filed suit for divorce, her attorneys claiming Pauer, a pharmacist, was addicted to drugs and alcohol.

Ministers Agree On Dodecanese But Not Trieste

Strategic Italian-Owned Islands Will Be Given to Greece

PARIS, June 27 (AP)—The "Big Four" foreign ministers agreed today to give the strategic Italian-owned Dodecanese islands to Greece, and the Tenda and Briga regions on the Franco-Italian border to France, an American informant said tonight.

United States Secretary of State James F. Byrnes was so pleased over the progress made at the fruitful three-hour session that he said "I'll need a couple of minutes to catch my breath and recover from the shock," a British source reported.

No Accord on Trieste

Despite the elation of the delegates leaving the council hall, a British authority said he did not believe it would be possible to hold a European peace conference in July, as sought by the Americans, but "perhaps later in the summer."

In today's session Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov also accepted a United States proposal concerning Romanian assets in Allied countries and agreed with the other ministers to limit the Bulgarian navy to 7,250 tons.

No agreement was reported in the key issue of Trieste, freedom of navigation of the Danube, or other major issues at stake as the conference's self-imposed Friday deadline for work on the Italian and Balkan peace treaties neared.

The Danube Question

No progress was made on the question of freedom of navigation on the Danube when Byrnes and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin refused to accept Soviet amendments to a British-proposed statement offered yesterday on that matter.

The British and American objections came on a Russian demand for deletion of a phrase stating that navigation should be on a basis of complete equality.

Byrnes said that as a result of the disagreement he would revert to his original demand that a clause on Danubian navigation be inserted in the Romanian treaty.

Agreement was reached, however, on a clause obliging Romania to restore United Nations property rights seized during the war.

Charleston, W. Va., Has Double Suicide, Murder

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 27 (AP)—A South Charleston girl and a chemical plant worker committed suicide by swallowing enough poison to "kill 100 persons," and another man was shot to death in a rooming house in the capital city area today.

Olive Wymer, 25, a drug store clerk, and Woodrow Aldridge, 29, father of two small children and employed by the Carbide and Carbon Chemicals Corporation, died in her South Charleston apartment after taking ten strychnine tablets each, Acting Coroner R. H. Dunn reported.

City Patrolmen C. P. Gibbs and A. C. Woody said that John Leland Fitzwater, about 50, was arrested after the fatal shooting of Carl Thompson, 38, in a Charleston rooming house. Thompson died of a revolver wound.

Army Fund Is Approved

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—A $7,595,449,868 War department appropriations bill was approved today by the Senate Appropriations committee with a boost of $150,000,000, for relief in former enemy lands.

NAVY DISCLOSES PLANE SHAPED LIKE PANCAKE

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—An experimental fighter plane, shaped like a pancake but expected to be able to hover at a standstill or skim along at speeds up to 550 miles an hour, was disclosed today by the United States Navy.

The plane is unlike anything disclosed anywhere else in the world.

Known privately as the "Skimmer" it was built by Chance Vought Aircraft at Bridgeport, Conn., and while the present model will not fly before Labor day, the design already has been tested with a full-scale flying model.

The navy withheld dimensions and performance of the "Skimmer" other than to say that it is expected to have a speed range of 40 to 425 miles an hour with the present 1,400 horsepower engines.

DETROIT PLANT IS DAMAGED BY TWISTER

FORMING IN CANADA and sweeping across the border, a short-lived tornado — the second in 11 days — caused the above damage yesterday to a Detroit plant which had manufactured brass tubing. The twister injured at least nine persons. There were no immediate reports of any fatalities.

Another Tornado Strikes Detroit; Nine Are Injured

Twister, Second in 11 Days, Causes Extensive Damage

DETROIT, June 27 (AP)—A short-lived tornado — the second in 11 days — swirled across the border today injuring at least nine persons and damaging property in Detroit and Windsor, Ont.

There were no immediate reports of any fatalities.

The twister apparently formed in Windsor, swung across the Detroit river and cut sharply through an industrial area of the American city.

It spent its strength in about two minutes.

Observers said it reversed the direction of a similar tornado that claimed fifteen lives and injured hundreds on June 17.

Witnesses on the Canadian side said a strong wind, accompanying an electrical storm, damaged a section of that city and injured one man.

Those on the American side first saw the black tornado cone in midstream. Seconds later it struck Detroit.

Leo F. Maseth, of the United States Customs Office said he saw a waterspout race across the river from the Canadian side in the vicinity of the international Ambassador bridge.

Meteorologist W. W. Oak, of the Detroit Weather Bureau, said he saw the cone from a window of his office at 3:37 p. m.

Homes and buildings on the Detroit side were extensively damaged.

Stork Visits Woman Who Seeks Governor's Chair in Tennessee

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 27 (AP) —Tennessee's only woman aspirant to the governor's chair —Mrs. Lee Richardson, Memphis housewife — has presented her husband with their fifth child—a daughter.

Attaches at St. Joseph hospital reported that mother and child were "getting along nicely." The baby was born yesterday.

The confinement for this birth made it necessary for Mrs. Richardson to limit her campaigning for the gubernatorial nomination in the August 1 Democratic primary to "writing letters to editors of newspapers."

Reds Abuse Veto, U.N. President Says

By LARRY HAUCK

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP) — Dr. Francisco Castillo Najera, president of the United Nations Security Council and foreign minister of Mexico, tonight described Russia's repeated negative votes on the Spanish question as "abuse of the veto."

Castillo Najera, who exchanged sharp words with Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko at last night's stormy council session, told reporters that the Spanish case "did not really merit" Gromyko's constant use of the veto.

"I have always opposed the veto power in essence," he said, "but I am particularly opposed to the abuse of the veto."

Castillo Najera, who voted with Russia, France and Poland for a world-wide diplomatic break with the regime of Generalissimo Francisco Franco, declared that the ultimate results of last night's debate are such that "it would not be strange if Franco, the man who stands accused, would interpret them in his favor."

Meanwhile, a final showdown on the veto question loomed as the aftermath of Russia's triple use of the veto in a single session.

GIRL BARES BRANDED BODY TO COURT JURY

BOSTON, June 27 (AP) — Helen Stavrou, 18-year-old former army airfield typist, showed burn-scarred breasts to a 12-man superior court jury today and later slumped unconscious as she was cross-examined on her testimony of 17 hours of suffering with a 24-year-old medalled army flier.

On her breasts were ragged "T" and "F" scars which the former Westover field clerk said were initialled into her with burning cigarets when she was "in mortal terror" during 17 hours in a Boston hotel room with Lt. Thomas Farrell, Somerville.

Contained under early cross-examination, Miss Stavrou collapsed late today and after being carried to a window by policemen was revived by a court doctor.

Judge Edward J. Voke adjourned the trial when the girl regained consciousness.

Britain Decides To Ration Bread Starting July 21

Adults To Receive Nine Ounces Daily with Less for Children

LONDON, June 27. (AP)—Britain today rationed bread and flour effective July 21, cutting food to a point as low as at any time during the war, and bringing instant protest from housewives.

The long-dreaded step, evaded throughout six years of hostilities, was announced to a glum House of Commons by Food Minister John Strachey, who said there would be a basic bread ration of nine ounces daily for adults, with less for children and more for manual workers. The bread ration will be about three ounces a week less than present average consumption.

First public reaction was one of disappointment tempered by the fact that most people had expected the decision.

But the British Housewives' League, claiming thousands of members, immediately declared, "We are not going to take this lying down."

Former Prime Minister Winston Churchill told the House that "this is one of the gravest announcements ever heard made in the house in the time of peace."

In giving details of the decision, Strachey said "it would not be fair to say that the United States is making no efforts or sacrifices in this matter."

"The United States," he added, "is suffering very considerably in certain areas from difficulties of distribution."

Strachey explained that bread rationing would cut consumption by five to 10 per cent and declared it was absolutely necessary in order to avoid gambling with "the basic food supply of the British people."

He declined to give the grain facts and figures behind the decision, however, despite vigorous prodding from Churchill.

Churchill, recalling that his wartime coalition cabinet never rationed bread "even in the darkest days of submarine warfare," declared that "if we have to have rationing of bread, we must, but we are entitled to have the facts and figures."

Strachey replied "there are very great objections to mentioning our bread stocks." He said the intoduc-

Texas "Iron Man" Talks for More Than Eight Hours Against Measure

Husky Former Flour Salesman Had Hoped Out Loud for Assistance

By FRANCIS J. KELLY

WASHINGTON, June 28 (Friday) (AP)—A lone wolf filibuster by Sen. O'Daniel (D-Tex) against the OPA bill blew up early today when the Texan grudgingly consented to a limitation on further debate.

After O'Daniel had held the floor continuously for eight hours and 18 minutes, Majority Leader Barkley put through the unanimous consent agreement which limits further debate to one hour per senator. O'Daniel started at 3:52 p. m. EST Thursday and called quits at 12:10 a. m. today.

The move apparently assured a final vote on the OPA extension bill today with indication it would be approved. The Senate recessed at 12:10 a. m. until 11 this morning, and few senators had indicated any desire to do much talking. O'Daniel under the agreement, can have another hour if he wants it.

O'Daniel, a husky former flour salesman, had been on his feet only a couple of hours when he conceded he could not talk the bill to death without help. To do so, he would have had to hold on until midnight Sunday, when the present law expires.

Hoped for Assistance

He kept hoping out loud for assistance, but none was forthcoming, except for brief respites while Sens. Bridges (R-NH) and Reed (R-Kas) propounded questions.

There were rumors that Sen. Langer (R-ND) was trying to get plane reservations to Washington to help carry on the fight, but he did not appear in time to help O'Daniel, and was reported still in Fargo when the Senate quit.

Refreshed by an occasional swig of milk, the Texan appeared remarkably fresh after his talking stint of a full working day.

Barkley was rebuffed twice in his efforts to get unanimous consent for a limitation of debate, and finally at 10 p. m. last night filed a cloture ptition signed by 24 senators.

It would have come up for a vote at 1 p. m. Saturday. If adopted by a two-thirds majority, it would have set the same one hour talk limit for each senator to which O'Daniel finally agreed.

Senate Group Approves 25,000 More Officers

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—After a crisp appeal from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, a Senate Military subcommittee today quickly approved 25,000 additional regular army officers, doubling the present authorized strength.

The chief of staff said no one can accurately foretell now the exact requirements for the peacetime army but that it probably must be near one million men as long as our forces occupy Germany and Japan.

The 25,000 additional regular army officers will be needed "for the next 25 or 30 years, or until the UNO (United Nations) becomes a definitely effective force," he testified.

Quizzing of Kidnap-Slaying Suspect Is Delayed by His Partial Collapse

PHOENIX, Ariz., June 27 (AP)—Chicago officers questioned Richard R. Thomas for the first time today about the slaying of Suzanne Degnan but made no progress because of his partial collapse from nervousness.

Thomas, who claims he killed the Chicago girl, said he was ill and needed a rest. He asked that the questioning be deferred until he felt better. The request was granted and he was taken to a jail cell.

"We tried to go into the matter of the dissection," said Assistant District Atty. Edward F. Healy, of Chicago, "but could not get anywhere because he was so nervous and distraught."

A striking similarity of the letters "D" and "T" in the handwriting of Thomas and that of the author of the Degnan ransom note was disclosed earlier today.

However, in Chicago, Chief of Detectives Walter Storms said Thomas's fingerprints did not match those on the ransom note.

Thomas's wife, Margaret, a registered nurse, was questioned today by the Chicago authorities. She was accompanied by their six-year-old daughter, Geraldine. Thomas is awaiting sentence on conviction of attempted rape of another daughter 12.

Mrs. Thomas, who asserted her husband would "rather lie than tell the truth," Healy said, declared her 16 years of marriage to the roving radio singer and poet was one of wandering and financial uncertainty.

The Chicago district attorney said she confirmed her husband's statement that he had worked at Barnes hospital in St. Louis, from which he said he had stolen the surgical instruments used in dismembering Suzanne's body. However, Mrs. Thomas added, she did not believe Thomas could have kept surgical instruments in his possession without her knowledge.

She said that on the morning after Suzanne was kidnaped, Healy reported, her husband came home with two newspapers and, pointing to the headlines, said:

"Now isn't this a hell of a town we're living in. Don't let our girls go out by themselves."

Sen. Radcliffe, Conceding Defeat, Wires Congratulations to O'Conor

BALTIMORE, June 27 (AP)—Sen. Radcliffe conceded today that he had been defeated for renomination in Monay's primary by Gov. O'Conor and wired his congratulations to the Democratic nominee.

The concession of defeat came only after return from the official canvass, which got under way today, showed that O'Conor had retained his lead in the counties where the vote was close.

The canvass showed O'Conor had carried Worcester county, 1,790 to 1,681 votes, Charles county, 713 to 565, and Carroll county, 1,684 to 1,406.

In the face of those returns, Radcliffe, who had hoped that the official count would swing some of the counties from O'Conor to his column, issued the following statement:

"Although election tabulations have not yet been completed, they indicate that Gov. O'Conor has been chosen as Democratic candidate for the United States Senate. I offer him my congratulations and assistance."

By 11 p. m., the official tallies had been competed in 11 counties—Calvert, Carroll, Cecil, Charles, Garrett, Harford, Howard, St. Mary's, Talbot, Washington and Worcester.

Except for a change in one county, the returns from the first group of counties to complete their official canvass bore out the unofficial returns.

Man Almost Driven Insane by Wife's "Diabolic" Stunts Is Given Divorce

CLEVELAND, June 27 (AP) — A judge decided today that Mrs. Mary Pauer, 51, "almost succeeded" in driving her husband George, 44, insane with "diabolic" stunts. So he awarded Pauer a divorce on his cross-petition.

"I think her stunts were diabolic," said Common Pleas Judge Samuel H. Silbert. "She sang late at night over his protests and she danced late into the night to antagonize him."

Echoing an attorney's phrase that "she was a tigress on the hunt," the judge declared "the psychological stunts practiced by this woman are the most unusual thing this court has ever heard."

The stunts, testimony in the case showed, including writing Pauer notes which said "Think, think, think," overturning furniture in their home, and the planting of a dummy dressed in women's clothes in the Pauer driveway.

The husband testified the dummy was intended to represent Mrs. Pauer, and that she put it in the driveway to make him believe he was "seeing things" and going crazy.

Mrs. Pauer filed suit for divorce, her attorneys claiming Pauer, a pharmacist, was addicted to drugs and alcohol.

Attorneys Urge Study of Divorce Trial Procedure

Creation of New Ground for Absolute Divorce Is Advocated

ATLANTIC CITY, June 27 (AP)—A study to recommend changes in Maryland divorce trial procedure and the creation of a new ground for absolute divorce were advocated today by the laws committee of the Maryland Bar Association.

The group, which began a three-day convention here today, received a report from the laws committee suggesting that the association back an amendment to Maryland law which would make final conviction of a felony a seventh ground for absolute divorce.

Maryland statutes at present contain six grounds for absolute divorce. The state's Legislative council has proposed three additional grounds, including the measure advocated by the laws committee of the bar association.

The committee, which is headed by Philip B. Perlman, Baltimore, proposed the study of divorce trial procedure because it said, the system of hearings before trial examiners—under which ultimate decisions in most cases are handed down by judges and masters who do not see or hear witnesses in court—is "not satisfactory."

The association, presided over by Federal Judge W. Calvin Chestnut, also received a report from Judge William J. McWilliams, Annapolis, on behalf of the association's grievance committee.

McWilliams proposed that Maryland attorneys advising or aiding persons trying to obtain divorces in other states with less stringent laws in cases of questionable validity should merit disciplinary action.

The law committee's report, referring to the state Legislative council's proposal that extreme cruelty and involuntary separation be made additional grounds for absolute divorce, declared:

"Those proposals . . . are matters of state policy which should be determined by the General Assembly and the governor." Regarding them, it added, "There does not seem to be any pressing reason at this time for this association to make any recommendation."

"I've got Poison Ivy!"

A doctor wrote a prescription for a patient suffering from irritating poison ivy. The quick relief he got was amazing. The doctor gave the druggist who fills the prescription permission to put it up for sale. It's called Cal-A-Grin, and now on sale in your town. If you don't find the greatest thing you ever used to relieve the itching of tormenting ivy and oak poison, you can have your money back without an argument. Cal-A-Grin is also great for the itching of athlete's foot, insect bites and minor skin irritations. Thousands of delighted users.

Fewer Summer Jobs At Lower Salaries Seen for Students

There are fewer jobs and lower salaries for high school graduates and students looking for summer vacation work this year, according to Patrick J. Carroll, manager of the local office of the United States Employment Service, and local health department officials.

During the war the USES went to high schools to register students for summer work, but did not take that step this year because of the surplus of labor available. Nonetheless, about 100 high school students have registered for work although only a few have been placed. More than 500 students were employed in local industries and business houses in the summer months during the war.

At the health department, where vacation and after-school employment certificates are issued to youngsters from 14 up, it was pointed out that a year ago youths were making $35 to $40 weekly but that now they are receiving promises of $16 to $19.

The health department, however, is experiencing its usual early summer demand for the work certificates, and reports that the number of applications has not changed to a great extent from recent years.

Man Is Injured In Eckhart Crash

A Warwood, W. Va., man was admitted to Miners hospital, Frostburg, yesterday morning for treatment of injuries suffered in a car-truck collision at Eckhart and a local man was treated in Allegany hospital early yesterday morning for injuries suffered when he was struck by a bus here.

The injured West Virginian, Raymond Dody, 43, was reported in a "good" condition last evening in the Frostburg hospital where he was admitted suffering from cuts about the right eye and nose and a right knee cap injury.

Dody was riding in a car operated by Martin Edward Wright, 44, Wheeling, W. Va., when the vehicle crashed against a produce truck driven by Howard O. Quinn, 76 Locust street, Frostburg, as the truck was making a left turn from Route 40, according to Trooper First Class Harry Holsinger.

Trooper Holsinger said Wright is being held in the county jail for a hearing today at 10 a. m. before Magistrate Owen Porter on a state motor vehicle charge.

The pedestrian Charles E. Stalnaker, 29, 520 Beall street, was treated in Allegany hospital at 12:15 a. m. yesterday for brush burns and a right knee injury suffered when struck by a truck while waiting for a bus to go to work at the Western Maryland railway. X-rays taken yesterday morning were negative.

Attaches said the truck was driven by Robert Meyers.

Veteran of Iwo Jima Enlists in Marines

John Joseph Cline, 21, 207 Bedford street, son of Mrs. Helen C. Cline and a veteran of two years' service, re-enlisted yesterday in the marine corps, according to S-Sgt. Murrel W. Brainerd, local recruiter.

Cline was discharged in the grade of corporal and saw active service in Iwo Jima, China and Japan, Brainerd said.

Texas "Iron Man"

in what he conceded would be a futile effort—unless he could get help—to talk price controls to death.

At 11:52 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, last night, O'Daniel had completed, between swigs from two glasses of milk, eight full hours of talking. At midnight he still was going strong, seemingly warming to his work despite a cracking voice from obviously tried vocal cords.

Warily Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky), who was keeping the Senate in continuous session, watched for any signs of faltering on the part of the former Texas flour salesman.

Barkley had tried twice without success to get O'Daniel to agree to vote at a specific time. Then the Democratic leader circulated a debate-limiting petition, got 24 signers, and filed it.

Earlier, O'Daniel said he heard rumors that Sen. Langer (R-ND), no slouch in a filibuster, was winging his way here to join the fight.

The rumor was passed on to him by Sen. Bridges (R-NH) who asked if he had received a telegram from Sen. Langer (R-ND) saying he was flying to Washington to help talk the price control extension bill to death.

Would "Welcome" Help

"No," O'Daniel replied, "except I just heard that rumor floating by. I'd sure welcome any help."

The "gag" petition would limit debate to an hour for each senator. But it would take two-thirds of the Senate to pass it, and the Senate traditionally is reluctant to put a limit on talk. Also, under the rules, it must lie over a day so that it could not come up until Saturday.

O'Daniel had been pleading for help in his talkathon but the biggest help he got was in lengthy questions from Sen. Bridges. By the time he neared the end of seven hours he was talking hoarsely about the inability of one man to carry the load he had picked up.

That was before Barkley started around with his petition.

Woman Will Face Charge of Murder

CINCINNATI, June 27 (AP)—Buxom Mrs. Ivy F. Krumholz, 40, who said she was a restaurant proprietor, today agreed to return to her home town of Princess Anne, Md., and face a murder charge in the slaying of a poultry dealer.

Arraigned before United States Commissioner J. Paul Geoghegan on a fugitive charge, Mrs. Krumholz, who was found by the FBI and Maryland State Police waiting tables in a downtown Cincinnati restaurant, waived extradition and said she would accompany two Maryland officers to Princess Anne tonight.

Cpls. Charles Andrews and John Gates, of the Maryland State Police, said Mrs. Krumholz was charged with murder after the body of Rollin Roscoe Riley, Vineland, N. J., was found, shot through the head, in an apartment in Princess Anne June 7.

Andrews said Riley had been dead for about two days when the crime was discovered.

Andrews and Evans said they were seeking airline reservations to make the trip tonight.

Incomplete returns from Anne Arundel county had Joseph A. Wilmer leading D. John Markey for the Republican nomination to the United States Senate. The final canvass, based on complete returns from the 49 polling places, showed that Markey had won the county, 791 to 629.

It did not affect the nomination, as Markey already had a majority of the convention votes.

So the lineup in November will be William Preston Lane, Jr., Democrat, vs. Theodore R. McKeldin, Republican, for the governorship, and Herbert R. O'Conor, Democrat, vs. John D. Markey, Republican, for the junior United States Senate seat from Maryland.

The canvass is expected to be complete sometime tomorrow.

Mills Congratulates McKeldin

BALTIMORE, June 27 (AP)—The defeated candidate in the two-way race for the Republican nomination for governor today offered his support to the man who will carry the GOP's hopes in the Maryland general election in November.

Herman L. Mills, Hagerstown businessman, wrote his congratulations and offer of support to Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin, of Baltimore, who defeated him for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

"I stand ready to do all in my power to aid you in your election next November," Mills told McKeldin.

McKeldin's Democratic opponent in the race for governor will be William Preston Lane, Jr., Hagerstown publisher and banker, who won the nomination in a five-man race.

Wreckage of Missing Army Plane Is Found

MIDDLETOWN, Pa., June 27 (AP)—Missing for more than a week, wreckage of an army AT-6 trainer plane was found today near the top of a peak in the Blue mountains of South-Central Pennsylvania, the Middletown air technical service command reported.

The body of the pilot lay near the debris strewn over 200 feet of densely-wooded mountain near Newburg, but army authorities declined officially to indentify it as Capt. Frank M. Fink, 28, Philadelphia, pending notification of kin.

Capt. Fink was reported missing the night of June 18 when he went aloft for night training.

Attorneys Urge Study of Divorce Trial Procedure

Creation of New Ground for Absolute Divorce Is Advocated

ATLANTIC CITY, June 27 (AP)—A study to recommend changes in Maryland divorce trial procedure and the creation of a new ground for absolute divorce were advocated today by the laws committee of the Maryland Bar Association.

The group, which began a three-day convention here today, received a report from the laws committee suggesting that the association back an amendment to Maryland law which would make final conviction of a felony a seventh ground for absolute divorce.

Maryland statutes at present contain six grounds for absolute divorce. The state's Legislative council has proposed three additional grounds, including the measure advocated by the laws committee of the bar association.

The committee, which is headed by Philip B. Perlman, Baltimore, proposed the study of divorce trial procedure because it said, the system of hearings before trial examiners—under which ultimate decisions in most cases are handed down by judges and masters who do not see or hear witnesses in court—is "not satisfactory."

The association, presided over by Federal Judge W. Calvin Chestnut, also received a report from Judge William J. McWilliams, Annapolis, on behalf of the association's grievance committee.

McWilliams proposed that Maryland attorneys advising or aiding persons trying to obtain divorces in other states with less stringent laws in cases of questionable validity should merit disciplinary action.

The law committee's report, referring to the state Legislative council's proposal that extreme cruelty and involuntary separation be made additional grounds for absolute divorce, declared:

"Those proposals . . . are matters of state policy which should be determined by the General Assembly and the governor." Regarding them, it added, "There does not seem to be any pressing reason at this time for this association to make any recommendation."

Fewer Summer Jobs At Lower Salaries Seen for Students

There are fewer jobs and lower salaries for high school graduates and students looking for summer vacation work this year, according to Patrick J. Carroll, manager of the local office of the United States Employment Service, and local health department officials.

During the war the USES went to high schools to register students for summer work, but did not take that step this year because of the surplus of labor available. Nonetheless, about 100 high school students have registered for work although only a few have been placed. More than 500 students were employed in local industries and business houses in the summer months during the war.

At the health department, where vacation and after-school employment certificates are issued to youngsters from 14 up, it was pointed out that a year ago youths were making $35 to $40 weekly but that now they are receiving promises of $16 to $19.

The health department, however, is experiencing its usual early summer demand for the work certificates, and reports that the number of applications has not changed to a great extent from recent years.

Man Is Injured In Eckhart Crash

A Warwood, W. Va., man was admitted to Miners hospital, Frostburg, yesterday morning for treatment of injuries suffered in a car-truck collision at Eckhart and a local man was treated in Allegany hospital early yesterday morning for injuries suffered when he was struck by a bus here.

The injured West Virginian, Raymond Dody, 43, was reported in a "good" condition last evening in the Frostburg hospital where he was admitted suffering from cuts about the right eye and nose and a right knee cap injury.

Dody was riding in a car operated by Martin Edward Wright, 44, Wheeling, W. Va., when the vehicle crashed against a produce truck driven by Howard O. Quinn, 76 Locust street, Frostburg, as the truck was making a left turn from Route 40, according to Trooper First Class Harry Holsinger.

Trooper Holsinger said Wright is being held in the county jail for a hearing today at 10 a. m. before Magistrate Owen Porter on a state motor vehicle charge.

The pedestrian Charles E. Stalnaker, 29, 520 Beall street, was treated in Allegany hospital at 12:15 a. m. yesterday for brush burns and a right knee injury suffered when struck by a truck while waiting for a bus to go to work at the Western Maryland railway. X-rays taken yesterday morning were negative.

Attaches said the truck was driven by Robert Meyers.

Veteran of Iwo Jima Enlists in Marines

John Joseph Cline, 21, 207 Bedford street, son of Mrs. Helen C. Cline and a veteran of two years' service, re-enlisted yesterday in the marine corps, according to S-Sgt. Murrel W. Brainerd, local recruiter.

Cline was discharged in the grade of corporal and saw active service in Iwo Jima, China and Japan, Brainerd said.

Texas "Iron Man"

At 11:52 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, last night, O'Daniel had completed, between swigs from two glasses of milk, eight full hours of talking. At midnight he still was going strong, seemingly warming to his work despite a cracking voice from obviously tried vocal cords.

Warily Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky), who was keeping the Senate in continuous session, watched for any signs of faltering on the part of the former Texas flour salesman.

Barkley had tried twice without success to get O'Daniel to agree to vote at a specific time. Then the Democratic leader circulated a debate-limiting petition, got 24 signers, and filed it.

Earlier, O'Daniel said he heard rumors that Sen. Langer (R-ND), no slouch in a filibuster, was winging his way here to join the fight.

The rumor was passed on to him by Sen. Bridges (R-NH) who asked if he had received a telegram from Sen. Langer (R-ND) saying he was flying to Washington to help talk the price control extension bill to death.

Would "Welcome" Help

"No," O'Daniel replied, "except I just heard that rumor floating by. I'd sure welcome any help."

The "gag" petition would limit debate to an hour for each senator. But it would take two-thirds of the Senate to pass it, and the Senate traditionally is reluctant to put a limit on talk. Also, under the rules, it must lie over a day so that it could not come up until Saturday.

O'Daniel had been pleading for help in his talkathon but the biggest help he got was in lengthy questions from Sen. Bridges. By the time he neared the end of seven hours he was talking hoarsely about the inability of one man to carry the load he had picked up.

That was before Barkley started around with his petition.

Woman Will Face Charge of Murder

CINCINNATI, June 27 (AP)—Buxom Mrs. Ivy F. Krumholz, 40, who said she was a restaurant proprietor, today agreed to return to her home town of Princess Anne, Md., and face a murder charge in the slaying of a poultry dealer.

Arraigned before United States Commissioner J. Paul Geoghegan on a fugitive charge, Mrs. Krumholz, who was found by the FBI and Maryland State Police waiting tables in a downtown Cincinnati restaurant, waived extradition and said she would accompany two Maryland officers to Princess Anne tonight.

Cpls. Charles Andrews and John Gates, of the Maryland State Police, said Mrs. Krumholz was charged with murder after the body of Rollin Roscoe Riley, Vineland, N. J., was found, shot through the head, in an apartment in Princess Anne June 7.

Andrews said Riley had been dead for about two days when the crime was discovered.

Andrews and Evans said they were seeking airline reservations to make the trip tonight.

Incomplete returns from Anne Arundel county had Joseph A. Wilmer leading D. John Markey for the Republican nomination to the United States Senate. The final canvass, based on complete returns from the 49 polling places, showed that Markey had won the county, 791 to 629.

It did not affect the nomination, as Markey already had a majority of the convention votes.

So the lineup in November will be William Preston Lane, Jr., Democrat, vs. Theodore R. McKeldin, Republican, for the governorship, and Herbert R. O'Conor, Democrat, vs. John D. Markey, Republican, for the junior United States Senate seat from Maryland.

The canvass is expected to be complete sometime tomorrow.

Mills Congratulates McKeldin

BALTIMORE, June 27 (AP)—The defeated candidate in the two-way race for the Republican nomination for governor today offered his support to the man who will carry the GOP's hopes in the Maryland general election in November.

Herman L. Mills, Hagerstown businessman, wrote his congratulations and offer of support to Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin, of Baltimore, who defeated him for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

"I stand ready to do all in my power to aid you in your election next November," Mills told McKeldin.

McKeldin's Democratic opponent in the race for governor will be William Preston Lane, Jr., Hagerstown publisher and banker, who won the nomination in a five-man race.

Three More Local GIs Mustered Out

Three Cumberland soldiers were among a group of 14 Allegany and Garrett county men demobilized at Fort George G. Meade the first three days of this week. They are Sgt. George W. Emerson, Route 1; T-5 Wilbur C. Fresh, 212 Greene street; and Sgt. Donald J. Sherren, 217 Race street.

The others are Pfc. William L. Lambert, of Westernport; Sgt. Brownlee Armstrong and Sgt. Herbert R. Llewellyn, of Rawlings; Sgt. Bernard N. Wilhelm, of Frostburg; Cpl. Robert H. Legeer, of Bittinger; T-5 Charles C. Thomas and T-5 Carl J. Wakefield, of Friendsville; Pvt. Leroy Swauger, of Barton; Pfc. Paul E. McKenzie, of Avilton; Pfc. James A. Tressler, of Accident, and T-4 Luther F. Stoler, of Oakland.

Ten soldiers from nearby points in West Virginia were also among those discharged. They are Pfc. James E. Ours, Pfc. John A. Cook, T-4 Lourn E. Boyce and Pfc. Melvin L. Messenger, of Keyser; Pfc. Blaine Clingerman, of Great Cacapon; Sgt. Marion B. Hughes, of Ridgeley; Pfc. Paul E. Hines, of Dorcas; T-5 Marples H. Riley, of Terra Alta; Sgt. Ray Bowling, of Martin and Pfc. Orville L. Shahan, of Tunnelton.

Sgt. William B. Douglas, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Douglas, of LaVale, was discharged June 22 at Fort Meade after about two years service in the Army Air Forces as an aerial photographer. He plans to enter Swarthmore College, Swarthmore, Pa., next fall.

Wreckage of Missing Army Plane Is Found

MIDDLETOWN, Pa., June 27 (AP)—Missing for more than a week, wreckage of an army AT-6 trainer plane was found today near the top of a peak in the Blue mountains of South-Central Pennsylvania, the Middletown air technical service command reported.

The body of the pilot lay near the debris strewn over 200 feet of densely-wooded mountain near Newburg, but army authorities declined officially to indentify it as Capt. Frank M. Fink, 28, Philadelphia, pending notification of kin.

Capt. Fink was reported missing the night of June 18 when he went aloft for night training.

Arrive in New York

Four local soldiers were due to arrive in New York Wednesday from Europe. They include Pfc. Harold P. Athey, of Bedford street; Cpl. George E. Weaver, 520 Dwyer avenue; Sgt. James W. Murray, of 201 Fifth street, and Sgt. Raymond E. Penner, of 16 Elder street.

Navy Court Considers Rollins Case Evidence

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 27 (AP)—A seven-officer navy general court-martial today took under consideration the evidence and record of the 19-day trial of Chief Steward Walter W. Rollins after hearing the Virgin islands negro declare he was innocent of all charges.

Upon completion of the prosecution's summation by Lt. Comdr. William L. P. Burke, the court adjourned to consider its findings. It will re-open to announce any findings of innocence. If Rollins is found guilty of any charge, the findings must be reviewed before being announced.

The 46-year-old Rollins, veteran of 27 years of naval service, is charged with adultery with a white woman, a morals offense, theft, gambling, embezzlement and misconduct.

Truman Faces Critical Test in Hobbs Bill

PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S LEADERSHIP in labor problems faces another critical test as the result of the passage of the Hobbs anti-racketeering bill, twice passed by the House and approved without dissent by the Senate.

The reason the NEWS says the president faces another "critical test" is because the bill has almost nothing to do with labor's "rights", either real or fancied, and a great deal to do with labor's abuse of a peculiar exemption which it now enjoys under the law. Naturally then, the question is whether the president will yield to the political threat which labor most certainly holds over his administration or stand firm with the public on the side of law and order.

Careful reading of the Hobbs bill will clearly show that all that the bill attempts to do is to declare the firm intention of Congress that union leaders and members shall be liable to penalties under the federal anti-racketeering act, just as anyone else, if they practice robbery and extortion.

The need for this specific declaration of purposes arises out of a decision of the supreme court, which held in 1942 that the existing federal statute does not apply to unions which use threats and violence to compel employes to pay money to members whose services are neither wanted nor needed.

As Chief Justice Stone wrote at that time, in a dissenting opinion, the effect of his ruling "would make common-law robbery an innocent pastime". It is needless to say, that it has been interpreted by a minority of labor officials as license to bludgeon helpless employes, all in the sacred name of organization.

The NEWS does not believe, for a single minute, that Congress ever intended to grant this outrageous privilege to anyone. It has now reaffirmed its position, and in no uncertain terms.

Swift enactment of the oill might be taken for granted if the president had not, in vetoing the Case bill, chosen to disapprove the Hobbs provision in the Case bill, apparently without reading it. It is quite possible that he will apply the veto again unless it is made clear to him that his first obligation is to the will of the majority, not the whim of a few. The Hobbs bill affords an interesting test of his allegiance.

Several "Teapot Domes" Seem To Be Brewing

THE OTHER DAY Senator Alexander Wiley, of Wisconsin, charged before a subcommittee that the handling of surplus property material by the administration since the end of the war is a worse scandal than Teapot Dome. The Senator called for a congressional investigation.

The public will await further facts on this subject, as developed by a survey or as they turn up from that slow leakage which inevitably exposes the wrongs of government to view. In the meantime, it seems safe to prophesy that subsequent to the 1948 elections, or perhaps following those of this year, there will occur one of the most active periods for investigations and probes in the history of the nation. That is to say, when the New Dealers lose parliamentary control of Congress, so that real investigations cannot be hamstrung, the people will see a great deal of fur fly.

There is convincing evidence that if the facts can ever be brought out fully in dozens of different agencies, and especially some of the strictly wartime setups, Teapot Dome will appear, by contrast, as one of the brighter incidents in governmental history.

Of course it is not going to be easy to shock the moral sensibilities of people now, as it was decades ago, because since 1933 the American people have become conditioned to the brazen manipulation of government money for political purposes, as in the WPA. People have become accustomed to seeing public office capitalized upon for private profit in the field of writing, as in Mrs. Roosevelt's literary career. They have become accustomed to seeing official position turned to the encouragement of private financial schemes, a in the case of Elliott Roosevelt.

But perhaps the American people accustomed to seeing administrative favorites, such as Henry Kaiser, provided with business opportunities denied to the ordinary man. All these things, in number of instances, the people have come to accept, unfortunately, as a part of government. Albert Fall's sale of oil reserves for $100,000 would have seemed out of place in the picture of office-holding for profit that this generation has known because the amount involved was so small.

But perhaps the Aerican people still retain some of their ancient perspective as to integrity of the individual in public office. Perhaps if ever the facts are made known about the manner in which some of these bureaus and agencies have been conducted, the people will again react with indignation.

May the day when such investigations begin not be too far removed.

Voters of Country Becoming Irritated

LAST DECEMBER Republican leaders met in Chicago and drew up a statement of principles. It was widely denounced by the commy fringe of the Democratic party as saying nothing and saying it with great gusto.

Now Republicans, who suspected it right along, are beginning to see that the party leaders were smart like a fox. Strategy was to let the Democratic opposition make the issues. This has been done through mishandling of labor and other domestic policies. Republican candidates find that all they need do is to inveigh against the misdeeds of their opponents.

With Democrats decidedly on the defensive, Republican hopes of capturing control of the House of Representatives are rising. Everywhere popular dissatisfaction is transcending party lines. Republican leaders are confident that the present trend will continue right up to election day, gathering momentum until the last ballot is cast.

Inner circle bigwigs are convinced that the GOP will gain a surprising number of Representatives in November. Some enthusiasts say they will capture 84 seats now held by Democrats. A smaller gain than that would inevitably carry control of the Senate with it. All the experts are agreed that voter irritation to be registered at the polls in November will register a trend that the Democrats can not hope to overcome by 1948.

Appreciation of Art Grows in America

An ever-growing appreciation of art has brought an end to the era in which pictures on the walls of the average home were as likely as not to be calendar subjects. Today few homes do not have at least a good reproduction or two.

"American primitives," as paintings in which objects are delineated clearly are now described, have taken on new value, as anyone who has attempted to buy a few has discovered. These are on the Currier and Ives and Charley Russell order. Frederick Remington would probably be described as a near-primitive.

Some of the newer output, which is receiving wide acceptance, puzzles an older generation. For instance, Thomas Hart Benton recently exhibited a new conception of "Custer's Last Stand" at a Chicago exhibition. The characters, or what was left of them, seemed to be floating to heaven on clouds. It will be difficult, of course, to prove that this painting is not factual, as there were no earthly survivors of the fight.

Figures Indicate New Businesses Face Tough Road

By ROGER W. BABSON

NEW YORK, June 27—Many returning servicemen are asking me about the possibilities of entering or starting a new business of their own. Let me first say that 400,000 of these have already been started during the past year bringing the total to 3,235,000.

Warning to Veterans

These men are very leery of advising returning servicemen to start a new business at this time. They offer various reasons why this is unwise. Among these reasons are the astonishing failure statistics which are now being published. Based on all previous history, it is generally recognized that the time to start a new business is when failures are very many, rather than when they are few.

A simple illustration is that it is much better to take on a load when you are at the top of a hill and can coast downward than when you are at the bottom of the hill and must pull upwards. Things look too rosy today; it is too easy now to sell goods or borrow money. Wait until competition is again normal.

What Failures Teach

From 1900-1910 failures averaged over 11,000 a year. From 1910-1920 they averaged over 5,000. Then, at the close of World War I, they immediately dropped to about 7,000. That year of 1920 compares with the year 1947 which we are about to enter. But here is the important fact: In 1922 failures shot up to nearly 24,000 and these failures continued to increase until a maximum of 31,822 was reached in 1932. Since then, failures gradually decreased to an all-time low of 810 in 1945.

Today failures are running even less. Based on all previous history there should be a tremendous increase in failures during the next few years, and, as heretofore, the people starting new businesses now will be the greatest sufferers, including many servicemen. This means that veterans should spend the next two years at a school of business administration or else working for someone else in their chosen line, rather than now start a new business.

Buying Existing Businesses

There is one exception to the above advices, namely, the possibility of buying an existing business at a reasonable price. Every year men who own small and successful businesses are getting older and some every year die. Often these businesses are for sale cheap. In some cases there are no children to carry on; while in other cases the business must be sold in order to pay the estate taxes. Hence, bargains appear now and then which can be considered notwithstanding the coming inevitable failures.

The question will arise as to how much to pay for an existing business. A very good rule is five times the average annual net earnings after taxes. Certainly ten times would be a maximum price to pay. There also are other considerations such as location, competition and the general character of the business. As a check, one should consider the average earnings for ten years as the last five years earnings may have been largely influenced by war business.

Locating Businesses for Sale

Returning servicemen who are serious in their desire to purchase an existing business should go at it systematically as about 300,000 were sold the past year. This can best be done by carefully reading the advertisements in the newspapers of larger cities of the state in which one desires to settle. It also might be well to write the chambers of commerce, banks or law firms where one cares to locate. It usually is wise to buy a good business in a small community rather than in a large city. At any rate, the wise veteran will take at least a year looking over the field before purchasing even an existing business.

One other suggestion: The main value of an existing business consists of the name, accounts and goodwill. This means that often the business has assets which can be liquidated, thereby reducing the price which the purchaser must pay. These assets may include real estate, buildings and old machinery which the purchaser does not need but which can be sold at favorable prices. Frankly, I advise returning servicemen, who desire to someday have a business of their own, to start in now and lay up cash which will be ready to use when the next crash comes and failures again jump to over 30,000 a year.

THE 64 DOLLAR QUESTION

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Army, Navy Battle over Official Report On Which Won Pacific War, Pearson Says

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, June 27.—It is now getting close to a year since the end of the war with Japan, and yet the strategic bombing survey for Japan has not been made public. Inside reason is a vigorous backstage tug-of-war between the army and navy which boils down to the basic question: "Which of them won the war in the Pacific?"

The question secretly under debate is whether the navy's carrier-based planes or the army's land-based planes inflicted most damage on Japan. Mixed up in the question also is whether navy submarines or army air power did most to bring Japan to her knees.

The two men appointed to battle out this question are Gen. Orvil A. Anderson, of the air forces, and Adm. Ralph A. Ofstie, of the Leyte task forces. Actually, however, they are merely the spokesmen for their superiors.

What happened was that after the war with Germany, a strategic bombing survey headed by Franklin D'Olier and a group of civilians traveled through Germany and reported on the damage done by United States air raids. The report was not entirely pleasing to Gen. "Hap" Arnold, then head of the air forces, especially the section dealing with the raids on the Schweinfurt ball - bearing works where 600 United States airmen were lost in one raid, after inflicting ineffective damage.

Submarines No. 1 Weapon

Civilian members of the survey staff, however, have privately made up their minds regarding the relative merits of the army and navy damage inflicted on Japan, and here is how they summarize the situation:

1. Heaviest damage to Japan was inflicted by United States submarines. Though they didn't get the publicity buildup of the B-29s United States subs had just about shut off all Jap supplies from the main islands toward the end of the war and Japan was paralyzed. Shortly before Japan surrendered she lacked enough gasoline for her planes to get off the ground or oil for her Navy to put out to sea.

2. Next greatest damage was done by long-range army land-based planes.

3. The navy's carrier-based planes were important, but ranked second to the B-29s.

Civilian experts, who have no axes to grind for either the army or navy, say a lot more air damage could have been done if there hadn't been personal jealousy between Gen. MacArthur and Gen. Arnold.

They explain that this was why Gen. Arnold did not place the 20th air force under MacArthur, but under the joint chiefs of staff. Based on China, this unit had as its target the main Japanese islands. But since it required three flights of gasoline over the Himalaya hump to fuel one plane-flight to Japan, the bombing raids from China to Japan were ineffective, compared with the less spectacular work of the 14th air firce under Gen. Chennault which bombed Jap shipping off the China coast.

Conclusion of civilian bombing experts is that if the 20th air force had bombed Jap shipping instead of taking gasoline away from Chennault's 14th air force which was supplementing United States submarines, the war might have been won quicker.

It was not until the B-29s were based on the Marianas, experts report, that long-range land-based planes did much damage to Japan.

Justice Jackson's Bitter Pill

More insight as to why Justice Robert Jackson "blew his top" against Justice Hugo Black has now leaked out. It goes back to the appointment of the late Harlan F. Stone as chief justice.

A few days before Stone's appointment, it is now learned, Roosevelt gave Jackson to understand that he would be chief justice. But before the appointment could be announced, other Roosevelt advisers convinced him that Stone's elevation to the chief justiceship was imperative. They argued that because of Jackson's youth and Stone's long service on the court, he could not be passed over.

Finally Roosevelt called in Jackson, explained the situation and asked him to stand aside until the next chief justiceship vacancy.

Jackson, according to his friends, banked heavily on this promise. So much so that when Roosevelt planned to make him an associate justice, he inquired whether acceptance of the associate justiceship would interfere with his appointment later as chief justice.

Only after receiving assurances that it would not did Jackson become an associate justice.

In other words, the last eight years of Jackson's life had been aimed at this one goal. So when President Truman, not bound by FDR's pledge, appointed Fred Vinson chief justice instead, Jackson's bitterness became more than he could bear.

Best Bureaucrats Exit

Two recent resignations of two top officials illustrate how difficult it is to get good men to remain in government on current salaries. They are: Budget Director Harold Smith and Securities and Exchange Commission Chairman Ganson Purcell.

Both were among the best bureaucrats in government, both had devoted years to public service, both resigned because they could not afford to raise families on government salaries.

Budget Director Smith, a Republican from Kansas, was brought to Washington by Justice Frank Murphy when he became attorney general. Smith tried to eke out his government salary by running a farm in near-by Virginia. Weekends, he worked day and night on his farm, ran his tractor until midnight, got up at 4 a. m., subsequently suffered a heart attack. For a time Mrs. Smith also took a job on the federal payroll.

Finally, Smith gave up, resigned from the budget bureau to take a tax-exempt job with the international bank at twice his federal salary.

SEC Chairman Purcell began in government 16 years ago as legislative counsel to Congress. Gradually he worked his way up, until he became one of the top career men in government. Living modestly, entertaining rarely, Purcell stuck it out until last week, when he threw in the sponge.

Both men will be hard to replace.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Leaders in the motor industry have been observing the fiftieth anniversary of the automobile. That's a great achievement. An even greater achievement would be the fiftieth anniversary of a pedestrian. What a change the automobile has brought to the American way of life. The day that first car came out, it made a museum piece out of the horse.

Yes, sir, the automobile age really changed the face of America . . . the automobile made it flat and the finance company made it long.

But I can't understand those motor builders. That first car was just a one-cylinder job that practically dismembered you, rode like a tractor and woke up the whole neighborhood. After fifty years of progress, what have they got . . . a jeep!

The original car was a two-horsepower job. But it wasn't bad. The only trouble was that each horse pulled in the opposite direction.

And they were frail and light, too. I saw one of those one-lungers during a rain, and the driver just held the windshield wiper and swung the car from side to side. And the motor in the first car was really a puny affair. It was so puny it didn't make enough carbon monoxide for a flea to commit suicide. Those first cars broke down so often girls were afraid to ride in them.

Price Control Is Practically Dead, Lawrence Asserts

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, June 27 — These are days of strange paradoxes. Labor or union leaders are crying out that the OPA must be "saved," when the truth is that labor union strategy in major industries has virtually killed the OPA and brought on an unparalleled wave of inflation.

The moment one economic group in the community insisted on foreing up costs and threatened to paralyze production and distribution unless its wage demands were met and the moment the president of the United States failed to hold the scales even and granted wage-cost increases, the death knell of effective price control in America was sounded.

The form in which the OPA is now continued is secondary. The effect of the amendments made to pending legislation is to permit producers to add wage costs to their prices. So all the hullabaloo about "saving the OPA" is academic. Price control for all practical purposes has been killed by the president of the United States through his policy of wage inflation.

Seems Less Important Now

The country reads only what Congress is doing at present. The defenders of the OPA program are criticizing Congress and stirring up a propaganda from coast to coast to give the impression that chaos will result if the OPA bill is killed. There was a time quite recently when many observers, including this correspondent, believed that runaway inflation might follow the abolition of the OPA. But the events which the nation has witnessed on the labor front, where wage costs were officially boosted by the White House and prices necessarily increased, make the OPA and price control of much less importance.

The OPA should, of course, be retained but only as part of a national program of fighting inflation by freezing wage costs. But the president is too timid about restraining the labor front from forcing runaway prices, and he has thus contributed by his policy to the inflationary trend. Hence OPA cannot prevent the price level from rising any more.

The "black markets" which are flourishing might have been broken up by a sensible program combining wage and price control. The effort to increase production by means of subsidies has not been as effective as its sponsors predicted. Shortages are still prevalent and scarce goods find their way to black markets. Production in many lines is retarded or stopped altogether because of OPA rulings. Enormous losses have resulted.

The president will soon have to decide whether to veto or sign the OPA extension bill. He doesn't like the measure but if he wants a semblance of price supervision and if he wishes the OPA to remain as a going concern in a small way, he might better sign the proposal. If he does veto it, the measure probably will be passed over his veto. If it isn't, there is little chance for a resolution to pass continuing OPA as is. This has been the last resort hope of the administration manipulators of the OPA Bill, but they will take a big risk if they persuade the president to veto the bill with that move in mind.

Contest Between Economic Groups

The problem is, to be sure, a contest between economic groups, and recent developments deserve to be studied as an example of what happens whn a politically dominated democracy tries controlled economy. In the first place, the whole success of any program of restraint on prices or wages depends on a bit of self-denial, by all economic groups, but it depends mostly on a leadership that has the trust and confidence of the groups themselves.

Whatever confidence the management groups had in the president was gradually dispelled by his relinquishment of virtually all controls over wages while he insisted on price controls. Then, instead of balancing the economy by holding wages down, the president capitulated to the cause of political expediency. If there had been in the White House a man who could have retained the confidnce of all economic groups, there would not be any debate on OPA today. Public opinion would have supported a constructive program. But the president's own friends—the labor union leaders who demanded substantial wage increases above pre-war levls —really destroyed the OPA.

No matter what diminished controls are permitted now through an extension of the present law, price control is on the way out altogether. The conscientious work that many men did to fight inflation through the OPA has been rendered virtually useless by politics in the White House and, of course, by counter-politics in Congress.

Those Who Light Us Up

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

I wonder what sort of a world this would be with no one around to light small fires within us, to arouse our enthusiasms, and to lift our eyes skyward to squint at the stars? You can well say that such people are indispensable.

I find it only half joy to drink in any beauty alone. I need another, or many, to give it a covering of cream, rich and full of taste. I believe that this is the experience of many. We can neither live happily alone, nor enjoy the blessings of life, or of nature, alone, if we would gain the most out of life and beauty.

The writer of a fine book, or the painter of a great picture, enjoys a position that is most enviable, for no one can say how far his influence spreads, nor how great is that enjoyment of writing, or painting, to the creator of each. Both light us up—and their lights never go out!

Can you imagine Lamb's essays ever becoming stale in their appeal to those who love beauty of expression, and humanness of statement? Just read his "Dream Children" essay and make answer. Or many another. I like the designation —lovable Lamb, for that is what he was to all who knew and loved him, and that element of intimacy is reflected in all that he wrote.

We run away from depressing people, but like to travel a long way to reach the ones who bring us cheer and good will, and who start fires burning anew in our minds and hearts. They are the world's benefactors—the real and genuine folks.

That was a wonderful thing that was once said of Alphonse Legros, the French etcher and painter. I think it was John Grant who said of him: "He improved everything that he touched in art—and he touched everything?" I like to fondle a great book, because it almost seems to have the substance of a soul to it.

Great characters radiate themselves in a company, though no words are uttered. Greatness is contagious. That is why, in dire emergencies, great leaders are essential, for they light up the hope of all, and confirm the faith that sleeps in the most humble of this earth.

Truman Faces Critical Test in Hobbs Bill

PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S LEADERSHIP in labor problems faces another critical test as the result of the passage of the Hobbs anti-racketeering bill, twice passed by the House and approved without dissent by the Senate.

The reason the NEWS says the president faces another "critical test" is because the bill has almost nothing to do with labor's "rights", either real or fancied, and a great deal to do with labor's abuse of a peculiar exemption which it now enjoys under the law. Naturally then, the question is whether the president will yield to the political threat which labor most certainly holds over his administration or stand firm with the public on the side of law and order.

Careful reading of the Hobbs bill will clearly show that all that the bill attempts to do is to declare the firm intention of Congress that union leaders and members shall be liable to penalties under the federal anti-racketeering act, just as anyone else, if they practice robbery and extortion.

The need for this specific declaration of purposes arises out of a decision of the supreme court, which held in 1942 that the existing federal statute does not apply to unions which use threats and violence to compel employes to pay money to members whose services are neither wanted nor needed.

As Chief Justice Stone wrote at that time, in a dissenting opinion, the effect of his ruling "would make common-law robbery an innocent pastime". It is needless to say, that it has been interpreted by a minority of labor officials as license to bludgeon helpless employes, all in the sacred name of organization.

The NEWS does not believe, for a single minute, that Congress ever intended to grant this outrageous privilege to anyone. It has now reaffirmed its position, and in no uncertain terms.

Swift enactment of the bill might be taken for granted if the president had not, in vetoing the Case bill, chosen to disapprove the Hobbs provision in the Case bill, apparently without reading it. It is quite possible that he will apply the veto again unless it is made clear to him that his first obligation is to the will of the majority, not the whim of a few. The Hobbs bill affords an interesting test of his allegiance.

Several "Teapot Domes" Seem To Be Brewing

THE OTHER DAY Senator Alexander Wiley, of Wisconsin, charged before a subcommittee that the handling of surplus property material by the administration since the end of the war is a worse scandal than Teapot Dome. The Senator called for a congressional investigation.

The public will await further facts on this subject, as developed by a survey or as they turn up from that slow leakage which inevitably exposes the wrongs of government to view. In the meantime, it seems safe to prophesy that subsequent to the 1948 elections, or perhaps following those of this year, there will occur one of the most active periods for investigations and probes in the history of the nation. That is to say, when the New Dealers lose parliamentary control of Congress, so that real investigations cannot be hamstrung, the people will see a great deal of fur fly.

There is convincing evidence that if the facts can ever be brought out fully in dozens of different agencies, and especially some of the strictly wartime setups, Teapot Dome will appear, by contrast, as one of the brighter incidents in governmental history.

Of course it is not going to be easy to shock the moral sensibilities of people now, as it was decades ago, because since 1933 the American people have become conditioned to the brazen manipulation of government money for political purposes, as in the WPA. People have become accustomed to seeing public office capitalized upon for private profit in the field of writing, as in Mrs. Roosevelt's literary career. They have become accustomed to seeing official position turned to the encouragement of private financial schemes, a in the case of Elliott Roosevelt.

But perhaps the American people accustomed to seeing administrative favorites, such as Henry Kaiser, provided with business opportunities denied to the ordinary man. All these things, in number of instances, the people have come to accept, unfortunately, as a part of government. Albert Fall's sale of oil reserves for $100,000 would have seemed out of place in the picture of office-holding for profit that this generation has known because the amount involved was so small.

But perhaps the Aerican people still retain some of their ancient perspective as to integrity of the individual in public office. Perhaps if ever the facts are made known about the manner in which some of these bureaus and agencies have been conducted, the people will again react with indignation.

May the day when such investigations begin not be too far removed.

Voters of Country Becoming Irritated

LAST DECEMBER Republican leaders met in Chicago and drew up a statement of principles. It was widely denounced by the commy fringe of the Democratic party as saying nothing and saying it with great gusto.

Now Republicans, who suspected it right along, are beginning to see that the party leaders were smart like a fox. Strategy was to let the Democratic opposition make the issues. This has been done through mishandling of labor and other domestic policies. Republican candidates find that all they need do is to inveigh against the misdeeds of their opponents.

With Democrats decidedly on the defensive, Republican hopes of capturing control of the House of Representatives are rising. Everywhere popular dissatisfaction is transcending party lines. Republican leaders are confident that the present trend will continue right up to election day, gathering momentum until the last ballot is cast.

Inner circle bigwigs are convinced that the GOP will gain a surprising number of Representatives in November. Some enthusiasts say they will capture 84 seats now held by Democrats. A smaller gain than that would inevitably carry control of the Senate with it. All the experts are agreed that voter irritation to be registered at the polls in November will register a trend that the Democrats can not hope to overcome by 1948.

Appreciation of Art Grows in America

An ever-growing appreciation of art has brought an end to the era in which pictures on the walls of the average home were as likely as not to be calendar subjects. Today few homes do not have at least a good reproduction or two.

"American primitives," as paintings in which objects are delineated clearly are now described, have taken on new value, as anyone who has attempted to buy a few has discovered. These are on the Currier and Ives and Charley Russell order. Frederick Remington would probably be described as a near-primitive.

Some of the newer output, which is receiving wide acceptance, puzzles an older generation. For instance, Thomas Hart Benton recently exhibited a new conception of "Custer's Last Stand" at a Chicago exhibition. The characters, or what was left of them, seemed to be floating to heaven on clouds. It will be difficult, of course, to prove that this painting is not factual, as there were no earthly survivors of the fight.

Figures Indicate New Businesses Face Tough Road

By ROGER W. BABSON

NEW YORK, June 27—Many returning servicemen are asking me about the possibilities of entering or starting a new business of their own. Let me first say that 400,000 of these have already been started during the past year bringing the total to 3,235,000.

Warning to Veterans

These men are very leery of advising returning servicemen to start a new business at this time. They offer various reasons why this is unwise. Among these reasons are the astonishing failure statistics which are now being published. Based on all previous history, it is generally recognized that the time to start a new business is when failures are very many, rather than when they are few.

A simple illustration is that it is much better to take on a load when you are at the top of a hill and can coast downward than when you are at the bottom of the hill and must pull upwards. Things look too rosy today; it is too easy now to sell goods or borrow money. Wait until competition is again normal.

What Failures Teach

From 1900-1910 failures averaged over 11,000 a year. From 1910-1920 they averaged over 5,000. Then, at the close of World War I, they immediately dropped to about 7,000. That year of 1920 compares with the year 1947 which we are about to enter. But here is the important fact: In 1922 failures shot up to nearly 24,000 and these failures continued to increase until a maximum of 31,822 was reached in 1932. Since then, failures gradually decreased to an all-time low of 810 in 1945.

Today failures are running even less. Based on all previous history there should be a tremendous increase in failures during the next few years, and, as heretofore, the people starting new businesses now will be the greatest sufferers, including many servicemen. This means that veterans should spend the next two years at a school of business administration or else working for someone else in their chosen line, rather than now start a new business.

Buying Existing Businesses

There is one exception to the above advices, namely, the possibility of buying an existing business at a reasonable price. Every year men who own small and successful businesses are getting older and some every year die. Often these businesses are for sale cheap. In some cases there are no children to carry on; while in other cases the business must be sold in order to pay the estate taxes. Hence, bargains appear now and then which can be considered notwithstanding the coming inevitable failures.

The question will arise as to how much to pay for an existing business. A very good rule is five times the average annual net earnings after taxes. Certainly ten times would be a maximum price to pay. There also are other considerations such as location, competition and the general character of the business. As a check, one should consider the average earnings for ten years as the last five years earnings may have been largely influenced by war business.

Locating Businesses for Sale

Returning servicemen who are serious in their desire to purchase an existing business should go at it systematically as about 300,000 were sold the past year. This can best be done by carefully reading the advertisements in the newspapers of larger cities of the state in which one desires to settle. It also might be well to write the chambers of commerce, banks or law firms where one cares to locate. It usually is wise to buy a good business in a small community rather than in a large city. At any rate, the wise veteran will take at least a year looking over the field before purchasing even an existing business.

One other suggestion: The main value of an existing business consists of the name, accounts and goodwill. This means that often the business has assets which can be liquidated, thereby reducing the price which the purchaser must pay. These assets may include real estate, buildings and old machinery which the purchaser does not need but which can be sold at favorable prices. Frankly, I advise returning servicemen, who desire to someday have a business of their own, to start in now and lay up cash which will be ready to use when the next crash comes and failures again jump to over 30,000 a year.

THE 64 DOLLAR QUESTION

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, June 27.—It is now getting close to a year since the end of the war with Japan, and yet the strategic bombing survey for Japan has not been made public. Inside reason is a vigorous backstage tug-of-war between the army and navy which boils down to the basic question: "Which of them won the war in the Pacific?"

The question secretly under debate is whether the navy's carrier-based planes or the army's land-based planes inflicted most damage on Japan. Mixed up in the question also is whether navy submarines or army air power did most to bring Japan to her knees.

The two men appointed to battle out this question are Gen. Orvil A. Anderson, of the air forces, and Adm. Ralph A. Ofstie, of the Leyte task forces. Actually, however, they are merely the spokesmen for their superiors.

What happened was that after the war with Germany, a strategic bombing survey headed by Franklin D'Olier and a group of civilians traveled through Germany and reported on the damage done by United States air raids. The report was not entirely pleasing to Gen. "Hap" Arnold, then head of the air forces, especially the section dealing with the raids on the Schweinfurt ball-bearing works where 600 United States airmen were lost in one raid, after inflicting ineffective damage.

Submarines No. 1 Weapon

Civilian members of the survey staff, however, have privately made up their minds regarding the relative merits of the army and navy damage inflicted on Japan, and here is how they summarize the situation:

1. Heaviest damage to Japan was inflicted by United States submarines. Though they didn't get the publicity buildup of the B-29s United States subs had just about shut off all Jap supplies from the main islands toward the end of the war and Japan was paralyzed. Shortly before Japan surrendered she lacked enough gasoline for her planes to get off the ground or oil for her Navy to put out to sea.

2. Next greatest damage was done by long-range army land-based planes.

3. The navy's carrier-based planes were important, but ranked second to the B-29s.

Civilian experts, who have no axes to grind for either the army or navy, say a lot more air damage could have been done if there hadn't been personal jealousy between Gen. MacArthur and Gen. Arnold.

They explain that this was why Gen. Arnold did not place the 20th air force under MacArthur, but under the joint chiefs of staff. Based on China, this unit had as its target the main Japanese islands. But since it required three flights of gasoline over the Himalaya hump to fuel one plane-flight to Japan, the bombing raids from China to Japan were ineffective, compared with the less spectacular work of the 14th air force under Gen. Chennault which bombed Jap shipping off the China coast.

Conclusion of civilian bombing experts is that if the 20th air force had bombed Jap shipping instead of taking gasoline away from Chennault's 14th air force which was supplementing United States submarines, the war might have been won quicker.

It was not until the B-29s were based on the Marianas, experts report, that long-range land-based planes did much damage to Japan.

Justice Jackson's Bitter Pill

More insight as to why Justice Robert Jackson "blew his top" against Justice Hugo Black has now leaked out. It goes back to the appointment of the late Harlan F. Stone as chief justice.

A few days before Stone's appointment, it is now learned, Roosevelt gave Jackson to understand that he would be chief justice. But before the appointment could be announced, other Roosevelt advisers convinced him that Stone's elevation to the chief justiceship was imperative. They argued that because of Jackson's youth and Stone's long service on the court, he could not be passed over.

Finally Roosevelt called in Jackson, explained the situation and asked him to stand aside until the next chief justiceship vacancy.

Jackson, according to his friends, banked heavily on this promise. So much so that when Roosevelt planned to make him an associate justice, he inquired whether acceptance of the associate justiceship would interfere with his appointment later as chief justice.

Only after receiving assurances that it would not did Jackson become an associate justice.

In other words, the last eight years of Jackson's life had been aimed at this one goal. So when President Truman, not bound by FDR's pledge, appointed Fred Vinson chief justice instead, Jackson's bitterness became more than he could bear.

Best Bureaucrats Exit

Two recent resignations of two top officials illustrate how difficult it is to get good men to remain in government on current salaries. They are: Budget Director Harold Smith and Securities and Exchange Commission Chairman Ganson Purcell.

Both were among the best bureaucrats in government, both had devoted years to public service, both resigned because they could not afford to raise families on government salaries.

Budget Director Smith, a Republican from Kansas, was brought to Washington by Justice Frank Murphy when he became attorney general. Smith tried to eke out his government salary by running a farm in near-by Virginia. Weekends, he worked day and night on his farm, ran his tractor until midnight, got up at 4 a. m., subsequently suffered a heart attack. For a time Mrs. Smith also took a job on the federal payroll.

Finally, Smith gave up, resigned from the budget bureau to take a tax-exempt job with the international bank at twice his federal salary.

SEC Chairman Purcell began in government 16 years ago as legislative counsel to Congress. Gradually he worked his way up, until he became one of the top career men in government. Living modestly, entertaining rarely, Purcell stuck it out until last week, when he threw in the sponge.

Both men will be hard to replace.

By BOB HOPE

Leaders in the motor industry have been observing the fiftieth anniversary of the automobile. That's a great achievement. An even greater achievement would be the fiftieth anniversary of a pedestrian. What a change the automobile has brought to the American way of life. The day that first car came out, it made a museum piece out of the horse.

Yes, sir, the automobile age really changed the face of America . . . the automobile made it flat and the finance company made it long.

But I can't understand those motor builders. That first car was just a one-cylinder job that practically dismembered you, rode like a tractor and woke up the whole neighborhood. After fifty years of progress, what have they got . . . a jeep!

The original car was a two-horsepower job. But it wasn't bad. The only trouble was that each horse pulled in the opposite direction.

And they were frail and light, too. I saw one of those one-lungers during a rain, and the driver just held the windshield wiper and swung the car from side to side. And the motor in the first car was really a puny affair. It was so puny it didn't make enough carbon monoxide for a flea to commit suicide. Those first cars broke down so often girls were afraid to ride in them.

Price Control Is Practically Dead, Lawrence Asserts

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, June 27—These are days of strange paradoxes. Labor union leaders are crying out that the OPA must be "saved," when the truth is that labor union strategy in major industries has virtually killed the OPA and brought on an unparalleled wave of inflation.

The moment one economic group in the community insisted on forcing up costs and threatened to paralyze production and distribution unless its wage demands were met and the moment the president of the United States failed to hold the scales even and granted wage-cost increases, the death knell of effective price control in America was sounded.

The form in which the OPA is now continued is secondary. The effect of the amendments made to pending legislation is to permit producers to add wage costs to their prices. So all the hullabaloo about "saving the OPA" is academic. Price control for all practical purposes has been killed by the president of the United States through his policy of wage inflation.

Seems Less Important Now

The country reads only what Congress is doing at present. The defenders of the OPA program are criticizing Congress and stirring up a propaganda from coast to coast to give the impression that chaos will result if the OPA bill is killed. There was a time quite recently when many observers, including this correspondent, believed that runaway inflation might follow the abolition of the OPA. But the events which the nation has witnessed on the labor front, where wage costs were officially boosted by the White House and prices necessarily increased, make the OPA and price control of much less importance.

The OPA should, of course, be retained but only as part of a national program of fighting inflation by freezing wage costs. But the president is too timid about restraining the labor front from forcing runaway prices, and he has thus contributed by his policy to the inflationary trend. Hence OPA cannot prevent the price level from rising any more.

The "black markets" which are flourishing might have been broken up by a sensible program combining wage and price control. The effort to increase production by means of subsidies has not been as effective as its sponsors predicted. Shortages are still prevalent and scarce goods find their way to black markets. Production in many lines is retarded or stopped altogether because of OPA rulings. Enormous losses have resulted.

The president will soon have to decide whether to veto or sign the OPA extension bill. He doesn't like the measure but if he wants a semblance of price supervision and if he wishes the OPA to remain as a going concern in a small way, he might better sign the proposal. If he does veto it, the measure probably will be passed over his veto. If it isn't, there is little chance for a resolution to pass continuing OPA as is. This has been the last resort hope of the administration manipulators of the OPA Bill, but they will take a big risk if they persuade the president to veto the bill with that move in mind.

Contest Between Economic Groups

The problem is, to be sure, a contest between economic groups, and recent developments deserve to be studied as an example of what happens whn a politically dominated democracy tries controlled economy. In the first place, the whole success of any program of restraint on prices or wages depends on a bit of self-denial, by all economic groups, but it depends mostly on a leadership that has the trust and confidence of the groups themselves.

Whatever confidence the management groups had in the president was gradually dispelled by his relinquishment of virtually all controls over wages while he insisted on price controls. Then, instead of balancing the economy by holding wages down, the president capitulated to the cause of political expediency. If there had been in the White House a man who could have retained the confidnce of all economic groups, there would not be any debate on OPA today. Public opinion would have supported a constructive program. But the president's own friends—the labor union leaders who demanded substantial wage increases above pre-war levls—really destroyed the OPA.

No matter what diminished controls are permitted now through an extension of the present law, price control is on the way out altogether. The conscientious work that many men did to fight inflation through the OPA has been rendered virtually useless by politics in the White House and, of course, by counter-politics in Congress.

Those Who Light Us Up

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

I wonder what sort of a world this would be with no one around to light small fires within us, to arouse our enthusiasms, and to lift our eyes skyward to squint at the stars? You can well say that such people are indispensable.

I find it only half joy to drink in any beauty alone. I need another, or many, to give it a covering of cream, rich and full of taste. I believe that this is the experience of many. We can neither live happily alone, nor enjoy the blessings of life, or of nature, alone, if we would gain the most out of life and beauty.

The writer of a fine book, or the painter of a great picture, enjoys a position that is most enviable, for no one can say how far his influence spreads, nor how great is that enjoyment of writing, or painting, to the creator of each. Both light us up—and their lights never go out!

Can you imagine Lamb's essays ever becoming stale in their appeal to those who love beauty of expression, and humanness of statement? Just read his "Dream Children" essay and make answer. Or many another. I like the designation—lovable Lamb, for that is what he was to all who knew and loved him, and that element of intimacy is reflected in all that he wrote.

We run away from depressing people, but like to travel a long way to reach the ones who bring us cheer and good will, and who start fires burning anew in our minds and hearts. They are the world's benefactors—the real and genuine folks.

That was a wonderful thing that was once said of Alphonse Legros, the French etcher and painter. I think it was John Grant who said of him: "He improved everything that he touched in art—and he touched everything?" I like to fondle a great book, because it almost seems to have the substance of a soul to it.

Great characters radiate themselves in a company, though no words are uttered. Greatness is contagious. That is why, in dire emergencies, great leaders are essential, for they light up the hope of all, and confirm the faith that sleeps in the most humble of this earth.

May Traffic Accidents Killed 38 Marylanders

BALTIMORE, June 27 (AP)—Thirty-eight persons were killed in Maryland last month as the result of traffic accidents, the state traffic safety commission reported today.

The number of accidents investigated during May, 1,494, is the largest total for any one month since March, 1942, when 1,725 accidents were investigated, the commission added.

The year's total for fatalities is 162 as compared to 155 for the corresponding period of last year — a gain of five per cent.

Accident injuries total 751. Of these, 451 were in Baltimore city, which reported seven deaths.

In view of these accident figures, the commission appealed to Marylanders to "take extra care over the Fourth of July and take the wreck out of recreation."

GOT RELIEF FROM START. I am sending for your large family size bottle of MUSCLE-RUB. Your first bottle helped me more than anything I have ever used for my Rheumatic pains. I certainly can recommend your MUSCLE-RUB to anyone suffering from Rheumatic pains. Indeed, I am very thankful for what it has done for me.
Mrs. Paul George, 2196 Dehli St.
Dubuque, Iowa

GRATEFUL FOR MUSCLE-RUB. Thanks to your MUSCLE-RUB, I have now regained the use of my right arm and the swelling has almost left me completely. I am very grateful indeed for the benefit I received from your MUSCLE-RUB. It is remarkable.
Mrs. A. Hazle, Monon, Ind.

MUSCLE-RUB A GODSEND. I cannot praise your MUSCLE-RUB enough, for it was a godsend to me after suffering three years and trying most everything for my pains. Please send me the double size bottle as soon as possible.
John McQuade, 404 Salem
N. Wilmington, Mass.

MOTHER SUFFERED WITH RHEUMATIC PAINS FOR 9 YEARS. I am enclosing $2 for your special large size bottle of MUSCLE-RUB. My mother has suffered with Rheumatic pains for nine years and your remedy helped her more than anything she has ever used for her ailment.

Cresaptown DVBS Commencement To Be Held This Evening

The final session of the Cresaptown Methodist church Daily Vacation Bible school will be held this morning and the commencement program will be given at 7:30 this evening.

An enrollment of 158 pupils is believed to be the largest school in the county, the Rev. Louis P. Chastain, pastor, reported.

Small's Wage

However, Mr. Small took the matter one step further than the Times did yesterday when he charged that President Truman surrendered a stable postwar reconversion program to political expediency which created what the Celanese vice president termed an "economic absurdity." Mr. Small also recommended a study of the reconversion program in Canada where wage increases have been limited largely to adjustments as between like jobs and like localities and conditional on there being no consequent increase in prices to drain the pocketbook of the consumer.

DEATHS

ter, Miss Mary Condon, was stricken fatally in a local theater about seven years ago, and a daughter, Mary Reynolds was killed in an automobile accident eight years ago. The death of her husband was also unexpected although he had been in failing health for a year.

A native of Eckhart, she was the daughter of the late William and Catherine Condon. Besides Mrs. Lottig, she is survived by a brother, Frank Condon, Mt. Pleaant, Pa.; and a grandson, Blair Lottig.

The body will remain at the Stein funeral home.

SUMMERFIELD RITES

Funeral services for Mordecai Preston Summerfield, 82, retired contractor, who died Monday at his home in Rawlings, were conducted yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the George funeral home.

The Rev. Wayne Shellenberger, pastor of Calvary Independent church, Cresaptown, officiated and interment was in Rose Hill cemetery.

Pallbearers were Lawrence Griffey, James White, Richard Summerfield, Robert Winebrenner, William Burner and William Hoover.

HAST CHILD RITES

Funeral services for Judith Ann Hast, 2-year-old daughter of Lewis and Dorothy Eleanor Wilson Hast, 1902 Bedford street, who was accidentally drowned in the fish pond of a neighbor's home, Tuesday afternoon were conducted yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Stein funeral home.

The Rev. D. H. Hall Sharp, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran church, officiated and interment was in Rose Hill cemetery. Pallbearers were Neff Wilson, George Wilson, Jr., Charles Broadwater and William Schlund.

NEWTON M. CARDER

Newton M. Carder, 80, retired merchant, died last evening at 6 o'clock at his home in Oldtown. He had been in failing health since Christmas.

A son of the late James and Jane Twigg Carder, he was a native of Oldtown and spent his entire life there.

Mr. Carder retired in 1935 after spending about twenty years in the general merchandise business in Oldtown. He was an active Democrat and was an election judge in the polling place located at his home for many years.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Orpha Howell Carder, two daughters, Mrs. Trixie Twigg and Mrs. Bertha Wilkins, both of Bedford street here, and a brother, George T. Carder, this city. Eight grandchildren and nine great grandchildren also survive.

The body will remain at the Hafer funeral home here. Other funeral arrangements had not been completed last evening.

MRS. ALICE KIDWELL

Mrs. Alice Kidwell, 65, 10 Beverly place, died last night at 11 o'clock at the home of her sister, Mrs. Olive D. Ward, 215 Beall street. She had been in ill health about 18 months.

Mrs. Kidwell, a native of Scottdale, Pa., was the widow of John Kidwell, a Celanese employe who died about six years ago. She resided here for more than 20 years.

Besides Mrs. Ward, she is survived by another sister, Mrs. James Atkin, Bedford, Pa., and one brother Austin Fortney this city.

Grocers Are Warned To Watch For Bogus Sugar Ration Stamps

Grocers in Allegany county are being urged to accept no loose sugar ration stamps from customers, as a number of counterfeit stamps are allegedly circulated in this area, according to Mrs. Mary Shaffer Jones, chief clerk at the local Price Control Board of the OPA.

Only sugar stamps attached to ration books should be accepted by grocers, Mrs. Jones explains, as this offers some assurance that the stamps are not bogus. Circulation of bogus stamps reduces the available supply of sugar, she stated.

Lann Found Not Guilty Of Striking Mother

Charles H. Lapp, 1008 Didtown road, discharged serviceman, was acquitted in trial magistrates court yesterday on a charge of assaulting his mother, Mrs. Ada Lee Lapp, on June 9.

The mother said the son struck her, but two brothers of the defendant testified in his behalf.

Sticks Stone in Ear

Dolores Albright, 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Albright, Route 5, was treated in Allegany hospital yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock after a stone became lodged in her right ear. Attaches said a physician was able to remove the object without a great deal of trouble.

Cresaptown DVBS Commencement To Be Held This Evening

The final session of the Cresaptown Methodist church Daily Vacation Bible school will be held this morning and the commencement program will be given at 7:30 this evening.

An enrollment of 158 pupils is believed to be the largest school in the county, the Rev. Louis P. Chastain, pastor, reported.

inevitable that the price of steel, automobiles, coal and beer should follow the upward trend of wages.

However, Mr. Small took the matter one step further than the Times did yesterday when he charged that President Truman surrendered a stable postwar reconversion program to political expediency which created what the Celanese vice president termed an "economic absurdity." Mr. Small also recommended a study of the reconversion program in Canada where wage increases have been limited largely to adjustments as between like jobs and like localities and conditional on there being no consequent increase in prices to drain the pocketbook of the consumer.

ter, Miss Mary Condon, was stricken fatally in a local theater about seven years ago, and a daughter, Mary Reynolds was killed in an automobile accident eight years ago. The death of her husband was also unexpected although he had been in failing health for a year.

A native of Eckhart, she was the daughter of the late William and Catherine Condon. Besides Mrs. Lottig, she is survived by a brother, Frank Condon, Mt. Pleaant, Pa.; and a grandson, Blair Lottig.

The body will remain at the Stein funeral home.

SUMMERFIELD RITES

Funeral services for Mordecai Preston Summerfield, 82, retired contractor, who died Monday at his home in Rawlings, were conducted yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the George funeral home.

The Rev. Wayne Shellenberger, pastor of Calvary Independent church, Cresaptown, officiated and interment was in Rose Hill cemetery.

Pallbearers were Lawrence Griffey, James White, Richard Summerfield, Robert Winebrenner, William Burner and William Hoover.

HAST CHILD RITES

Funeral services for Judith Ann Hast, 2-year-old daughter of Lewis and Dorothy Eleanor Wilson Hast, 1902 Bedford street, who was accidentally drowned in the fish pond of a neighbor's home, Tuesday afternoon were conducted yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Stein funeral home.

The Rev. D. H. Hall Sharp, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran church, officiated and interment was in Rose Hill cemetery. Pallbearers were Neff Wilson, George Wilson, Jr., Charles Broadwater and William Schlund.

NEWTON M. CARDER

Newton M. Carder, 80, retired merchant, died last evening at 6 o'clock at his home in Oldtown. He had been in failing health since Christmas.

A son of the late James and Jane Twigg Carder, he was a native of Oldtown and spent his entire life there.

Mr. Carder retired in 1935 after spending about twenty years in the general merchandise business in Oldtown. He was an active Democrat and was an election judge in the polling place located at his home for many years.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Orpha Howell Carder, two daughters, Mrs. Trixie Twigg and Mrs. Bertha Wilkins, both of Bedford street here, and a brother, George T. Carder, this city. Eight grandchildren and nine great grandchildren also survive.

The body will remain at the Hafer funeral home here. Other funeral arrangements had not been completed last evening.

MRS. ALICE KIDWELL

Mrs. Alice Kidwell, 65, 10 Beverly place, died last night at 11 o'clock at the home of her sister, Mrs. Olive D. Ward, 215 Beall street. She had been in ill health about 18 months.

Mrs. Kidwell, a native of Scottdale, Pa., was the widow of John Kidwell, a Celanese employe who died about six years ago. She resided here for more than 20 years.

Besides Mrs. Ward, she is survived by another sister, Mrs. James Atkin, Bedford, Pa., and one brother Austin Fortney this city.

Grocers Are Warned To Watch For Bogus Sugar Ration Stamps

Grocers in Allegany county are being urged to accept no loose sugar ration stamps from customers, as a number of counterfeit stamps are allegedly circulated in this area, according to Mrs. Mary Shaffer Jones, chief clerk at the local Price Control Board of the OPA.

Only sugar stamps attached to ration books should be accepted by grocers, Mrs. Jones explains, as this offers some assurance that the stamps are not bogus. Circulation of bogus stamps reduces the available supply of sugar, she stated.

Lann Found Not Guilty Of Striking Mother

Charles H. Lapp, 1008 Didtown road, discharged serviceman, was acquitted in trial magistrates court yesterday on a charge of assaulting his mother, Mrs. Ada Lee Lapp, on June 9.

The mother said the son struck her, but two brothers of the defendant testified in his behalf.

Sticks Stone in Ear

Dolores Albright, 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Albright, Route 5, was treated in Allegany hospital yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock after a stone became lodged in her right ear. Attaches said a physician was able to remove the object without a great deal of trouble.

Events in Brief

The Navy Mothers Club has issued special invitations to the mothers of the newly organized Cumberland Marine Platoon to attend an open house this evening at the VFW home. All mothers of boys now in the navy will also be welcomed. The regular business session will be held at 7:30 o'clock.

All five circles of the WSCS of First Methodist church will hold a joint session at 8 o'clock this evening at the church. Each leader is urged to strive for 100 per cent attendance of her group.

Phi Omicron Delta Closes Rush Week With Banquet

Jeanne Lippold, Vadne Miller Are Pledged and Honor Guests at Party

A banquet honoring the new pledges of Phi Omicron Delta sorority of Frostburg State Teacher college, was held last evening at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, marking the conclusion of "rush week."

Honor guests were Miss Jeanne Lippold, Cumberland, and Miss Vadne Miller, Grantsville.

Dr. Anson Hamm, Warrior Mark, Pa., who is serving as instructor of mathematics and psychology at Frostburg summer school, was the guest speaker. He was introduced by Miss Virginia Caplinger, delta, who served as toastmaster.

Prof. and Mrs. Maurice Matteson, sponsors of the sorority; Miss Lillian Compton, president of the college; and alumnae of the sorority were special guests.

The sorority colors of purple and white were carried out in the table decorations with flowers and candles. Covers were laid for approximately 40 guests. Group singing concluded the entertainment during the evening.

Formal intitiation ceremonies were held at the college preceding the banquet, with Miss Caplinger and her staff of officers officiating.

First Official Casualty List Shows 282 Alleganians Dead

The War department has released its first consolidated postwar casualty list, containing the names of 282 soldiers from Allegany county who entered service and failed to return. The list does not include navy or marine corps personnel, and at a glance, it is evident that there are some names missing.

The War department acknowledges that there may be omissions, and that a task of this scope is not expected to be too accurate on the first release. A further list, probable in book form, will be published after errors and omissions are corrected, it is indicated.

The list does not contain the name of Hugh A. McMullen, III, 400 Washington street, killed in France, September 16, 1944, or the name of Lt. Jack R. Wetzel, 219 Union street, killed in Germany, February 7, 1945.

News records show that on the fourth anniversary of Pearl Harbor, December 7, 1945, there were 322 war dead from this county. This included 183 from Cumberland and 139 from other parts of the county. Since then 11 other county men have been reported dead, or a total of 335.

The War department list includes names of men who were killed or died in service from May 27, 1941, when the President declared a state of national emergency existed, and January 31, 1946.

On the War department's list individual soldier names are followed by capital letters indicating the 'type of casualty' they belong to.

A soldier who was killed in action, whether at the front or by enemy action in the rear areas, or if a prisoner of war, whether by air bombardment of his prison camp or by being shot while escaping, is designated "KIA."

Soldiers who were wounded and later died are marked "DOW"—died of wounds.

Those who suffered fatal battle injuries as opposed to wounds, in combat areas, and died in a line-of-duty status, are designated "DOI"—died of injuries.

Other line-of-duty deaths, such as from sickness or accidents, outside combat areas (including training and maneuver deaths) are listed "DNB"—died-non-battle.

Individuals who were determined to be dead under Public Law 490 are designated "FOD"—finding of death.

Mumps Is Caused By Inflammation Of Two Glands

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

What is mumps? Nearly everybody can remember having had it at some time or other during childhood, but few know much about it except that it causes a painful, and sometimes laugh-provoking, swelling of the jaws.

Not many realize that this common disease is really an acute inflammation of two little glands which lie just in front of, and slightly below the ear, or that it is only one of the many disorders which can afflict them.

These glands are called the parotids and it is their business to make the secretion known as saliva, which is carried through little ducts to the mouth, where it is then mixed with food, to bring about the first step in digestion.

In addition to acute infections such as mumps or epidemic parotitis there is occasionally seen a condition known as surgical mumps. This consists essentially of an abscess of the parotid gland and it follow some surgical condition, such as appendicitis.

Moreover, these salivary glands may also be subject to chronic or long-continued infection. Tumors may develop in the glands, themselves, or around them. Stones may form in the parotid glands. Sometimes the duct which leads from the gland to the mouth may be blocked.

When a chronic disturbance of the parotid glands occurs which produces pain and swelling, before treatment is carried out, it is important to determine just what disorder is present. According to Dr. Theodore E. Beyer, Denver, one method which is helpful in making a diagnosis is a procedude called sialography.

This consists of injecting into the duct of the gland a substance called lipiodol and then taking an x-ray of the gland. In this x-ray will be seen the outline of the ducts in the gland and the gland itself. This procedure is easily carried out and there are no dangers in it.

When such x-rays are taken it will help to show the size and position of a stone if one is present. Chronic inflammation of the gland also can be diagnosed. It is also possible to tell a tumor in the gland itself from one which may be located around the gland. It also will help to tell the difference between a tumor which is not dangerous and one that is malignant or cancerous.

If it is found that a malignant tumor is present, an immediate operation should be carried out and the tumor removed. Such malignant tumors grow rapidly and produce pain.

We wouldn't know whether cricket is a dumb game or not for, if there is anything we are dumber about than cricket it has never come to our official attention.

Until recently we could never get it straight in our mind whether a wicket was a gadget used in cricket or whether a cricket was a widget used in a game called wicket. We're not exactly sure now.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

OLD JUDGE: "Those steers have certainly done well, Hank. They've put on a lot of weight since I saw them last time. Don't tell me..."

HANK: "Yes, Judge, you guessed it... I'm usin' those distillers' dried grains... like you recommended. How did you know they were so good?"

OLD JUDGE: "It only stands to reason, Hank. All the distillers take out of grain during distilling is the starch. The part rich in vitamins and proteins is recovered... dried ...and returned to the farmers as highly nutritious feed supplements. Doesn't it help you save your original grain in feeding, too?"

HANK: "Sure does... about 20%. And my cattle, livestock and poultry are thrivin' like they never did before. I'm savin' grain and gettin' fatter, healthier livestock."

OLD JUDGE: "Guess nobody can tell you anymore that distillers waste grain, can they Hank?"

HANK: "Not me, Judge... I know the truth now."

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Adm. Carter Is Named Custodian of Soft Coal Miners' Welfare Fund

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP) — Adm. Ben Moreell, coal mines administrator, today announced appointment of Rear Adm. W. J. Carter, naval paymaster general, as custodian of the soft coal miners' health and welfare fund.

The government is operating the bituminous mines as a result of the 59-day strike. The strike settlement agreement between Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug and John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers president, provided for a five cent per ton royalty on coal to finance the health and welfare fund.

The first deposit in this fund is due August 15, Adm. Moreel said. The mines are producing more than 12,000,000 tons per week—enough to provide $600,000 weekly for the fund.

The money will be administered by three trustees—one appointed by Lewis, one chosen by Krug, and the third selected by the other two trustees.

Miles Heads State Salaries Study Group

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 27 (AP)—State Treasurer Hooper S. Miles was named chairman today of a seven-man committee appointed by Gov. O'Conor to study state employes' salaries and to recommend correction of inequities.

The governor said he had asked Miles to call a meeting of the group which includes:

Walter N. Kirkman, state director; George W. Reed, chairman of the standard salary board; Charles D. Harris, counsel for the Maryland Classified Employes Association; Chief Deputy Comptroller Joseph O'C. McCusker; Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, state superintendent of schools, and Walter Perkins, of the Koppers Company of Baltimore.

—The city of Seattle, Wash., was first settled in the year 1852. It was incorporated as a city in 1865.

Germans Demonstrate Against Occupation

HAMBURG, Germany, June 27 (AP)—In the first mass German demonstration against the Allied occupation, 4,000 Hamburg citizens stormed angrily into the city square today protesting an order for the evacuation of persons from their homes to make room for British headquarters.

British military and German civilian police made a number of arrests, but no official figure was announced.

Twice the crown sang "Deutschland Ueber Alles," the historic German national anthem, and knocked the hats off of civilian men who had remained with their heads covered during the singing.

Except for the shouting and singing, the demonstration was fairly orderly. No injuries were reported.

—In 1940 the Roman Catholic rolls showed a membership in the United States of 21,284,455.

Adm. Carter Is Named Custodian of Soft Coal Miners' Welfare Fund

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP) — Adm. Ben Moreell, coal mines administrator, today announced appointment of Rear Adm. W. J. Carter, naval paymaster general, as custodian of the soft coal miners' health and welfare fund.

The government is operating the bituminous mines as a result of the 59-day strike. The strike settlement agreement between Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug and John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers president, provided for a five cent per ton royalty on coal to finance the health and welfare fund.

The first deposit in this fund is due August 15, Adm. Moreel said. The mines are producing more than 12,000,000 tons per week—enough to provide $600,000 weekly for the fund.

The money will be administered by three trustees—one appointed by Lewis, one chosen by Krug, and the third selected by the other two trustees.

Miles Heads State Salaries Study Group

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 27 (AP)—State Treasurer Hooper S. Miles was named chairman today of a seven-man committee appointed by Gov. O'Conor to study state employes' salaries and to recommend correction of inequities.

The governor said he had asked Miles to call a meeting of the group which includes:

Walter N. Kirkman, state director; George W. Reed, chairman of the standard salary board; Charles D. Harris, counsel for the Maryland Classified Employes Association; Chief Deputy Comptroller Joseph O'C. McCusker; Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, state superintendent of schools, and Walter Perkins, of the Koppers Company of Baltimore.

—The city of Seattle, Wash., was first settled in the year 1852. It was incorporated as a city in 1865.

Germans Demonstrate Against Occupation

HAMBRURG, Germany, June 27 (AP)—In the first mass German demonstration against the Allied occupation, 4,000 Hamburg citizens stormed angrily into the city square today protesting an order for the evacuation of persons from their homes to make room for British headquarters.

British military and German civilian police made a number of arrests, but no official figure was announced.

Twice the crown sang "Deutschland Ueber Alles," the historic German national anthem, and knocked the hats off of civilian men who had remained with their heads covered during the singing.

Except for the shouting and singing, the demonstration was fairly orderly. No injuries were reported.

—In 1940 the Roman Catholic rolls showed a membership in the United States of 21,284,455.

Different Faiths Present Difficult Problem for Pair

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

There is no more difficult problem to solve than the matter of marriage between two people of different faiths, and it is no wonder thot those who write to this column about this problem are deeply troubled and confused.

Even with the best will in the world to approach the question open-mindedly, there are complicated issues involved that require the most careful consideration and the most honest scrutiny before coming to a decision. But when family opposition is added to the problem, as in the case of the 17-year-old girl who writes the following letter, the whole thing becomes even more bewildering.

Signing herself "Puzzled," as well the poor girl may, she explains that she and her boy friend, who is 18 years old, are very much in love, and anxious to be married as soon as he completes his college course. Then she goes on to say:

"My family thinks very highly of him but refuses to let me see him because of our different faiths. I don't want to see him on the sly, as I feel I am doing wrong toward my parents. Should I stop going with him for my parent's sake, or should I continue seeing him, as I know there will never be any other fellow I can possibly love as I do him?"

Girl Is Uncertain

Here is a girl of obviously high character, since she is unwilling to continue a friendship of which her parents do not approve. She wants to do the right thing. But, in the first place, she is genuinely uncertain as to what that may be, and, in the second place, she is afraid that it may conflict with the fulfillment of her heart's desire, which, of course, is to marry this boy.

Now the opposition of this girl's parents to her romance may be based on either of two grounds. They may genuinely be able to see only the very real difficulties that sometimes do arise when two people of different faiths marry, and so they fear their daughter may let herself in for a lifetime of unhappiness if she does marry under such circumstances.

But, on the other hand, the parents may be merely intolerant, and unwilling to look at the question from all sides. They may simply be so firmly set against the whole idea of this type of marriage that they have shut their minds to any consideration of the possibility of a happy adjustment of such conditions. If this is the case, then it is not the happiness of their daughter, but their own narrow prejudices, that they are putting first in their thinking.

Plan Is Offered

Let's assume, however, that it is not intolerance but genuine anxiety for their daughter's happiness that motivates their opposition.

If so, then perhaps the daughter might get them to look at it this way: If they do think very highly of her young man, as she says they do, he must be of good character to have won their approval of him as a person. Couldn't they, then, believe that so worthy a boy would be just as interested as they are themselves in insuring the girl's happiness? Couldn't they, if they admire and repect him, trust him to work out with the girl he loves, some satisfactory adjustment of their differences in faith, with neither necessarily surrendering beliefs important to them, but each making allowances for the other's viewpoint?

Many people have done this successfully, and have happy married lives, despite their adherence to different creeds. And after all, if we are ever to build the kind of world we all dream of, we must learn to live with, and adjust ourselves to, those whose ways of thinking are different from our own.

Try to talk things over with your parents on this basis, "Puzzled," and let me know how you make out. If this plan doesn't work, maybe we can think of another that might.

But when family opposition is added to the problem, as in the case of the 17-year-old girl who writes the following letter, the whole thing becomes even more bewildering.

Signing herself "Puzzled," as well the poor girl may, she explains that she and her boy friend, who is 18 years old, are very much in love, and anxious to be married as soon as he completes his college course. Then she goes on to say:

"My family thinks very highly of him but refuses to let me see him because of our different faiths. I don't want to see him on the sly, as I feel I am doing wrong toward my parents. Should I stop going with him for my parent's sake, or should I continue seeing him, as I know there will never be any other fellow I can possibly love as I do him?"

Girl Is Uncertain

Here is a girl of obviously high character, since she is unwilling to continue a friendship of which her parents do not approve. She wants to do the right thing. But, in the first place, she is genuinely uncertain as to what that may be, and, in the second place, she is afraid that it may conflict with the fulfillment of her heart's desire, which, of course, is to marry this boy.

Now the opposition of this girl's parents to her romance may be based on either of two grounds. They may genuinely be able to see only the very real difficulties that sometimes do arise when two people of different faiths marry, and so they fear their daughter may let herself in for a lifetime of unhappiness if she does marry under such circumstances.

But, on the other hand, the parents may be merely intolerant, and unwilling to look at the question from all sides. They may simply be so firmly set against the whole idea of this type of marriage that they have shut their minds to any consideration of the possibility of a happy adjustment of such conditions. If this is the case, then it is not the happiness of their daughter, but their own narrow prejudices, that they are putting first in their thinking.

Plan Is Offered

Let's assume, however, that it is not intolerance but genuine anxiety for their daughter's happiness that motivates their opposition.

If so, then perhaps the daughter might get them to look at it this way: If they do think very highly of her young man, as she says they do, he must be of good character to have won their approval of him as a person. Couldn't they, then, believe that so worthy a boy would be just as interested as they are themselves in insuring the girl's happiness? Couldn't they, if they admire and repect him, trust him to work out with the girl he loves, some satisfactory adjustment of their differences in faith, with neither necessarily surrendering beliefs important to them, but each making allowances for the other's viewpoint?

Many people have done this successfully, and have happy married lives, despite their adherence to different creeds. And after all, if we are ever to build the kind of world we all dream of, we must learn to live with, and adjust ourselves to, those whose ways of thinking are different from our own.

Try to talk things over with your parents on this basis, "Puzzled," and let me know how you make out. If this plan doesn't work, maybe we can think of another that might.

Truman's Labor Bill Now Appears Unloved, Unwanted

By MAX HALL
Associated Press Labor Reporter

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—President Truman's emergency anti-strike bill, which Congress cheered only a month ago, now appears to be unloved, unwanted, and unlikely to succeed.

Administration leaders are not pushing it, though President Truman again formally asked for it on June 11.

The lack of steam behind the measure has been widely noticed on Capitol Hill.

The fact is: Congress has experienced one of the biggest reversals of sentiment in its recent history. On May 25 the House passed the emergency bill by a vote of 306 to 13. On June 1 the Senate passed it, with certain changes, by a vote of 61 to 20.

Today it was on Speaker Sam Rayburn's desk and no one had yet risen to fight for it further.

Why the sudden change?

1. The heat's off. There are no major strikes. The coal and railroad strikes ended. The maritime dispute was settled on June 14—three days after the president's last formal request for the legislation.

2. Administration leaders in Congress have become noticeably silent about the bill.

3. Those in Congress who had hoped to attach to this measure certain provisions of the Case Bill—which was vetoed by the president—have not been able to agree on how to proceed.

4. A great many lawmakers have an idea it would be better not to have any more pro-labor, anti-labor fights until the congressional elections are over.

Here's the background on the emergency bill:

At 4 o'clock on the afternoon of Saturday, May 25, Harry Truman started a speech before Congress. The rail strike had just been settled, but the announcement hadn't been made yet. The coal strike was about to blaze out again after a truce. Many people were pretty sure there was going to be a maritime strike June 15.

Mr. Truman asked for a temporary bill that would crack down on strikes against the government. In cases of government seizure, labor leaders could be imprisoned if they didn't order their men back to work. The strikers could be deprived of seniority rights or even drafted into the army.

This measure is not to be confused with the Case bill, which would have slapped permanent regulation of various types on labor unions, and which the president refused to sign.

Elizabeth Price To Become Bride Of Harold Kyle

Ceremony Will Be Performed Saturday in Bowery Street Church

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG June 27 — The marriage of Harold R. Kyle, son of David Kyle, 57 Spring street, and the late Mrs. Nannie Kyle, and Miss Elizabeth Jean Price, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David C. Price, 34 Washington street, will be solemnized Saturday, June 29, at 6:30 p. m. in the Bowery Street Congregational church, with the Rev. J. F. Zimmerman, pastor, officiating.

The attendants will be Miss Jane Lee Price, sister of the bride, and Lawrence Kyle, brother of the bridegroom. Preceding the ceremony, Miss Eleanor Norris will sing "At Dawning" and "Because," with Hugh Watson playing the piano accompaniments. Following the ceremony the couple will leave for a trip to New York city. They will reside in Frostburg.

Kyle, a graduate of Beall high school in 1939, is a veteran of World War II, serving for three years. He received his honorable discharge with the rank of corporal after returning from the ETO, where he served with combat troops. He is employed on the staff of the Celanese Corporation.

Miss Price, a graduate of Beall high school in 1939, has been employed at the Celanese plant.

Officers Elected

Ralph Crowe, North Water street, was elected chancellor commander of Frostburg City Lodge No. 88, Knights of Pythias, at the annual election of officers held Wednesday evening

Others named to serve with him for the ensuing term are Aaron Bean, vice chancellor; Harry Miller, prelate; Melvin Smouse, master of Work; Robert E Bowen, master of finance and keeper of records and seal; Rudolph Nickel, master of exchequer; Ellsworth Filer, master at arms; Donald Prichard, inner guard; Edward Hollada, outer guard; and E B Prichard, trustee and representative to the grand lodge meeting

Veteran Is Injured

Eugene Llewellyn, 24, an overseas veteran of World War II, was admitted to Miners hospital Monday after he injured his right hand at Spates Atlantic service station while putting air in a truck tire, which blew out and caught his hand between the two rims. Three fingers of the right hand were so badly mangled that amputation was necessary. Llewellyn served with the air forces during the war and engaged in many combats without injury.

Hardy County Men Attend Clarksburg Poultry Meeting

By MRS R. E. FISHER

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., June 27—Chester B. Hiett, president of the West Virginia Poultry Association, and J. O. Flynn, manager of the Tri-County Hatchery, recently attended a meeting of poultrymen and poultry workers at the Stonewall Jackson hotel, in Clarksburg. The meeting was held to determine United States standards on quality and grades and eggs and poultry within the state.

Addresses were made by Alfred Otte, of the United States Department of Agriculture and Marketing Administration, who spoke on the objectives of the quality conservation program. A state committee was appointed to represent all phases of the poultry industry following Otte's address.

Dr. Alfred Van Wagenen, of the National Egg and Poultry Producers Company, presented a paper to the group proposing a simplified egg grading system. He also proposed specifications for United States standards for individual birds and buying grades in live poultry. The suggestions were approved by the egg and poultry group.

Represented at the meeting were members of the faculty from the West Virginia College of Agriculture, from the state department of agriculture, publishers of poultry publications, representatives from the United States Department of Agriculture and poultrymen throughout the state.

Masons Install Officers

Raymond Sindy was installed as worshipful master; Ted R. Sager, senior warden; Price Riggleman, junior warden; H. Gus Muntzing, treasurer; Charles Kernan, chaplain; Clyde Shanholtz, senior deacon, and Glenn Evans, junior deacon.

No secretary was installed because of the recent death of S. Ray Ours.

Water Safety Course To Start

Classes in swimming and life saving will begin at the town River park on July 1, according to the statement of Gerard Calhoun, director and life guard at the park. A class for beginners in swimming will start at the same time.

Boys and girls who are between the ages of 12 and 15 are eligible to enroll in the class for life saving instruction and to qualify for junior life saving certificates.

To qualify for the senior life saving certificates, all persons must have passed their 16th birthday. Both groups, junior and senior, must possess sufficient swimming ability to pass the required eligibility tests.

The life saving course offered covers safely in and out of the water. The instruction to be given to those taking the life saving course will give them the skill and knowledge to rescue or assist a person in danger of drowning. On satisfactory completion of the course a certificate will be given.

The town park is open from 1 in the afternoon until 8 at night each day. Harold Ours has charge of the equipment and games and stand at the park.

Sgt. James O'Rourke, Mt. Savage, Wins Army Commendation Ribbon

Presentation of Citation Is Made by Maj. Gen. Manton S. Eddy

MT. SAVAGE, June 27 — The Army Commendation ribbon was presented recently to M-Sgt. James T. O'Rourke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick F. O'Rourke, by Maj. Gen. Manton E. Eddy, commanding general headquarters of the Second army.

The citation accompanying the ribbon said:

"M-Sgt. James T. O'Rourke is hereby authorized to wear the Army Commendation ribbon by direction of the secretary of war for meritorious and outstanding service in establishing personnel accounting procedures, in co-ordinating the activities of the machine records branch with the other sections of the service command headquarters, and in promoting a fine sense of co-operation between the administrative and machine sections, machine records branch, headquarters third service command from July 7, 1945, to May 7, 1946. With unusual acumen in machine tabulating procedures, Sgt. O'Rourke initiated numerous shortcuts and changes in personnel accounting methods which have simplified operations and resulted in an overall saving in man-hours of labor. His devotion to duty, co-operativeness, and willingness to work for long periods above the normal working day served as a fine example, both to the civilian and enlisted personnel under his supervision and reflected great credit on the military forces of the United States."

The citation was signed by Maj Gen. Eddy.

Sgt. O'Rourke enlisted in the army in February 1941 and served in Baltimore, Fort George G. Meade, and Bolling Field, before going overseas in February 1943. He served in North Africa and Italy before returning to the United States in May 1945. Since that time he has been serving in the Third Service command headquarters at Baltimore. He recently re-enlisted in the army for three years.

Sgt. O'Rourke's wife is the former Miss Rosemary Noonan, of Mt. Savage.

Swiss Troop Trains For British Cease

BERN, Switzerland (AP) — The transport of British servicemen from Italy through Switzerland and Frace to England has ceased. The Territorial Service of the Swiss Army said that since the end of July, 1945, 700,000 British troops stationed in Italy traveled through Switzerland on more than one thousand special trains. The Territorial Service praised the "exemplary" discipline of the British.

Meyersdale Student Preacher Helps On Boat Taking Livestock Abroad

William H. Gauntz Is Aiding Work of Church of the Brethren

By W. A. SHOEMAKER

MEYERSDALE, Pa., June 27—William H. Gauntz, along with 31 other men, students of five colleges of the Church of the Brethren, are serving as attendants on cattle boats taking livestock to war-stricken lands abroad.

Gauntz, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gauntz, 106 Sherman street, is a student in Bethany Biblical Seminary, Chicago, preparing for the ministry, and is using the summer months to combine a useful service to starving people, as well as to see for himself the needs abroad during the time that he will serve as a "seagoing cowboy" to European ports.

Gauntz is one of the 8,000, such nautical cowboys recruited at the service center of the Church of the Brethren located at New Windsor, Md., to care for some 200,000 animals being shipped abroad this year by UNRRA. It is the duty of these attendants to feed, water, and otherwise care for their animal charges.

This is only one of many functions performed at the New Windsor center for foreign relief. Not only are shoes, clothing, bedding, canned foods, soap and money received and shipped there, but so are candles, kitchen utensils, knives and forks, dolls, children's books, carpenter tools, cotton feed bags, and many other articles that are desperately needed abroad. Goods shipped there are usually sorted, packed and on their way abroad 48 hours after their receipt. Over 700 pairs of shoes are reconditioned each week before shipment.

Gauntz's companions will make up the entire crew of cattle attendants on this trip.

Hazel McGilvery Hospital Report

The response to the appeal for funds for the construction of the proposed Meyersdale Community Hospital has amply demonstrated the community's desire and need for hospital facilities in Meyersdale to take care of the hospitalization of patients in this section. No better corroboration is needed than the statistics itemizing the Hazel McGilvery hospital service for the year ending January 1, 1946.

During the period of one year the hospital admitted a total of 510 patients; 144 babies were born in the hospital, 87 medical patients were admitted for diagnosis and treatment, 34 serious accident cases were hospitalized, and a total of 246 surgical operations were performed. There were four deaths in the hospital during the year, three on medical and accident service and one on medical service.

Of the 246 surgical operations, 214 were performed by Dr. Alexander Solosko. Several hundred minor surgical operations were also performed in which the patients were not hospitalized but were sent home the same day. Total operating expenses were $27,036.58. The average number of employes was 19. As was their custom for the past 25 years of operating the hospital, Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Glass received no salaries or other fees for managing and directing the hospital, which is organized on a non-profit basis.

Cook Building Work Starts

Reconstruction work has been started on the large building of the J. M. Cook and Son Co. located opposite the Baltimore and Ohio railroad station, which was badly damaged by fire in the fall of 1944. The foundation was not damaged by the fire and the walls left standing are being reconditioned and will be re-roofed. Since the fire the Cook company has had its headquarters in the Ebbecka building on North street. Mrs. J. E. Englehart is head and principal owner of the mercantile organization.

Pitcher Breaks Arm

Archie Cassel, Meyersdale pitcher in the Somerset County League game being played with Jerome on the field grounds Tuesday evening, snapped a bone in his right arm just above the elbow while he was completing his windup for a hook pitch. The sharp crack was heard by many spectators. The accident happened in the last inning of the game which was won by Jerome 11 to 5. Cassel was treated at Hazel McGilvery hospital. He is employed as a foreman by the Somerset County Highway maintenance department and is 28.

Swine May Switch To Sylph Silhouette

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—Northwest farmers who have been living off the fat of the hog may turn to streamlined swine.

Predicting a decline in the lard market, research experts at Washington State college are cross-breeding swine to develop a longer, leaner hog with the accent on bacon.

Hardy County Men Attend Clarksburg Poultry Meeting

By MRS R. E. FISHER

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., June 27—Chester B. Hiett, president of the West Virginia Poultry Association, and J. O. Flynn, manager of the Tri-County Hatchery, recently attended a meeting of poultrymen and poultry workers at the Stonewall Jackson hotel, in Clarksburg. The meeting was held to determine United States standards on quality and grades and eggs and poultry within the state.

Addresses were made by Alfred Otte, of the United States Department of Agriculture and Marketing Administration, who spoke on the objectives of the quality conservation program. A state committee was appointed to represent all phases of the poultry industry following Otte's address.

Dr. Alfred Van Wagenen, of the National Egg and Poultry Producers Company, presented a paper to the group proposing a simplified egg grading system. He also proposed specifications for United States standards for individual birds and buying grades in live poultry. The suggestions were approved by the egg and poultry group.

Represented at the meeting were members of the faculty from the West Virginia College of Agriculture, from the state department of agriculture, publishers of poultry publications, representatives from the United States Department of Agriculture and poultrymen throughout the state.

Masons Install Officers

The following officers were installed in their respective chairs at the St. John's night communication of the Masonic lodge Tuesday night:

Raymond Sindy was installed as worshipful master; Ted R. Sager, senior warden; Price Riggleman, junior warden; H. Gus Muntzing, treasurer; Charles Kerman, chaplain; Clyde Shanholtz, senior deacon, and Glenn Evans, junior deacon.

Water Safety Course To Start

Classes in swimming and life saving will begin at the town River park on July 1, according to the statement of Gerard Calhoun, director and life guard at the park. A class for beginners in swimming will start at the same time.

Boys and girls who are between the ages of 12 and 15 are eligible to enroll in the class for life saving instruction and to qualify for junior life saving certificates.

To qualify for the senior life saving certificates, all persons must have passed their 16th birthday. Both groups, junior and senior, must possess sufficient swimming ability to pass the required eligibility tests.

The life saving course offered covers safely in and out of the water. The instruction to be given to those taking the life saving course will give them the skill and knowledge to rescue or assist a person in danger of drowning. On satisfactory completion of the course a certificate will be given.

The town park is open from 1 in the afternoon until 8 at night each day. Harold Ours has charge of the equipment and games and stand at the park.

Sgt. James O'Rourke, Mt. Savage, Wins Army Commendation Ribbon

MT. SAVAGE, June 27 — The Army Commendation ribbon was presented recently to M-Sgt. James T. O'Rourke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick F. O'Rourke, by Maj. Gen. Manton E. Eddy, commanding general headquarters of the Second army.

The citation accompanying the ribbon said:

"M-Sgt. James T. O'Rourke is hereby authorized to wear the Army Commendation ribbon by direction of the secretary of war for meritorious and outstanding service in establishing personnel accounting procedures, in co-ordinating the activities of the machine records branch with the other sections of the service command headquarters, and in promoting a fine sense of co-operation between the administrative and machine sections, machine records branch, headquarters third service command from July 7, 1945, to May 7, 1946. With unusual acumen in machine tabulating procedures, Sgt. O'Rourke initiated numerous shortcuts and changes in personnel accounting methods which have simplified operations and resulted in an overall saving in man-hours of labor. His devotion to duty, co-operativeness, and willingness to work for long periods above the normal working day served as a fine example, both to the civilian and enlisted personnel under his supervision and reflected great credit on the military forces of the United States."

The citation was signed by Maj Gen. Eddy.

Sgt. O'Rourke enlisted in the army in February 1941 and served in Baltimore, Fort George G. Meade, and Bolling Field, before going overseas in February 1943. He served in North Africa and Italy before returning to the United States in May 1945. Since that time he has been serving in the Third Service command headquarters at Baltimore. He recently re-enlisted in the army for three years.

Sgt. O'Rourke's wife is the former Miss Rosemary Noonan, of Mt. Savage.

Wednesday after serving a 10-day sentence on a drunkennes charge, and was re-arrested at 8:45 and returned to jail.

William Mansfield, Piedmont, arraigned before the court on a drunkenness charge, drew a sentence of 15 days in jail. John I. Haines, Keyser, was fined $10 on a drunkenness charge.

Swiss Troop Trains For British Cease

BERN, Switzerland (AP) — The transport of British servicemen from Italy through Switzerland and Frace to England has ceased. The Territorial Service of the Swiss Army said that since the end of July, 1945, 700,000 British troops stationed in Italy traveled through Switzerland on more than one thousand special trains. The Territorial Service praised the "exemplary" discipline of the British.

Meyersdale Student Preacher Helps On Boat Taking Livestock Abroad

By W. A. SHOEMAKER

MEYERSDALE, Pa., June 27—William H. Gauntz, along with 31 other men, students of five colleges of the Church of the Brethren, are serving as attendants on cattle boats taking livestock to war-stricken lands abroad.

Gauntz, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gauntz, 106 Sherman street, is a student in Bethany Biblical Seminary, Chicago, preparing for the ministry, and is using the summer months to combine a useful service to starving people, as well as to see for himself the needs abroad during the time that he will serve as a "seagoing cowboy" to European ports.

Gauntz is one of the 8,000, such nautical cowboys recruited at the service center of the Church of the Brethren located at New Windsor, Md., to care for some 200,000 animals being shipped abroad this year by UNRRA. It is the duty of these attendants to feed, water, and otherwise care for their animal charges.

This is only one of many functions performed at the New Windsor center for foreign relief. Not only are shoes, clothing, bedding, canned foods, soap and money received and shipped there, but so are candles, kitchen utensils, knives and forks, dolls, children's books, carpenter tools, cotton feed bags, and many other articles that are desperately needed abroad. Goods shipped there are usually sorted, packed and on their way abroad 48 hours after their receipt. Over 700 pairs of shoes are reconditioned each week before shipment.

Gauntz's companions will make up the entire crew of cattle attendants on this trip.

Hazel McGilvery Hospital Report

The response to the appeal for funds for the construction of the proposed Meyersdale Community Hospital has amply demonstrated the community's desire and need for hospital facilities in Meyersdale to take care of the hospitalization of patients in this section. No better corroboration is needed than the statistics itemizing the Hazel McGilvery hospital service for the year ending January 1, 1946.

During the period of one year the hospital admitted a total of 510 patients; 144 babies were born in the hospital, 87 medical patients were admitted for diagnosis and treatment, 34 serious accident cases were hospitalized, and a total of 246 surgical operations were performed. There were four deaths in the hospital during the year, three on medical and accident service and one on medical service.

Of the 246 surgical operations, 214 were performed by Dr. Alexander Solosko. Several hundred minor surgical operations were also performed in which the patients were not hospitalized but were sent home the same day. Total operating expenses were $27,036.58. The average number of employes was 19. As was their custom for the past 25 years of operating the hospital, Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Glass received no salaries or other fees for managing and directing the hospital, which is organized on a non-profit basis.

Cook Building Work Starts

Reconstruction work has been started on the large building of the J. M. Cook and Son Co. located opposite the Baltimore and Ohio railroad station, which was badly damaged by fire in the fall of 1944. The foundation was not damaged by the fire and the walls left standing are being reconditioned and will be re-roofed. Since the fire the Cook company has had its headquarters in the Ebbecka building on North street. Mrs. J. E. Englehart is head and principal owner of the mercantile organization.

Pitcher Breaks Arm

Personal Items

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne F. Buckel, New Windsor, Md., spent the weekend with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Arnold, Salisbury street. The Misses Emolah and Yvonne Arnold accompanied the Buckles as far as Frederick, Md., and from there will proceed to Washington, D. C., to visit their brother-in-law and sisters, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Meyers and Miss Elaine Arnold. Today the entire party left to spend the weekend in New York, Jersey City, Ocean City and Philadelphia. They will return to Washington Sunday night.

S. S. Susser, Cuba street, left yesterday to spend several weeks vacationing and recovering his health at Atlantic City.

Mr. and Mrs. John Baer, Akron, Ohio, are here to spend a week with relatives and friends. Mr. Baer was recently honorably discharged from the navy.

Mrs. James Wetzel and mother, Mrs. Jack Hartley, left Monday to spend several days in New York city.

HE REMEMBERS FACES, NAMES AND STOMACHS

PEANUT BUTTER for Gen. Omar N. Bradley from Pete Carter.

AP Newsfeatures

ST. LOUIS—"Remembering faces, names—and stomachs" has made dapper Pete Carter one of the best known fellows in his business. He's maitre d'hotel of the largest hostelry in St. Louis, the Jefferson.

When Gen. Omar N. Bradley came here for a banquet, Pete remembered the Veterans' Administrator's foundness for peanut butter. A jar was waiting as the general sat down at the speaker's table. He called for Pete to thank him personally.

When former Postmaster General James Farley comes to town, Pete remembers to serve him lamb chops with grape jelly instead of the customory mint sauce.

Jimmy Doolittle, once a St. Louis resident, always gets smaller portions than other diners. Usually he wants only a glass of milk before speaking.

Sam Breadon, owner of the St. Louis Cardinals, is a corned-beef-and-cabbage addict. Chester Davis, Federal Reserve bank president and once the nation's AAA administrator, prefers prime ribs of beef with horseradish sauce. Postmaster Bernard Dickman loves bockwurst and hot potato salad. Mayor Kaufmann "eats anything, but his wife always tells me to see that he finishes his salad."

Pete landed a lucky punch in a high school amateur boxing bout and landed in the hotel food business. The father of his young pugilistic apponent introduced himself and hired Pete as an apprentice cook.

"My father was a restaurant operator in Memphis but cooking had never appealed to me until after that fight," Carter reflected. "I'd have fought to stay out of the kitchen if my dad had asked me to work, but it looks like I fought my way in."

Cut American or cheddar cheese, not too fresh, into small cubes. Mix them with one-eighth pint of beer, a pinch of red pepper or paprika and dry mustard. Stir over a hot fire until the cheese is melted and flowing. Pour the melted cheese mixture over two slices of toast which have been cut into four triangular parts. Serve immediately.

HE REMEMBERS FACES, NAMES AND STOMACHS

PEANUT BUTTER for Gen. Omar N. Bradley from Pete Carter.

AP Newsfeatures

ST. LOUIS—"Remembering faces, names—and stomachs" has made dapper Pete Carter one of the best known fellows in his business. He's maitre d'hotel of the largest hostelry in St. Louis, the Jefferson.

When Gen. Omar N. Bradley came here for a banquet, Pete remembered the Veterans' Administrator's foundness for peanut butter. A jar was waiting as the general sat down at the speaker's table. He called for Pete to thank him personally.

When former Postmaster General James Farley comes to town, Pete remembers to serve him lamb chops with grape jelly instead of the customory mint sauce.

Jimmy Doolittle, once a St. Louis resident, always gets smaller portions than other diners. Usually he wants only a glass of milk before speaking.

Sam Breadon, owner of the St. Louis Cardinals, is a corned-beef-and-cabbage addict. Chester Davis, Federal Reserve bank president and once the nation's AAA administrator, prefers prime ribs of beef with horseradish sauce. Postmaster Bernard Dickman loves bockwurst and hot potato salad. Mayor Kaufmann "eats anything, but his wife always tells me to see that he finishes his salad."

Pete landed a lucky punch in a high school amateur boxing bout and landed in the hotel food business. The father of his young pugilistic apponent introduced himself and hired Pete as an apprentice cook.

"My father was a restaurant operator in Memphis but cooking had never appealed to me until after that fight," Carter reflected. "I'd have fought to stay out of the kitchen if my dad had asked me to work, but it looks like I fought my way in."

Cut American or cheddar cheese, not too fresh, into small cubes. [illegible] them with one-eighth pint of beer, a pinch of red pepper or paprika and dry mustard. Stir over a hot fire until the cheese is melted and flowing. Pour the melted cheese mixture over two slices of toast which have been cut into four triangular parts. Serve immediately.

Are yours the Tell-Tale Ankles?

Do your ankles "roll inward"? So often this is the cause of unnecessary foot weariness and pain. Get into Health Spot Shoes and see what this entirely new principle of foot support will do for you. For millions of feet it has meant amazing comfort, straight ankles and better posture, and goodbye to "tired feet."

Health Spot Shoes support your foot as nature in her wisdom intended it to be. Not forced against a flat inner sole, but lifted at the inner heel, rounded up toward a comfortable, sensible arch and a contoured bed for ball and toes. Beautifully styled and long wearing, too.

Hart Loses Plea To Gain Freedom

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 27. (AP)—Jack Hart, life-termer who twice escaped from the Maryland penitentiary, today lost a plea to gain his freedom legally.

Hart's parole application was denied by Parole Director F. Murray Benson, who said the convict's reported promise not to try any more jail breaks didn't outweigh his past record of incarcerations, escapes and near escapes.

However, Benson said, he didn't mean to "close the penitentiary gates forever" on the 58-year-old Hart.

"I hope that at some later date this case will be called up again and that somebody will then be able to say this man has shown unmistakeable evidence of rehabilitation," Benson said.

Hart was sentenced to a life term in 1922 for his part in the murder of William Norris, Baltimore contractor. He escaped in 1923 and again in 1929, only to be re-arrested and charged with being implicated in a theft, a robbery and a shooting. Since 1933 he has been involved in several attempted escapes from the penitentiary.

Short-Lived Freedom For Four Convicts

BALTIMORE, June 27 (AP)—It was a short-lived freedom for four convicts who escaped from the Maryland House of Correction yesterday.

Eight hours after they made their escape by crawling through a heat-pipe tunnel to the outside, they were recaptured near Elkridge late last night and returned to prison.

Warden Leroy J. Wright said the prisoners offered no resistance to their captors—Deputy Warden William Steiner and State Troopers Charles O. Critchley and Joseph Martinuk.

The escaped convicts were identified as John L. Renner, 49, Frederick; Robert Martin, 16, Baltimore; Myer W. Brimms, 24, Baltimore, and Arthur C. Smith, 19, Baltimore.

Maybe the reason the world is so unhappy these days is the fact that our most acute shortage is in optimism.

Chicken Every Sunday—and Then Some

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS
Associated Press Food Editor

Though we lack a great many foodstuffs—more than we did at times during the war—Americans still have an abundance of food to eat. At this season of the year Nature makes generous provision of fruits and vegetables and there is plenty of chicken and turkey on hand.

The main point about the fact that chicken is currently our best bet for the entree is not to let the situation get monotonous. We who do the cooking must be inventive and menus must be full of variety or family rebellion may set in. Here are a couple of suggestions to encourage your own imagination:

Roast Chicken With Potato Dressing

1 4-5 pound roasting chicken	3 scallions, chopped
2 cups riced or mashed potatoes	½ cup butter or vitaminized margarine, melted
2 cups fine dry breadcrumbs	½ cup milk
1 tablespoon salt	1 egg
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Clean and wash chicken thoroughly. Rub salt inside and outside. Combine potato, crumbs, salt, pepper, scallions, melted butter or margarine, milk and egg. Stuff loosely.

TURN THE TABLES ON CHICKEN . . . with potato dressing.

Insert tooth picks or metal pins across opening and lace cord around them. Fold skin of neck over back and fasten with tooth pick. Fold wings across back with tips touching. Tie ends of legs together with strong cord. Rub skin with melted butter or margarine and place in roaster. Roast, uncovered, in 350° oven for two hours or until tender. Cook gibiets in water to cover and one-third cup vitaminized margarine. Use this liquid for occasional basting. The remaining liquid may be added to drippings in roasting pan, thickened, and used as gravy.

Garnish: With this roast chicken serve a garnish of peach halves filled with real mayonaise and sprinkled with curry powder. The halves are toasted under the broiler for a few minutes before serving—just long enough to heat through.

Chicken and Mushrooms in Sour Cream Sauce

¼ cup butter or fortified margarine	2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon kitchen bouquet	¼ teaspoon pepper
1 cup finely diced onion	1 pound mushrooms, sauteed or one 6 ounce can broiled mushrooms
1 cup finely diced celery	2 tablespoons flour
2 cups coarsely diced cooked chicken	1½ cups sour cream
	2 tablespoons sherry, if desired

In a 9-inch frying pan blend together 2 tablespoons butter or margarine and one-half teaspoon kitchen bouquet. Add onions and celery and saute over low heat, stirring occasionally, until tender—about 10 min. Add chicken, seasonings and mushrooms with one-third cup mushroom liquid. Cover and cook over moderate heat for about 10 minutes. Remove cover and allow most of the liquid to evaporate. Meanwhile, in top of double boiler melt 2 tablespoons butter or margarine. Add flour and blend together thoroughly. Gradually add sour cream and heat over hot water, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens. Cover and cook 10 minutes. Add sherry and one-half teaspoon kitchen bouquet. Pour sauce into frying pan and stir gently. Serve on hot platter surrounded with hot cooked noodles.

Chicken Every Sunday—and Then Some

Associated Press Food Editor

Though we lack a great many foodstuffs—more than we did at times during the war—Americans still have an abundance of food to eat. At this season of the year Nature makes generous provision of fruits and vegetables and there is plenty of chicken and turkey on hand.

The main point about the fact that chicken is currently our best bet for the entree is not to let the situation get monotonous. We who do the cooking must be inventive and menus must be full of variety or family rebellion may set in. Here are a couple of suggestions to encourage your own imagination:

Roast Chicken With Potato Dressing

1 4-5 pound roasting chicken
2 cups riced or mashed potatoes
2 cups fine dry breadcrumbs
1 tablespoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
3 scallions, chopped
½ cup butter or vitaminized margarine, melted
½ cup milk
1 egg

Clean and wash chicken thoroughly. Rub salt inside and outside. Combine potato, crumbs, salt, pepper, scallions, melted butter or margarine, milk and egg. Stuff loosely.

TURN THE TABLES ON CHICKEN . . with potato dressing.

Insert tooth picks or metal pins across opening and lace cord around them. Fold skin of neck over back and fasten with tooth pick. Fold wings across back with tips touching. Tie ends of legs together with strong cord. Rub skin with melted butter or margarine and place in roaster. Roast, uncovered, in 350° oven for two hours or until tender. Cook giblets in water to cover and one-third cup vitaminized margarine. Use this liquid for occasional basting. The remaining liquid may be added to drippings in roasting pan, thickened, and used as gravy.

Garnish: With this roast chicken serve a garnish of peach halves filled with real mayonaise and sprinkled with curry powder. The halves are toasted under the broiler for a few minutes before serving—just long enough to heat through.

Chicken and Mushrooms in Sour Cream Sauce

¼ cup butter or fortified margarine
1 teaspoon kitchen bouquet
1 cup finely diced onion
1 cup finely diced celery
2 cups coarsely diced cooked chicken
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 pound mushrooms, sauteed or one 6 ounce can broiled mushrooms
2 tablespoons flour
1½ cups sour cream
2 tablespoons sherry, if desired

In a 9-inch frying pan blend together 2 tablespoons butter or margarine and one-half teaspoon kitchen bouquet. Add onions and celery and saute over low heat, stirring occasionally, until tender—about 10 min. Add chicken, seasonings and mushrooms with one-third cup mushroom liquid. Cover and cook over moderate heat for about 10 minutes. Remove cover and allow most of the liquid to evaporate. Meanwhile, in top of double boiler melt 2 tablespoons butter or margarine. Add flour and blend together thoroughly. Gradually add sour cream and heat over hot water, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens. Cover and cook 10 minutes. Add sherry and one-half teaspoon kitchen bouquet. Pour sauce into frying pan and stir gently. Serve on hot platter surrounded with hot cooked noodles.

Market Shifts to Rallying Side With Gains of One to Four Points

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP) — The stock market shifted to the rallying side today with notably "thin" issues pushing up around five points at the best although there never was anything like a bidding rush.

Steels, rails, liquors and a wide assortment of specials were in front from the start. While top marks were trimmed in numerous cases at the finish, advances of one to four or more were widespread. Dealings slowed occasionally but volume expanded to 1,200,000 shares compared with 1,020,000 Wednesday.

American Home Products was up three and one-quarter at $120.50.

An extra payment lifted Kress Common three to $57. An increased quarterly and an extra put up Container Corporation three and three-quarters to $53.25. Richfield Oil tacked on one and one-eighth at $18.75 when a regular dividend policy was disclosed.

Prominent on the upside were Youngstown Sheet, ahead four and three-quarters at $80.75; United States Steel, Bethlehem, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Chesapeake and Ohio, Chrysler, General Motors, Goodrich, United States Rubber, Montgomery Ward, J. I. Case, American Telephone, Kennecott, Texas Company, Anaconda, du Pont, Allied Chemical, Schenley, Johns-Manville and Philip Morris.

Higher in the Curb were Cities Service, Brown-Forman Distillers, Rotary Electric Steel, United Light and Textron. Turnover here was 400,000 shares versus 390,000 yesterday.

A wide assortment of railroad obligations recovered one to more than two points from their recent dip to near 1946 lows. Other corporates were mixed and narrow.

Total sales of $3,972,000 compared with $4,020,000 Wednesday.

Treasury 2½s of December '72-'67 were up one-eighth at 103 29-32 on the exchange. The government issues were narrowly lower in outside markets.

FREEDOM—CAN YOU TAKE IT?

I'm becoming allergic to this word freedom. Not because of the principle in itself, which I deeply revere, but because of our stupid use of the term.

Never have people of all types made such a fuss over freedom—or known less about it. Never have we more passionately extolled the beauty and nobility of a free life—or bellyached worse if we had to pay the price of one.

It is a normal reaction, after any war, for men and women to yearn for liberty and demand it as a just reward for their sacrifices and struggles. And it is quite natural that this should be happening in America now. Everyone, regardless of age or craft, is demanding freedom with all its privileges and powers . . . gobs and gobs of freedom served gratis and pronto upon fourteen-carat gold platters.

There is nothing vague or intangible about this demand. It clamors at you from every line of newsprint, every broadcast, every political or industrial action. There is not a person or an organization in America today that is not involved in this hectic hullabaloo over liberty. All of which would be a perfectly healthy manifestation if we had the slightest idea what liberty means or entails.

There is probably no word more generally misunderstood than freedom. Most of us think that freedom means getting away from obligation. . . . striking out on our own . . . . dispensing with bosses and rules . . . . running our own lives for a while. This last notion is particularly prevalent at this time when strikes are multiplying like wood ticks. There is hardly a worker of either sex in these United States who does not believe that he knows far more about his job than his boss does, and could show much better results if allowed a free hand.

Nothing, of course, could be further from the truth. I doubt if there are three people out of three million that are capable of running their own lives without assistance. And the fellow who believes most firmly that he knows all the answers is usually the most helpless when asked to prove it.

Freedom is undoubtedly the noblest plan for human existance that was ever entertained by the race, and no people have cherished it more deeply or sacrificed for it more heroically than we Americans. If any nation can claim to have crated a dream which is common to all human hearts America might surely make that claim. Yet, in this very moment of our most supreme success, when our principles seem to have triumphed over the standards of all other peoples, we actually know less about freedom than ever before in our history, and are in the greatest danger of losing it.

The simple truth is this—that freedom is a magnificent ideal. But it is neither free nor fun. Most of us who yell the loudest in our desire for freedom would triple our howls if we really achieved it. For freedom is the hardest job the human spirit can tackle. Instead of lessening responsibility it increases it endlessly. Instead of making life easier it complicates it beyond all expectation. Truly free people are the loneliest folk on earth. Everyone blames them for everything and no one is ever completely satisfied with anything they do.

All of which sounds very mysterious, but it isn't. It's the plain truth and it happened this way simply because Freedom is our most grown-up adventure. Only those who dare to be truly mature in their viewpoint, and in their fighting action, should ever clamor for freedom, for it is bound to prove a lively boomerang.

Does this article refer particularly to the labor agitation which is now under way? It does indeed. And my general advice to all such soreheads is the oldest on earth—

"Good hunting, gentlemen. But do not bite off anything until you know how much you can chew"

Legion Tops Brewers, 1-0 On Art Garbark's Double

Contest Played in Fast Time of 1:04; Moose Drops 10-3 Decision to Fulton Myers

Manager Art Garbark's two-base clout to left-center in the third inning sent Eddie Diehl across the plate with the run which gave Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, a 1 to 0 decision over the Queen City Brewers in a City Baseball League thriller yesterday at Community Park.

It was the best game staged in the twilight circuit to date and was played in a remarkably fast time of one hour and four minutes.

Geatz Beats Reynolds

George Geatz hooked up with Reynolds in a mound duel in which both pitchers faced only 23 batsmen and each team was limited to four hits.

Queen City threatened in the fourth when it loaded the bases but the fire was put out when Geatz picked up Lefty Lee's grounder and winged the ball home for a force out at the plate. Minnicks singled and went to second on Wagner's sacrifice. After Lynch singled Minnicks to third he pilfered second. The runners failed to advance as Geatz tossed out Mulvey. After Winfield was intentionally passed, filling the bases, Lee hit to Geatz, who fired the ball home to cut down Minnicks for the final out.

Dick Morgan's running catch of Sellers's fly near the right field foul line in the third inning was the fielding highlight.

The victory, eighth in nine starts, enabled the Legion to increase its lead to two and one-half games over the Brewers.

Fulton Myers Wins

Fulton Myers Post, American Legion, collected eleven hits, including Bill Smith's home run, to hand the Loyal Order of Moose its sixth successive defeat by the score of 10-3 at Stitcher field.

Joe Hartman, former Barrelville twirler, making his debut as manager of the Moose team, used fifteen players in the game, including three pitchers. Claude Robinson, starting hurler, was charged with the loss. B. Brown held the Moose to six hits. Bill Smith rapped out three hits for the winners. The boxes:

Joe Neubiser hurled the Knights of Columbus to their tenth consecutive victory in the Rocking Chair Softball League yesterday when he let the Texcel Club down with four hits and notched his fourth straight win by the score of 5-1 in a game played at East Side field.

The undefeated leaders unloosed an 11-hit barrage, Sammy DeLuca heading the assault with a home run and single while Hilary Green got two singles and "Vic" Long a double and single. Four singles credited to the losers were obtained by Randie Jewell, Frantz, Stewart and Deremer.

Raygor Hurls One-Hitter

Harry Raygor missed a no-hit game when Wade, first man up in the seventh singled, as the Cumberland Outdoor Club walloped the Knights of Pythias at Campobello to the tune of 18-0. The winners pounded out 13 hits, "Moose" Lester and "Bus" Miller getting two safeties each.

Brace Lee was returned the winner over Schoenadel in a pitchers' battle as the Woodmen emerged victorious over Potomac Edison at Taylor field by the score of 5-3. Singles by True, J. Often and Reitmier, an error and Hare's two-bagger gave the Woodmen four runs in the first inning. Thereafter Schoenadel yielded one hit. Lee pitched a three-hitter.

Moose Trips Legion

The Loyal Order of Moose took the American Legion into camp at Fort Hill, 6-3. This game was played in the fast time of 50 minutes. Deremer and Knippenberg shared four of the winners' six hits while Boyer obtained two of the four blows credited to the Legion.

Unable to field a team, the Jaycees forfeited to the B. P. O. Elks.

The Woodmen-Moose game, scheduled for today, has been postponed because the Woodmen will be unable to get a team together, it was announced last evening. The scores:

O'Toole Files Suit Against Mike Jacobs

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP)—Mike Jacobs, the fight promoter, has another battle on his agenda as the result of a $200,000 slander and libel suit filed against him today in supreme court.

The action was brought by Rep. Donald L. O'Toole (D-NY), who had done some sparring with "Uncle Mike" in caustic statements given by each to the press as the result of the Joe Louis-Billy Conn heavyweight title bout.

In his suit O'Toole claimed Jacobs uttered "false and defamatory words" against the congressman, who was "greatly injured in his good name and professional reputation."

Bill Nicholson's Ninth Inning Hit Defeats Pirates

Pinch Single with Bases Loaded Gives Cubs 6 to 5 Victory

PITTSBURGH, June 27. (AP)—Bill (Swish) Nicholson's pinch single with the bases loaded in the ninth inning drove in two runs and gave the Chicago Cubs a 6 to 5 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates today before a slim ladies' day crowd of 3,019.

It appeared the Bucs had pulled themselves out of the cellar as they led by a run going into the final frame. But Jack Hallett walked Pinchhinter Dominic Dallessandro, gave up a single to Bob Sturgeon, a sacrifice and another walk to set the stage for Nicholson's winning smash. Box:

DODGERS BEAT BRAVES

BROOKLYN, June 27 (AP) — The first place Brooklyn Dodgers defeated the Boston Braves, 3-1, tonight to increase their National League lead over the idle St. Louis Cardinals to 3½ games.

Hank Behrman unfolded an effective relief job for the Dodgers, allowing one hit after he relieved Joe Hatten in the fifth inning before a paid attendance of 32,265.

Legion Will Play VFW, East Side Meets Jupers

The American Legion and East Side, seeking two more wins to tie Lacy's Delicatets for first place in the first half championship race of the City Softball League, will play the V.F.W. and Keegan's Jupers in games set for today.

The Legion-VFW tilt is set for Community Park while the Keegan's-East Side game will be staged at East Side field.

If the Legion and East Side win today's games it is understood that they will play Keegan's and Williams Street on Sunday morning to give each of the contenders a final chance to complete their schedule. These games were postponed Wednesday because of rain.

Wins Anywhere

NEW YORK. (AP)—The old racing adage "horses for courses," apparently does not apply to Jet Pilot, Maine Chance Farm's crack two-year-old. The $41,000 son of Blenheim II-Black Wave won his first four starts over different tracks—Churchill Downs, Pimlico, Belmont Park and Aqueduct.

Carroll Boggs Is Fourth In Vets' Golf Tournament

Winning Coach

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP)—Penn State's Joe Bedenk sports a .602 average as he finishes his 16th season as baseball coach at his alma mater. His 1946 team lost only one game in 12 starts to bring his all-time record to 159 wins, 73 losses and one tie.

Cumberland Pro Posts 72 in First Round; Lew Worsham Is Leader

Allie Stolz Will Battle 135-pound Champion in Garden Tonight

BALTIMORE, June 27 (AP) — Lew Worsham, star Bethesda (Md) professional fired a six-under-par 64 over the 18 sunbaked fairways of the Rolling Road Country Club today to take a commanding lead in the Veterans' Golf Championships.

The navy veteran, who represents the Congressional Country Club, Washington, went out in 33 and then proceeded to burn up the back nine with a 31. Par is 35-35—70.

In the runner up spot in the pro division of the tournaments sponsored by the Baltimore News Post and Sunday American was Charlie Bassler of the Chevy Chase club with a 66. Johnny Bass of Clifton Park was third with a 67.

Leading the parade of almost 300 in the amateur division was Otto Greiner, state simon-pure champion, who posted a 35-34—69. Johnny Deford of Elkridge and Joe Wilkens of Clifton Park tied for second in this division with 72's.

One hundred and ninety-two of today's field qualified. The group will be split into twelve flights of sixteen and will battle it out in their respective flights in the second and final half of the 36 hole medal event tomorrow.

Carroll Boggs, Cumberland professional, posted a respectable 72 for today's round to tie for fourth spot in his division with late starters still to be heard from.

Two amateurs from Cumberland, John Manley and Ralph Leasure, posted 81 and 83, respectively.

Bob Montgomery Is Conceded Edge In Title Scrap

Allie Stolz Will Battle 135-pound Champion in Garden Tonight

NEW YORK, June 27. (AP)—For nine years now they've been saying Allie Stolz had all the mechanical equipment to be lightweight champion of the world and tomorrow night the curly-haired Jerseyan has a chance to take it.

He tangles with Bob Montgomery, the Philadelphia flailer, over the 15-round route in Madison Square garden for Bobcat Bob's half of the 135-pound crown.

And although Montgomery is the 1 to 2 favorite to hang onto the title recognized by New York State in this first defense since he shed Uncle Sam's soldier suit, he hasn't been any too hot of late.

Allie has been knocking on the door practically since the day he came out of Newark with his brilliant boxing tricks and enough firecrackers in his fists to flatten 21 out of 70 opponents. But each time he had his foot in the door it was slammed shut.

In 1941, he was on the way to a title shot, then one Jimmy Tygh upset him in ten rounds in Philadelphia, and he had to start in all over. In 1942, he did get a shot at Sammy Angott's half of the title, only to lose by a whisker. He was beaten by Tippy Larkin in '44 and had to go back to the foot of the class once more. But starting with 1945, he has won ten of 11 outings, losing only to Whistling Willie Joyce a couple of months ago, so tomorrow night he tries for the jackpot again.

Montgomery has won all four of his starts since he got out of the army but all were over-the-weight affairs.

Mel Henry Is Appointed Coach of VPI Gobblers

Named Varsity Track Coach and Assistant Grid, Cage Mentor; Reports in August

BLACKSBURG, Va., June 27 (AP)—Mel Henry, outstanding Gobbler football player of the late 1930's, has been named head coach of track at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, W. L. (Monk) Younger, director of athletics, announced tonight.

Henry, who has been head coach at Cumberland (Md) high school since shortly after his graduation from Virginia Tech in 1939, will also serve as assistant football coach and assistant basketball coach.

A three-sport athlete while at Virginia Tech, Henry played fullback on the Gobbler football team and was known throughout the state and southern conference as "Mauling Mel." He also starred in basketball and track.

Younger said tonight Henry is expected to report to Tech in August.

Last summer Henry served at Tech as an assistant in the physical education program inaugurated among service units assigned to the college.

Announcement of Henry's appointment as football coach at Allegany high school was made Tuesday by Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of Allegany county public schools.

Henry was transferred from Fort Hill to Allegany to make room for William Hahn, who will receive his discharge from the naval service soon to resume his former duties as head football coach of the Sentinels. Mel served as football coach at Fort Hill for three seasons and prior to taking over at the Hilltop school he coached basketball at Central high school, Lonaconing.

When advised of the Associated Press story about Henry's appointment at V. P. I., Superintendent Kopp said: "It's news to me." He stated Henry had not resigned from the Allegany public school system as yet and withheld further comment on the matter.

Tops Them All This Racing Strike

CORRIENTES, Argentina— (AP)—Members of the Jockey Club here had a hard Sunday recently. It started when employes of the race track went on strike just before the first race. Club members went behind the wickets to sell entrance tickets and take bets. The crowd at the track sympathized with the employes and left the track in a body, forcing the cancellation of the card.

To top it all off, a representative of the Federal Labor Department showed up and served notice on the club it was fined 15,000 pesos for failing to give raises and bonuses to the employes.

Manager Art Garbark's two-base clout to left-center in the third inning sent Eddie Diehl across the plate with the run which gave Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, a 1 to 0 decision over the Queen City Brewers in a City Baseball League thriller yesterday at Community Park.

It was the best game staged in the twilight circuit to date and was played in a remarkably fast time of one hour and four minutes.

Geatz Beats Reynolds

George Geatz hooked up with Reynolds in a mound duel in which both pitchers faced only 23 batsmen and each team was limited to four hits.

Queen City threatened in the fourth when it loaded the bases but the fire was put out when Geatz picked up Lefty Lee's grounder and winged the ball home for a force out at the plate. Minnicks singled and went to second on Wagner's sacrifice. After Lynch singled Minnicks to third he pilfered second. The runners failed to advance as Geatz tossed out Mulvey. After Winfield was intentionally passed, filling the bases, Lee hit to Geatz, who fired the ball home to cut down Minnicks for the final out.

Dick Morgan's running catch of Sellers's fly near the right field foul line in the third inning was the fielding highlight.

The victory, eighth in nine starts, enabled the Legion to increase its lead to two and one-half games over the Brewers.

Fulton Myers Wins

Fulton Myers Post, American Legion, collected eleven hits, including Bill Smith's home run, to hand the Loyal Order of Moose its sixth successive defeat by the score of 10-3 at Stitcher field.

Joe Hartman, former Barrelville twirler, making his debut as manager of the Moose team, used fifteen players in the game, including three pitchers. Claude Robinson, starting hurler, was charged with the loss. B. Brown held the Moose to six hits. Bill Smith rapped out three hits for the winners. The boxes:

Joe Neubiser hurled the Knights of Columbus to their tenth consecutive victory in the Rocking Chair Softball League yesterday when he let the Texcel Club down with four hits and notched his fourth straight win by the score of 5-1 in a game played at East Side field.

The undefeated leaders unloosed an 11-hit barrage, Sammy DeLuca heading the assault with a home run and single while Hilary Green got two singles and "Vic" Long a double and single. Four singles credited to the losers were obtained by Randie Jewell, Frantz, Stewart and Deremer.

Raygor Hurls One-Hitter

Harry Raygor missed a no-hit game when Wade, first man up in the seventh singled, as the Cumberland Outdoor Club walloped the Knights of Pythias at Campobello to the tune of 18-0. The winners pounded out 13 hits, "Moose" Lester and "Bus" Miller getting two safeties each.

Brace Lee was returned the winner over Schoenadel in a pitchers' battle as the Woodmen emerged victorious over Potomac Edison at Taylor field by the score of 5-3. Singles by True, J. Often and Reitmier, an error and Hare's two-bagger gave the Woodmen four runs in the first inning. Thereafter Schoenadel yielded one hit. Lee pitched a three-hitter.

Moose Trips Legion

The Loyal Order of Moose took the American Legion into camp at Fort Hill, 6-3. This game was played in the fast time of 50 minutes. Deremer and Knippenberg shared four of the winners' six hits while Boyer obtained two of the four blows credited to the Legion.

Unable to field a team, the Jaycees forfeited to the B. P. O. Elks.

The Woodmen-Moose game, scheduled for today, has been postponed because the Woodmen will be unable to get a team together, it was announced last evening. The scores:

O'Toole Files Suit Against Mike Jacobs

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP)—Mike Jacobs, the fight promoter, has another battle on his agenda as the result of a $200,000 slander and libel suit filed against him today in supreme court.

The action was brought by Rep. Donald L. O'Toole (D-NY), who had done some sparring with "Uncle Mike" in caustic statements given by each to the press as the result of the Joe Louis-Billy Conn heavyweight title bout.

In his suit O'Toole claimed Jacobs uttered "false and defamatory words" against the congressman, who was "greatly injured in his good name and professional reputation."

Bill Nicholson's Ninth Inning Hit Defeats Pirates

Pinch Single with Bases Loaded Gives Cubs 6 to 5 Victory

PITTSBURGH, June 27. (AP)—Bill (Swish) Nicholson's pinch single with the bases loaded in the ninth inning drove in two runs and gave the Chicago Cubs a 6 to 5 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates today before a slim ladies' day crowd of 3,019.

It appeared the Bucs had pulled themselves out of the cellar as they led by a run going into the final frame. But Jack Hallett walked Pinchhinter Dominic Dallessandro, gave up a single to Bob Sturgeon, a sacrifice and another walk to set the stage for Nicholson's winning smash. Box:

DODGERS BEAT BRAVES

BROOKLYN, June 27 (AP)—The first place Brooklyn Dodgers defeated the Boston Braves, 3-1, tonight to increase their National League lead over the idle St. Louis Cardinals to 3½ games.

Hank Behrman unfolded an effective relief job for the Dodgers, allowing one hit after he relieved Joe Hatten in the fifth inning before a paid attendance of 32,265.

Legion Will Play VFW, East Side Meets Jupers

The American Legion and East Side, seeking two more wins to tie Lacy's Delicatets for first place in the first half championship race of the City Softball League, will play the V.F.W. and Keegan's Jupers in games set for today.

The Legion-VFW tilt is set for Community Park while the Keegan's-East Side game will be staged at East Side field.

If the Legion and East Side win today's games it is understood that they will play Keegan's and Williams Street on Sunday morning to give each of the contenders a final chance to complete their schedule. These games were postponed Wednesday because of rain.

Cumberland Pro Posts 72 in First Round; Lew Worsham Is Leader

BALTIMORE, June 27 (AP) — Lew Worsham, star Bethesda (Md) professional fired a six-under-par 64 over the 18 sunbaked fairways of the Rolling Road Country Club today to take a commanding lead in the Veterans' Golf Championships.

The navy veteran, who represents the Congressional Country Club, Washington, went out in 33 and then proceeded to burn up the back nine with a 31. Par is 35-35—70.

In the runner up spot in the pro division of the tournaments sponsored by the Baltimore News Post and Sunday American was Charlie Bassler of the Chevy Chase club with a 66. Johnny Bass of Clifton Park was third with a 67.

Leading the parade of almost 300 in the amateur division was Otto Greiner, state simon-pure champion, who posted a 35-34—69. Johnny Deford of Elkridge and Joe Wilkens of Clifton Park tied for second in this division with 72's.

One hundred and ninety-two of today's field qualified. The group will be split into twelve flights of sixteen and will battle it out in their respective flights in the second and final half of the 36 hole medal event tomorrow.

Carroll Boggs, Cumberland professional, posted a respectable 72 for today's round to tie for fourth spot in his division with late starters still to be heard from.

Two amateurs from Cumberland, John Manley and Ralph Leasure, posted 81 and 83, respectively.

Bob Montgomery Is Conceded Edge In Title Scrap

Allie Stolz Will Battle 135-pound Champion in Garden Tonight

NEW YORK, June 27. (AP)—For nine years now they've been saying Allie Stolz had all the mechanical equipment to be lightweight champion of the world and tomorrow night the curly-haired Jerseyan has a chance to take it.

He tangles with Bob Montgomery, the Philadelphia flailer, over the 15-round route in Madison Square garden for Bobcat Bob's half of the 135-pound crown.

And although Montgomery is the 1 to 2 favorite to hang onto the title recognized by New York State in this first defense since he shed Uncle Sam's soldier suit, he hasn't been any too hot of late.

Allie has been knocking on the door practically since the day he came out of Newark with his brilliant boxing tricks and enough firecrackers in his fists to flatten 21 out of 70 opponents. But each time he had his foot in the door it was slammed shut.

In 1941, he was on the way to a title shot, then one Jimmy Tygh upset him in ten rounds in Philadelphia, and he had to start in all over. In 1942, he did get a shot at Sammy Angott's half of the title, only to lose by a whisker. He was beaten by Tippy Larkin in '44 and had to go back to the foot of the class once more. But starting with 1945, he has won ten of 11 outings, losing only to Whistling Willie Joyce a couple of months ago, so tomorrow night he tries for the jackpot again.

Montgomery has won all four of his starts since he got out of the army but all were over-the-weight affairs.

Mel Henry Is Appointed Coach of VPI Gobblers

Named Varsity Track Coach and Assistant Grid, Cage Mentor; Reports in August

BLACKSBURG, Va., June 27 (AP)—Mel Henry, outstanding Gobbler football player of the late 1930's, has been named head coach of track at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, W. L. (Monk) Younger, director of athletics, announced tonight.

Henry, who has been head coach at Cumberland (Md) high school since shortly after his graduation from Virginia Tech in 1939, will also serve as assistant football coach and assistant basketball coach.

A three-sport athlete while at Virginia Tech, Henry played fullback on the Gobbler football team and was known throughout the state and southern conference as "Mauling Mel." He also starred in basketball and track.

Younger said tonight Henry is expected to report to Tech in August.

Last summer Henry served at Tech as an assistant in the physical education program inaugurated among service units assigned to the college.

Announcement of Henry's appointment as football coach at Allegany high school was made Tuesday by Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of Allegany county public schools.

Henry was transferred from Fort Hill to Allegany to make room for William Hahn, who will receive his discharge from the naval service soon to resume his former duties as head football coach of the Sentinels. Mel served as football coach at Fort Hill for three seasons and prior to taking over at the Hilltop school he coached basketball at Central high school, Lonaconing.

When advised of the Associated Press story about Henry's appointment at V. P. I., Superintendent Kopp said: "It's news to me." He stated Henry had not resigned from the Allegany public school system as yet and withheld further comment on the matter.

Tops Them All This Racing Strike

CORRIENTES, Argentina— (AP)—Members of the Jockey Club here had a hard Sunday recently. It started when employes of the race track went on strike just before the first race. Club members went behind the wickets to sell entrance tickets and take bets. The crowd at the track sympathized with the employes and left the track in a body, forcing the cancellation of the card.

To top it all off, a representative of the Federal Labor Department showed up and served notice on the club it was fined 15,000 pesos for failing to give raises and bonuses to the employes.

DeWitt Coulter, Army Grid Star, Signed by Giants

Friends Report Tackle Will Receive $19,000 with $2,500 Bonus

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP) — The New York Giants of the National Football League received DeWitt Coulter's signed contract today. In an accompanying letter, the All-America tackle an Army's undefeated eleven last fall said he expected to visit New York early next month to find an apartment and to make arrangements to study commercial art.

Club officials would not divulge the terms of the contract although Coulter's friends in Texas said yesterday he signed for a salary of $19,000 with a $2,500 bonus.

Will Fight in London

LONDON, June 27 (AP)—Promoter Jack Solomens arrived home from the United States and the Louis-Conn bout today announced that four top-flight American boxers—Gus Lesvenich, Tami Maurello, Joe Baksi and Arturo Godoy — would be matched to fight British ringmen in London this fall and winter.

Solomons also held forth the promise of a world heavyweight championship bout between Joe Louis and Bruce Woodstock, British titleholder, "In London, probably next year." He added that "there is a good chance of Billy Conn coming to England before Christmas,"

(Conn, knocked out by Louis in the eighth round at New York on April 19, announced that he was quitting the ring. The move was approved by his manager, Johnny Ray.)

Bob Gets Hawaiian Offer

Cleveland, June 27 (AP)—Bob Feller, Cleveland Indians' strikeout king of the major league, said today he probably would pitch for a Honolulu semi-pro all-star team in a five-game exhibition series against a squad of Negro American League stars at Hawaii in October.

"I have had an offer from the promoters of the series and we are negotiating on the financial arrangements and dates of the games," said Feller. "It looks like we will be able to get together on terms and I probably will pitch in the post-season series."

Wants To Guard Louis

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP) — Gunnery Sergeant Arvin L. Ghazlo, United States Marine Corps, applied for a job today as bodyguard for Joe Louis.

Ghazlo claims to be the only negro who passed the marine corps' hand-to-hand combat instructors' course. He is stationed at Cherry Point, N. C., in the military police detachment.

Outlining his qualifications to be protector of the world's heavyweight champion, Ghazlo sent to Louis, through the National Boxing Association, a stack of recommendations from generals down. They vouch for the sergeant's ability as an exponent in judo, ju jitsu and other advanced forms of physical rough stuff.

Steelers Sign Trainer

PITTSBURGH, June 27 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League today announced signing of Dr. Raymond E. Sweeney of Wolloston, Mass. as the team's trainer. Dr. Sweeney was trainer for the Brooklyn Dodgers under Coach Jock Sutherland, now with the Steelers.

Geneva Appoints West

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., June 27 (AP) —Walter West, former Pitt quarterback, today was named assistant to A. C. (Slim) Ranson, all-sports coach at Geneva college. West will serve as grid backfield coach and aid in the physical education and intramural programs. He succeeds Frank (Tiger) Walton, who resigned to become an assistant coach at Colgate university.

Muller Succeeds Ferrell

LYNCHBURG, Va., June 27 (AP)—Emmett Heinie Mueller, former star infielder of the Philadelphia Phillies and now a member of the Houston club in the Texas league, has been named manager of the Piedmont league's Lynchburg Cardinals to succeed Wesley Ferrell, whose resignation was accepted yesterday.

Mueller starred with Houston in 1935-36-37 before moving to Philadelphia where he played four years with the Phillies before going off to war. He started the season with Shreveport of the Texas league but got his release and returned to Houston where he has been playing regularly at second base.

"Double" Pays $1,390.85

HAMILTON, Ont., June 27 (AP)—The biggest daily double of the Ontario racing season was racked up today when the combination of Larry B. and Mountain Flash in the first and second races paid off with $1,390.85 for a $2 ticket. Five persons held the winning combination.

GHEZZI IS LEADER IN CANADIAN OPEN

MONTREAL, June 27 (AP)— Big Vic Ghezzi, playing out of Knoxville, Tenn., set a new competitive record for the Beaconsfield Golf Club course today as he shot a fine 66, six under par, to take the lead in the first round of the $10,000 Canadian Open Golf Championship.

Playing in a stellar threesome with Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, the United States titleholder, and Stan Leonard of Vancover, B. C., Ghezzi went out in 33, three under standard figures, and matched that performance coming home to gain a two-stroke margin over his closest rivals.

Deadlocked in a three-way tie for second place were three other members of the United States brigade which was expected to dominate the competition in the race for the title won last year by Bryon Nelson, who is not defending. They were amateur Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., and professionals E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Little Rock, Ark., and Ed Furgol of Pontiac, Mich.

Johnson Is Unconscious For Thirty-first Day

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—Walter Johnson, famous oldtime pitcher of the Washington Senators, remained unconscious today for the thirty-first consecutive day.

Johnson, known as baseball's "Big Train," sank into a coma May 28 in a Georgetown hospital and has remained in that condition except for a few brief rallies when he recognized members of his family. He is suffering from a brain tumor.

Tom Brown Upsets Segura in British Tennis Tournament

Californian Is Victor in Four-Set Match at Wimbledon

By BILL MACKLIN

WIMBLEDON, June 27 (AP)—Tom Brown of San Francisco, 23-year-old former mortar gunner in the Battle of Germany, blasted highly favored Pancho Segura of Ecuador off the court in four sets today to supply the All-England tennis championships with their first major upset.

The lanky American, holder of the Pacific Coast singles and doubles titles, came back behind a powerful backhand and blinding service to win the third round match, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3, 6-3, after the fourth-seeded Segura had taken the first set confidently.

Brown's surprising victory over the little South American who holds the United States indoor title and who defeated Australia's highly touted Dinny Pails in the Queen's Club final last week, highlighted an otherwise calm day during which the seven other seeded men stars, including America's Jack Kramer, progressed safely into the fourth round.

Segura Defeat Surprises

Brown's fine backhand and his scorching service began to tell in the third set on Segura, who had confidently predicted he would reach the final of his first Wimbledon event. With Pancho leading two games to one in that set, the tall Californian's backhand began pounding at the corners and he raced into a 4-2 lead.

Segura, swinging desperately with his unorthodox two-handed stroke, rallied at that point to win one game, but his cause became hopeless as Brown slashed through seven straight games to win the set and pile up a big lead in the final.

Two other Californians, Kramer and Budge Patty of Los Angeles, accompanied Brown into the round of 16. Kramer, seeded No. 2 behind Pails, scored the day's easiest victory over Ignace Tolczynski of Poland, 6-1, 6-0, 6-0. Patty adopted a cautious baseline game in eliminating Paul Geelhand of Belgium, 6-8, 6-1, 6-3, 6-4.

The lone American casualty was Bill Robertson of Hollywood, who lost a tough one to J. Sanglier of France, 7-5, 6-2, 4-6, 1-6, 7-5. Pails, seeded No. 1, won handily from D. W. Butler of Britain, 6-1, 6-4, 6-2.

Louise Brough and Margaret Osborne, America's top seeded women's doubles combination, opened their bid for the Wimbledon crown with an easy 6-2, 6-0 win over Mrs. R. E. Haylock and Mrs. H. S. Uber of Britain.

Betz and Hart Win

Pauline Betz and Doris Hart, the second seeded pair, were given a much sterner fight before they ousted Joan Ingram, former British Wightman cup player, and Jean Quertier, 7-5, 6-4.

Will Expand Plant

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 27 (AP)—Plans for a huge expansion program at Churchill Downs were announced today by Col. Matt J. Winn, Downs president, who said work could be started immediately on the racing plant if approved by federal authorities.

The plans include an immense underground pavilion with terraces on top of it and would increase the facilities to a point where 150,000 people could be accommodated for horse racing.

Dahlberg Sets Pace

PRINCETON, N. J., June 27 (AP)— High "Blackie" Dahlberg, a first-year college golfer who was piloting a navy plane a year ago, outplayed a half dozen other former service men today to lead the way through the first round of the 49th annual National Collegiate A. A. Golf tournament.

The Texan, fired a sizzling 33-36—69, three under par for the 6347-yard Springdale course, to take a two-stroke lead over his field at the end of 18 holes of the 72-hole medal play tournament.

BACK TO BASEBALL FOR HIM

WALTER (RABBIT) MARANVILLE, one of the immortals of the baseball world, has punched his time clock at a Detroit motor company for the last time — he's gone back to baseball. Maranville, long a star shortstop with the Boston Braves, is coach and clinic director for a junior baseball program. He will work with boys 14 to 17 years old and in the winter months will make a tour.

DeWitt Coulter, Army Grid Star, Signed by Giants

Friends Report Tackle Will Receive $19,000 with $2,500 Bonus

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP) — The New York Giants of the National Football League received DeWitt Coulter's signed contract today. In an accompanying letter, the All-America tackle an Army's undefeated eleven last fall said he expected to visit New York early next month to find an apartment and to make arrangements to study commercial art.

Club officials would not divulge the terms of the contract although Coulter's friends in Texas said yesterday he signed for a salary of $19,000 with a $2,500 bonus.

Will Fight in London

LONDON, June 27 (AP)—Promoter Jack Solomens arrived home from the United States and the Louis-Conn bout today announced that four top-flight American boxers—Gus Lesvenich, Tami Maurello, Joe Baksi and Arturo Godoy — would be matched to fight British ringmen in London this fall and winter.

Solomons also held forth the promise of a world heavyweight championship bout between Joe Louis and Bruce Woodstock, British titleholder, "In London, probably next year." He added that "there is a good chance of Billy Conn coming to England before Christmas."

(Conn, knocked out by Louis in the eighth round at New York on April 19, announced that he was quitting the ring. The move was approved by his manager, Johnny Ray.)

Bob Gets Hawaiian Offer

Cleveland, June 27 (AP)—Bob Feller, Cleveland Indians' strikeout king of the major league, said today he probably would pitch for a Honolulu semi-pro all-star team in a five-game exhibition series against a squad of Negro American League stars at Hawaii in October.

"I have had an offer from the promoters of the series and we are negotiating on the financial arrangements and dates of the games," said Feller. "It looks like we will be able to get together on terms and I probably will pitch in the post-season series."

Wants To Guard Louis

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP) — Gunnery Sergeant Arvin L. Ghazlo, United States Marine Corps, applied for a job today as bodyguard for Joe Louis.

Ghazlo claims to be the only negro who passed the marine corps' hand-to-hand combat instructors' course. He is stationed at Cherry Point, N. C., in the military police detachment.

Outlining his qualifications to be protector of the world's heavyweight champion, Ghazlo sent to Louis, through the National Boxing Association, a stack of recommendations from generals down. They vouch for the sergeant's ability as an exponent in judo, ju jitsu and other advanced forms of physical rough stuff.

Steelers Sign Trainer

PITTSBURGH, June 27 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League today announced signing of Dr. Raymond E. Sweeney of Wolloston, Mass. as the team's trainer. Dr. Sweeney was trainer for the Brooklyn Dodgers under Coach Jock Sutherland, now with the Steelers.

Geneva Appoints West

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., June 27 (AP) —Walter West, former Pitt quarterback, today was named assistant to A. C. (Slim) Ranson, all-sports coach at Geneva college. West will serve as grid backfield coach and aid in the physical education and intramural programs. He succeeds Frank (Tiger) Walton, who resigned to become an assistant coach at Colgate university.

Muller Succeeds Ferrell

LYNCHBURG, Va., June 27 (AP)—Emmett Heinie Mueller, former star infielder of the Philadelphia Phillies and now a member of the Houston club in the Texas league, has been named manager of the Piedmont league's Lynchburg Cardinals to succeed Wesley Ferrell, whose resignation was accepted yesterday.

Mueller starred with Houston in 1935-36-37 before moving to Philadelphia where he played four years with the Phillies before going off to war. He started the season with Shreveport of the Texas league but got his release and returned to Houston where he has been playing regularly at second base.

"Double" Pays $1,390.85

HAMILTON, Ont., June 27 (AP)—The biggest daily double of the Ontario racing season was racked up today when the combination of Larry B. and Mountain Flash in the first and second races paid off with $1,390.85 for a $2 ticket. Five persons held the winning combination.

GHEZZI IS LEADER IN CANADIAN OPEN

MONTREAL, June 27 (AP)— Big Vic Ghezzi, playing out of Knoxville, Tenn., set a new competitive record for the Beaconsfield Golf Club course today as he shot a fine 66, six under par, to take the lead in the first round of the $10,000 Canadian Open Golf Championship.

Playing in a stellar threesome with Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, the United States titleholder, and Stan Leonard of Vancover, B. C., Ghezzi went out in 33, three under standard figures, and matched that performance coming home to gain a two-stroke margin over his closest rivals.

Deadlocked in a three-way tie for second place were three other members of the United States brigade which was expected to dominate the competition in the race for the title won last year by Bryon Nelson, who is not defending. They were amateur Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., and professionals E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Little Rock, Ark., and Ed Furgol of Pontiac, Mich.

Johnson Is Unconscious For Thirty-first Day

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—Walter Johnson, famous oldtime pitcher of the Washington Senators, remained unconscious today for the thirty-first consecutive day.

Johnson, known as baseball's "Big Train," sank into a coma May 28 in a Georgetown hospital and has remained in that condition except for a few brief rallies when he recognized members of his family. He is suffering from a brain tumor.

Tom Brown Upsets Segura in British Tennis Tournament

Californian Is Victor in Four-Set Match at Wimbledon

By BILL MACKLIN

WIMBLEDON, June 27 (AP)—Tom Brown of San Francisco, 23-year-old former mortar gunner in the Battle of Germany, blasted highly favored Pancho Segura of Ecuador off the court in four sets today to supply the All-England tennis championships with their first major upset.

The lanky American, holder of the Pacific Coast singles and doubles titles, came back behind a powerful backhand and blinding service to win the third round match, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3, 6-3, after the fourth-seeded Segura had taken the first set confidently.

Brown's surprising victory over the little South American who holds the United States indoor title and who defeated Australia's highly touted Dinny Pails in the Queen's Club final last week, highlighted an otherwise calm day during which the seven other seeded men stars, including America's Jack Kramer, progressed safely into the fourth round.

Segura Defeat Surprises

Brown's fine backhand and his scorching service began to tell in the third set on Segura, who had confidently predicted he would reach the final of his first Wimbledon event. With Pancho leading two games to one in that set, the tall Californian's backhand began pounding at the corners and he raced into a 4-2 lead.

Segura, swinging desperately with his unorthodox two-handed stroke, rallied at that point to win one game, but his cause became hopeless as Brown slashed through seven straight games to win the set and pile up a big lead in the final.

Two other Californians, Kramer and Budge Patty of Los Angeles, accompanied Brown into the round of 16. Kramer, seeded No. 2 behind Pails, scored the day's easiest victory over Ignace Tolczynski of Poland, 6-1, 6-0, 6-0. Patty adopted a cautious baseline game in eliminating Paul Geelhand of Belgium, 6-8, 6-1, 6-3, 6-4.

The lone American casualty was Bill Robertson of Hollywood, who lost a tough one to J. Sanglier of France, 7-5, 6-2, 4-6, 1-6, 7-5. Pails, seeded No. 1, won handily from D. W. Butler of Britain, 6-1, 6-4, 6-2.

Louise Brough and Margaret Osborne, America's top seeded women's doubles combination, opened their bid for the Wimbledon crown with an easy 6-2, 6-0 win over Mrs. R. E. Haylock and Mrs. H. S. Uber of Britain.

Betz and Hart Win

Pauline Betz and Doris Hart, the second seeded pair, were given a much sterner fight before they ousted Joan Ingram, former British Wightman cup player, and Jean Quertier, 7-5, 6-4.

Will Expand Plant

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 27 (AP)—Plans for a huge expansion program at Churchill Downs were announced today by Col. Matt J. Winn, Downs president, who said work could be started immediately on the racing plant if approved by federal authorities.

The plans include an immense underground pavilion with terraces on top of it and would increase the facilities to a point where 150,000 people could be accommodated for horse racing.

Dahlberg Sets Pace

PRINCETON, N. J., June 27 (AP)—High "Blackie" Dahlberg, a first-year college golfer who was piloting a navy plane a year ago, outplayed a half dozen other former service men today to lead the way through the first round of the 49th annual National Collegiate A. A. Golf tournament.

The Texan, fired a sizzling 33-36—69, three under par for the 6347-yard Springdale course, to take a two-stroke lead over his field at the end of 18 holes of the 72-hole medal play tournament.

BACK TO BASEBALL FOR HIM

WALTER (RABBIT) MARANVILLE, one of the immortals of the baseball world, has punched his time clock at a Detroit motor company for the last time — he's gone back to baseball. Maranville, long a star shortstop with the Boston Braves, is coach and clinic director for a junior baseball program. He will work with boys 14 to 17 years old and in the winter months will make a tour.

More Atom Bomb Broadcasts Are Scheduled Today

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, June 27—Previewing the atom bomb tests at Bikini increases as the anticipated zero hour, scheduled for Sunday, approaches. Several broadcasts are listed for Friday, to include pickups from the test area in the Pacific.

At 4 p. m. CBS is to have the last of a series that has continued since Monday, while ABC will devote its 6 o'clock broadcast to the bomb. Likewise Meet the Press on MBS at 9:30. Up for interview in this one is to be Herbert Bayard Swope.

Some more CBS programs are passing a long their goodbyes for the summer, Kate Smith at 7:30 to be off until fall and both Lanny Ross at 6 and Jack Smith at 6:15 to vacate for seven weeks.

The ABC at 9 has a scheduled championship fight in the lightweight division, that is as far as the New York State Boxing Commission is concerned. The principals, Bob Montgomery and Aflie Stolz.

"Jane Ayre," the drama that probably gets more network airings than almost any other play, is up for another Friday night on CBS at 9. It will come in Orson Welles's summer theater, with Alice Frost cooperating. . . . Later on at 9:30 on NBC Welles is to go back on the air for a Bill Stern style brief interview . . . Also guesting is Bob Feller, who pitches for the Cleveland Indians. He'll visit Jack Armstrong on ABC at 4:30, with a repeat at 5:30 . . . Jim Ameche, who acts plenty on the radio, is billed for Mystery Theater of NBC at 9 The Play is "In the Balance."

Argentine Plan Is Perilous to Penguins

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Life gets harder and harder for a penguin. The Argentine Fish Commission has asked for bids on a concession to kill 140,000 penguins in Argentina's southern islands near the South pole. The penguins' fat will make soap, their skins will make gloves and their feathers will decorate ladies' hats.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my beloved husband, Urias M. Brown, who passed away one year ago, June 27, 1945.

More and more each day I miss him,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow,
Lies within my heart concealed.

Sadly missed by his wife,
MARY A. BROWN.

Everett Man Is Fatally Injured

BEDFORD, Pa., June 27 — Ross Christopher Felton, 40, of Everett, a truck driver on a coal-stripping job near Six Mile Run, Bedford county, was injured fatally yesterday afternoon when he was struck by a truck from the same operation.

Coroner Vernon Geisel of Bedford county, said the accident occurred at 3:30 p. m. and Felton died at 4:30 p. m. while being rushed by ambulance to Everett Hospital. Ambulance attendants said the man died just as the vehicle reached the outskirts of Everett.

The coroner listed Raymond F Long of Ft. Littleton as the driver of a loaded coal truck which struck and fatally injured Felton. State Police from Bedford substation released Long on his own recognizance pending the outcome of a coroner's inquest.

According to information obtained by authorities, Felton was driving a loaded coal truck up a hill near the stripping operations in the Broad Top section when motor trouble developed. He drifted the truck to the foot of the hill and parked it on the right hand side of the road and started to work on the motor.

A few minutes later the truck operated by Long approached from the rear and an empty truck driven by Frank Stephens, of Six Mile Run, appeared on the brow of the hill. When Long, it was said, saw he was unable to pass the stalled truck on the left side he swerved and started to pass on the right side, with both wheels of his truck on the berm of the road.

Long told police and Coroner Geisel that he did not see Felton, who was bending over the motor of the stalled truck, until his vehicle crashed into him.

All three truck drivers were employed by the H. B. Meliott Coal Company, which operates a coal-stripping operation in the mountain, near the Bedford-Fulton County line.

Capon Farm Women Meet

The Capon farm women met with Mrs. C. O. Doyle at Wardensville, Thursday. Mrs. George Walters led the lesson.

The ladies appreciated the fact that the Gipsy carnival which had been held had been such a success, due to the assistance of so many people.

Dress Exhibit Planned

A special work dress exhibit under the auspices of the Hardy County Home Demonstration agent's office will be on display at the Coffman-Fisher store Saturday afternoon, June 29, from 1 until 5. Miss Alice Goodell, home demonstration agent, stated that the public was cordially invited to come in and inspect the dresses.

The dresses have been designed especially for comfort and service by the clothing specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. A feature of the exhibit will be a coverall with oversize pockets.

Draft Board Hours Announced

Miss Rosemary Crawford, secretary of the Hardy County Selective Service board, announces that the office will be open each morning during the week from 8:30 until noon.

Miss Crawford, St. Albans, W. Va., is also serving as secretary of the Grant County Selective Service board and that office is open each afternoon. Miss Crawford is making her home in Petersburg.

Makes Conservation Report

I. R. Grover, secretary of the Hardy County Agricultural Conservation program, reports a summary of the extent of the practices and work performed in the county during the 1945 farm year. The following figures show the extent of practices completed and the total value of each practice. A total of 510 farmers used 10,870 tons of lime valued at $34,786. 352 farmers used 14,906 pounds of super phosphate valued at $13,071. Five farmers seeded 63.9 acres of winter legumes and received $191.70. Five farmers seeded 35 acres of rye grass and received $70. Thirty farmers had 286 acres of small grain cover and received $429.75. One farmer had 38 acres of strip cropping and received $28.50. Five farmers had diversion ditches totaling 2,681 cubic yards and received $214. A total of 47 farmers mowed 1,138 acres of pasture and received $569. Ninety-seven farmers harvested 902 acres of red clover and received $3,159, and twenty-two farmers sold 17,981 pounds of cleaned seed and received $629.

The total benefits received amounted to $53,156.46 which was divided among 630 farmers.

A total of $23,375 was paid to dairymen who sold milk or butterfat between the period of January 1 to December 31. About 250 farmers participated.

Beef production payments totaled $9,031 for 1,510 head of cattle raised by Hardy county farmers during the period from May 19, 1945 to May 3, 1946.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my beloved husband, Urias M. Brown, who passed away one year ago, June 27, 1945.

More and more each day I miss him,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow,
Lies within my heart concealed.

MARY A. BROWN.

Everett Man Is Fatally Injured

BEDFORD, Pa., June 27 — Ross Christopher Felton, 40, of Everett, a truck driver on a coal-stripping job near Six Mile Run, Bedford county, was injured fatally yesterday afternoon when he was struck by a truck from the same operation.

Coroner Vernon Geisel of Bedford county, said the accident occurred at 3:30 p. m. and Felton died at 4:30 p. m. while being rushed by ambulance to Everett Hospital. Ambulance attendants said the man died just as the vehicle reached the outskirts of Everett.

The coroner listed Raymond F Long of Ft. Littleton as the driver of a loaded coal truck which struck and fatally injured Felton. State Police from Bedford substation released Long on his own recognizance pending the outcome of a coroner's inquest.

According to information obtained by authorities, Felton was driving a loaded coal truck up a hill near the stripping operations in the Broad Top section when motor trouble developed. He drifted the truck to the foot of the hill and parked it on the right hand side of the road and started to work on the motor.

A few minutes later the truck operated by Long approached from the rear and an empty truck driven by Frank Stephens, of Six Mile Run, appeared on the brow of the hill. When Long, it was said, saw he was unable to pass the stalled truck on the left side he swerved and started to pass on the right side, with both wheels of his truck on the berm of the road.

Long told police and Coroner Geisel that he did not see Felton, who was bending over the motor of the stalled truck, until his vehicle crashed into him.

All three truck drivers were employed by the H. B. Mellott Coal Company, which operates a coal-stripping operation in the mountain, near the Bedford-Fulton County line.

Capon Farm Women Meet

The Capon farm women met with Mrs. C. O. Doyle at Wardensville, Thursday. Mrs. George Walters led the lesson.

The ladies appreciated the fact that the Gipsy carnival which had been held had been such a success, due to the assistance of so many people.

Dress Exhibit Planned

A special work dress exhibit under the auspices of the Hardy County Home Demonstration agent's office will be on display at the Coffman-Fisher store Saturday afternoon, June 29, from 1 until 5. Miss Alice Goodell, home demonstration agent, stated that the public was cordially invited to come in and inspect the dresses.

The dresses have been designed especially for comfort and service by the clothing specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. A feature of the exhibit will be a coverall with oversize pockets.

Draft Board Hours Announced

Miss Rosemary Crawford, secretary of the Hardy County Selective Service board, announces that the office will be open each morning during the week from 8:30 until noon.

Miss Crawford, St. Albans, W. Va., is also serving as secretary of the Grant County Selective Service board and that office is open each afternoon. Miss Crawford is making her home in Petersburg.

Makes Conservation Report

I. R. Grover, secretary of the Hardy County Agricultural Conservation program, reports a summary of the extent of the practices and work performed in the county during the 1945 farm year. The following figures show the extent of practices completed and the total value of each practice. A total of 510 farmers used 10,870 tons of lime valued at $34,786. 352 farmers used 14,906 pounds of super phosphate valued at $13,071. Five farmers seeded 63.9 acres of winter legumes and received $191.70. Five farmers seeded 35 acres of rye grass and received $70. Thirty farmers had 286 acres of small grain cover and received $429.75. One farmer had 38 acres of strip cropping and received $28.50. Five farmers had diversion ditches totaling 2,681 cubic yards and received $214. A total of 47 farmers mowed 1,138 acres of pasture and received $569. Ninety-seven farmers harvested 902 acres of red clover and received $3,159, and twenty-two farmers sold 17,981 pounds of cleaned seed and received $629.

The total benefits received amounted to $53,156.46 which was divided among 630 farmers.

A total of $23,375 was paid to dairymen who sold milk or butterfat between the period of January 1 to December 31. About 250 farmers participated.

Beef production payments totaled $9,031 for 1,510 head of cattle raised by Hardy county farmers during the period from May 19, 1945 to May 3, 1946.

Lamb production payments totaled $26,234 for the period from August

Holmes Wins Out For Third Place In Board Race By Slim Margin

Error of 104 Votes in Precinct 10-2 Assures Lonaconing Man of Nomination

Discovery of a sizeable error in his home precinct of 10-2, Lonaconing, last night assured County Commissioner James Holmes of nomination as the third man on the Republican ticket for commsisioner, the board of election supervisors announced.

While it had been announced earlier that the official count of five unreported precincts had apparently assured Commissioner Simeon W. Green of the nomination, the official canvass completed on the commissioner ticket late last night showed that Holmes had been renominated by the narrow margin of 41 votes.

Patrick F. King, clerk to the board of election supervisors, said that the canvass showed that Holmes received a total of 233 votes in Precinct 10-2, instead of 104 as was originally reported.

This increase of 129 votes in the Lonaconing precinct was more than enough to offset Green's margin. The final count was Holmes 3,627; Green 3,586.

Green picked up 201 votes in the five unreported precincts of 4-1 (AJ); 6-2 (KZ); 13-2; 14-1; 23-3, compared to 184 for Holmes.

Stewart Nominated

The board also announced that A. Charles Stewart, Frostburg, appeared to be the winner for the nomination of register of wills over David M. Steele.

With the return from 70 precincts in, Steele had 2,187 votes and Stewart 2,388. The five previously missing gave Steele 183 and Stewart 125 —giving Stewart a lead of 143.

Final returns in the contest for nomination to House of Delegates showed that John T. Fey, former marine and Cumberland attorney, had moved into second place. There were no other significant changes in the first six places.

Noel Speir Cook, 4,858; Fey, 4,403; Delegate Charles M. See, 4,370; Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., 3,778; Delegate Lester B. Reed, 3,749; William H. Geppert, 3,479.

Seventh man on the ticket who lost in his race to be renominated was Delegate Jonathan Sleeman who polled 3,110 votes followed by Delegate Lulu Boucher with 2,842 votes.

Canvass Not Completed

Clerk King said last night that the board would be unable to complete the official canvass of the Republican and Democrat totals until sometime today due to the unusually big ticket.

King said that only four absentee ballots were received by the board for the primary. Eight absentee ballots were mailed out but since that time several of the applicants were discharged from the service, failed to receive their ballots, and turned up at their usual polling places to vote on Monday.

Court Takes Wife's Maintenance Suit Under Advisement

Mrs. Goldie Maloney's petition for separate maintenance which was contested by her husband, Thomas A. Maloney, was taken under advisement yesterday in circuit court following a hearing.

Mrs. Maloney, represented by Edward J. Ryan, charged her husband with desertion. She said they were married in 1941 and separated in 1945. One child, Thomas, aged 3, was born of the marriage.

In a cross bill filed by F. Brooke Whiting, Maloney denied that he and his wife had lived together until 1945 and said his wife had a habit of coming home late at night. He also charged that his wife referred to the home he provided for her as a "dump" and also objected to living in "the country" when he got a place on Hazen road.

The court previously had granted the wife $20 a week separate maintenance pending the outcome of the suit.

Walter Lester Engle, Sr., Eckhart, represented by William A. Gunter, yesterday filed suit for an absolute divorce from Mrs. Alice Anne Engle. They were married in 1927 and separated in 1941. Three children are in the custody of the respondent. Engle said he previously arranged to pay $65 a month to his wife.

Mrs. Mary L. Winebrenner, represented by Noel Spier Cook, yesterday filed suit for an absolute divorce from Henry E. Winebrenner. They were married in 1923 and separated in 1943. Abandonment and desertion is charged.

Peddlers' License Fees Will Be Increased

The city council decided at a conference yesterday to modify the ordinance governing fees charged peddlers coming here to sell produce from large trucks, according to Mayor Thomas S. Post.

William L. Wilson, Jr., local attorney, presented a petition to the council Monday urging action and suggesting that fees of $3 a day and $30 a year be raised to $25 a day and $500 a year. Mayor Post indicated the new fees will not be as large as those suggested by the attorney.

Mayor Post also said it was decided to inform Dr. Harold A. Malin, who requested that special parking space be provided chiropractors near their offices, that the council cannot grant his request unless the ordinance governing such matters is changed, and that such action is not deemed advisable at this time because the entire parking and traffic problem is being reviewed.

Conlon Urges Vets To Keep Insurance

Speaking as the local Maryland Veterans' Commission officer and also as a local insurance man, Thomas F. Conlon yesterday urged all veterans to retain their GI insurance policies.

Conlon said "government insurance, available to servicemen and veterans, is the best investment a veteran can make, and only as the veteran becomes older will he realize this fact."

Conlon, a veteran of World War I, says that some veterans are permitting their GI insurance to lapse, and later when they decide it is a good deal after all, they may not be able to pass physical requirements.

He also explained that "it should be a known fact that only the United States government is responsible for the life insurance a veteran was able to carry while in the service, and when it is converted to any of three possible forms, only the government backs up the insurance. No commercial or civilian company is involved."

Air Show May Be Held at Airport Here August 4

Cumberland Airways Announces Plans To Open Restaurant

Announcement of an air show tentatively scheduled to be held at the Cumberland Municipal Airport Sunday, August 4, was made at a brief meeting of the municipal airport commission yesterday evening in the office of Mayor Thomas S. Post.

Mention was also made of the fact that Cumberland Airways, Incorporated, the West Virginia corporation which is operating the port on a lease from the city, plans to open a restaurant at the airport as soon as a building can be erected for that purpose.

Charles F. Heller, airport foreman, notified the commission that the tractor and power mower ordered for the port have not yet been delivered. He added that he has hired a farmer to cut grass at the airport.

Replies of various airport officials to letters sent to them last month by Thomas Lohr Richards, commission member, regarding the operation of restaurant concessions at airports, were tabled pending the next regular meeting of the commission, which will be held in September.

Each of the six letters stressed the fact that proper management of such restaurants is important, and all but one stated that sale of liquor was banned. The letters described management of restaurants at LaGuardia airport, N. Y.; Washington National Airport; Lockheed air terminal, Burbank, Calif., Benedum airport, Clarksburg, W. Va.; Elkins, W. Va., Municipal Airport; Allegheny County Municipal Airport, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Cleveland Municipal Airport, and Mayes field, Huntington, W. Va.

It was stated at the meeting that Charles B. Donaldson, director of airports of the Civil Aeronautics Administration, visited Cumberland Monday and asserted that conditions are favorable for completing the No. 5 runway at the airport.

TWA Interest Expressed

Assurance of the interest of Transcontinental and Western Airlines in serving Cumberland was given recently by two TWA officials following a conference here with Charles Z. Heskett, city attorney and a member of the municipal airport commission. TWA's application for serving Cumberland has received a favorable recommendation from a hearing examiner.

The officials, Gene Perkins, Kansas City, national director of public relations and expansion, and William Q. Nugent, New York, eastern regional director, expressed regret that any misunderstanding resulted from a meeting here about a year ago, when TWA representatives stated that DC-3 equipment could not be used at the airport in its present condition.

Perkins and Nugent said the research department is trying to determine the type of equipment which could be used here and at other places where topography conditions offer difficulties.

Macaroni Strike Solution May Be Reached Today

Holden Will Seek To Avert Threatened Bakery Strike

Efforts will be made at meetings scheduled today and tomorrow to reach a settlement on the strike which halted production at the Cumberland Macaroni Company June 6 and to prevent a threatened walkout of employes of Cumberland and Westernport bakeries over the weekend.

Commissioner James A. Holden, of the conciliation service, who has assisted in the settlement of practically all the major labor disputes in this city in recent years, will be here today and tomorrow to seek solutions to the wage disputes.

Holden will also check on contract disputes which led to strikes at the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Works Monday and the Wolfe Furniture Company store Tuesday.

The negotiating committee of Local 1132, Macaroni Workers Union, CIO, will meet officials of the Cumberland Macaroni Company at the company offices this morning at 10 o'clock.

Holden, who will attend the meeting in an effort to reach a solution of the wage dispute, said last evening he believes a solution can be worked out.

Want Reopening Clause

J. L. McDermott, president, said the union reduced its demands and that the company offered three and later five cents an hour but insisted on freezing wages for a year. The union, he added, insisted on a thirty-day reopening clause due to the possibility of an increase in the cost of living.

At a later meeting, the union official said, seven cents was offered, but the union still insisted on the thirty-day reopening.

McDermott said the union committee yesterday proposed a three months reopening clause so that the union can ask for an increase if the Bureau of Labor Statistics price-cost index rises ten points.

The union official said the company, at a meeting with Holden yesterday, agreed to consider the offer. If the company agrees, he added, the offer will be acted upon by the union membership this evening.

Bakery Meeting Set

Members of Local 246, Bakery and Confectionary Workers International Union, AFL, will meet with the management of three Cumberland and one Westernport bakery tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in Central YMCA to seek a settlement of the union's wage demands.

Harold M. Dixon, union secretary, said the union is hoping for a peaceful settlement of the dispute. The union, he said, seeks a 15 cent "across the board" hourly wage increase, retroactive to the time of the recent OPA price increase.

Five Births Reported In Local Hospitals

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Campbell, 211 West Second street, yesterday morning in Memorial hospital.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. David Foley, Springfield, W. Va., yesterday morning in Memorial hospital.

14,000 City Tax Bills Are Mailed

Approximately 14,000 city tax bills for 1946 were mailed to Cumberland residents yesterday afternoon, according to Charles F. Burke, Jr., city tax collector.

Burke said the bills are payable without interest on or before July 16. After that time they will revert to the date of the levy, May 16, and interest will be charged either on the basis of six per cent a year or one-half of one per cent each month.

Labor's Little Pink Card Picks Eight Out of Eleven Candidates

Most persons who go to the race tracks to see the ponies run and make a wee wager now and then, know they can buy a little pink card for a quarter, offering some alleged expert's selected winners.

But no little pink card probably offered more winners than the one distributed to voters going to polling places to vote on Monday. And this little card didn't cost a quarter. It was free, even though you didn't ask for it.

The Maryland Labor Unity Conference, through the authority of its political committee, submitted the little "voting form," as "Labor's Ticket," and urged the voters to support candidates listed because these particular candidates were believed "to be more acceptable to workers in general."

Labor indorsed, on the Democratic ticket, W. Preston Lane, Hagerstown, for governor; Dawson J. Horine, Myersville, for Congress; and Stephen L. Cesnick, Klondike, for Maryland House of Delegates. Lane was a winner. Horine was defeated and Cesnick was unopposed, so can be considered a winner.

On the Republican ticket, the Labor Unity Conference indorsed Theodore R. McKeldin, Baltimore, for governor, who won easily; George Henderson, this city, for judge of the fourth judicial circuit, who won over Judge Walter Capper; William H. Lemmert, Frostburg, and Charles N. Wilkinson, this city, both winners for county commissioner.

On the House of Delegates side on the Republican ticket Labor did better than average by making four selections from sixteen candidates, and picking two winners. Lester B. Reed, Mt. Savage and Charles M. See, this city, both had labor's endorsement, and both were nominated. Irvin A. Alexander, Lonaconing, and George Carter this city, were the two defeated candidates in this indorsement.

William Boyd Payton, vice president of the Maryland Labor Unity Conference, indicated last night that labor is pleased with the results, and believes it showed its strength at the polls by getting eight of eleven candidates indorsed on the November ballots. "Eight winners and three losers isn't a bad score," he said.

The Maryland Labor Unity Conference is composed of the Railroad Brotherhoods, American Federation of Labor, Independent unions and Congress of Industrial Organizations.

Bad Weather Forces Eighteen Navy Corsair Fighters To Land Here

Planes Are En Route to Cleveland for Air Show Tomorrow

Eighteen Corsair fighter planes and a Grumman Hellcate photo plane en route from Brunswick, Me., to the air show to be held in Cleveland, Saturday and Sunday, landed at the Cumberland Municipal Airport yesterday about 4:30 p. m. after they were forced back by a thunderstorm ten miles northwest of here.

The planes are part of a group of sixty-four fighter planes from four squadrons of Air Group 17, based at Brunswick, assigned to take part in the air show marking the 150th anniversary of Cleveland's founding.

Reunion Held

Sixteen pilots from each of the four squadrons took off from Brunswick at 10:30 a. m. yesterday and landed at Atlantic City, N. J., at 12:30 p. m. for refueling. The formation was en route to Pittsburgh when 16 of the planes from a fighter-bomber squadron were forced to land here. Two other Corsairs and the Grumman Hellcat, attached to another squadron, also landed here because of bad weather.

Charles E. "Chick" Brode, a Cumberland fighter pilot who served with the squadron in the Southwest Pacific theater, met several of his former squadmates yesterday evening. Brode is employed as a pressman by the Times and Alleganian Company.

The commanding officer of the fighter - bomber squadron, Lt. Comdr. E. S. Conant, San Diego, Calif., said that the planes will take off from the airport at 10 a. m. today, weather permitting, and will continue on to Pittsburgh, where they will stop for refueling. Lt. Comdr. Conant served with the Flying Tigers in China and Burma before joining the squadron in 1944 as executive officer.

Praises Chapman

The navy planes will make simulated carrier group attacks on floating oil drums and barges during the air show, firing rockets and machineguns and bombing the "targets." They are scheduled to make the return flight to Brunswick Monday.

The squadron has been reorganized twice since it first went into action in the Southwest Pacific. In 1944, when it was first reorganized, the squadron operated from the carrier Hornet, and took part in the first carrier plane strikes against the Tokyo area in February, 1945. Although most of the pilots then attached to the squadron are no longer serving with it, three-quarters of the fliers have had combat experience.

At present the squadron is waiting for completion next January of the giant new 1,000-foot carrier Coral Sea, to which it will be assigned.

FROSTBURG NATIVE GETS MILITARY AWARD FOR WORLD WAR I

J. Gilbert Winner, Washington, D. C., a native of Frostburg, has been presented the Meritorius Civilian Service award, second highest award given to civilians by the War department, by Col. C. J. Harrold, director of the Field Service division, office of the quartermaster general, the War department announced yesterday.

Lt. Col. Gordon W. Cook, deputy director of the remount branch, OQMC, read the citation, which follows:

"In recognition of meritorius performance of his duties and for outstanding achievments in originating and successfully carrying out plans for the operation of the remount branch, in devising and setting up a system of statistical records at the outbreak of World War I, which has since remained in operation, and for his valuable contribution in the preparation and publication of technical manuals. . . . "

Winner, born in October 1898, was educated in the graded schools and graduated from the high school at Frostburg, later going to Washington to take a course at Pace and Pace Business institute. He was appointed to the remount division August 2, 1917, and has continued with that branch of the office of the quartermaster general. He now holds the position of administrative assistant of the branch.

Craze Is Elected Local 1874 Trustee

Roy Craze, this city, a veteran of World War II, has been elected a member of the board of trustees of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, William B. Coleman, president of the union, announced yesterday.

Craze defeated Charles Smith, LaVale, in a special election held yesterday morning at the union hall. He will succeed Walter Wahl who resigned to accept a position with the Maryland State Police, Coleman said.

Coleman also announced the adoption of a schedule of meetings of the local during July, August and September. There will be no meetings on the first and second Wednesdays; a general committee meeting will be held on the third Wednesday and a general membership meeting on the fourth Wednesday. In the event there is a fifth Wednesday during the period, no meetings will be held, Coleman said.

Man Sentenced to Jail For Stealing Roast

Joseph Koelker, this city, was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail yesterday when he entered a plea of guilty in trial magistrates court to a charge of larceny.

Koelker was charged with entering the home of Mrs. Ruth Daniel last Thursday and taking a cooked roast, valued at $1.75 from the kitchen table. County Investigator Terrance J. Boyle and Detective Lt. B. Frank Gaffney preferred the charges.

Greek Girl Is Wounded While Serving as Spy

Courageous Agent Is Niece of John C. Liakos Here

John C. Liakos, 410 North Mechanic street, received word recently that his niece, Miss Machi Kyparissopoulou, who served with the American Information Service in Greece during the Nazi occupation, was badly wounded while persuading the German garrison in Agria, Greece, to desert.

The 21-year-old Grecian girl was appointed information agent in July, 1944, of the service which, with the active collaboration of the partisans of Elas, established an information service in several districts of Greece.

She was assigned to the district between Khania and the mountain of Pelion. Her knowledge of the French language enabled her to gain the confidence of the commander and other officers of the Nazi garrison. She regularly transmitted to the service any useful information she was able to glean from the Nazis.

In August of that year, she was transferred to the propaganda section and helped to distribute to members of the Nazi garrison Allied propaganda which might lead to the dissolution of the German army.

Is Warned of Danger

Some time later, after she succeeded in persuading most of the garrison to desert, the secret service warned her that her life was in danger since the Nazi commanders had begun to suspect her part in the desertions.

Fortunately, she was transferred to the Agria section late in September and soon managed to persuade nine of the German garrison to desert to the partisans. Six other members of the group, she told Liakos, were about to surrender when the German commander, suspecting her part in the mass desertions, learned of the place and time she was to meet the deserters and sent a patrol to arrest the spy and the soldiers.

The Nazi patrol ambushed the girl and deserters and fired into the group. Three of the deserters were killed and the others escaped to Pelion.

Girl Is Wounded

Although weak from the severe pain and loss of blood, the plucky girl managed to make her way to an isolated house in Agria and was later taken to the hospital in Volos, the town where Liakos was born.

In the letter, the Greek girl told Liakos she had not completely recovered although she had been in the hospital for nine months. She mentioned that the American Information Service left Greece after the liberation.

Liakos said that the above information is the first word he had received from the girl or her parents since before World War II began.

Early Rebuilding Of Bridge at Wiley Ford Is "Unlikely"

It is unlikely that the Wiley Ford bridge will be reconstructed for a number of years, unless some additional funds are made available for construction purposes, Robert Reindollar, chairman of the state roads commission, has advised Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer.

Reindollar said in his letter that the commission is preparing plans to cover repairs to the timber floor on the existing bridge, and that it is hoped to be able to award a contract so that the work can be acplished some time this fall.

"The reconstruction of the bridge deck will add nothing whatsoever to the carrying capacity of the bridge," Reindollar said. "However, we do believe that it will add materially to the comfort of those riding over the bridge; and we feel that this should be done in view of the fact that it is unlikely that the bridge will be reconstructed for a number of years."

Funds for such reconstruction, the chairman said, are not on hand at the present time.

Reindollar recalled that in February he informed Rizer that there were no funds available for reconstruction of the bridge.

The city engineer wrote to Reindollar earlier this month at the request of the municipal planning and zoning commission, to notify him of the dangerous condition of the bridge, built as a temporary structure ten years ago after the St. Patrick's day flood of 1936 washed out the former bridge.

Prior to the commission's request, Charles F. Heller, airport foreman, reported to the mayor and city council that the bridge "shakes to such an extent that it is liable to collapse at any moment" when heavy trucks cross. Heller's comment was made in his monthly report on airport work. He urged that steps be taken to secure a new bridge before a serious accident occurs.

Wastepaper Drive Hits 41 Ton Mark

Eight more tons of wastepaper were collected yesterday to boost to a total of 41 tons the amount collected in the first four days of the current campaign.

The drive will end today with the collection slated to cover all streets and avenues south of Oldtown road.

Beauty Shop Visit Offered as Factor In Michael Death

Husband Is Released from County Jail on Bond of $3,000

Nile Michael's petition for a writ of habeas corpus to gain his release from county jail where he is presently being detained on a charge of murdering his wife, took an unusual turn yesterday when Defense Attorney William M. Somerville told the court the victim's experience in a beauty parlor may well have been a contributing case in her death.

At yesterday's hearing where Michael was released under $3,000 bond pending action of the grand jury, it was brought out that Mrs. Irene Murphy Michael, the victim and the defendant's wife, went to a beauty parlor for a permanent wave after she had allegedly been kicked in the head by her husband. Mrs. Michael's death did not occur until four days after the alleged kicking which took place during a drinking party, defense counsel said.

Somerville expressed the notion that Mrs. Michael's death may well have been brought on by the fact that her head was placed in "one of those hot head pieces" in a beauty parlor.

Had Head Injury

At this point, Assistant State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher tartly stated, "Apparently we should indict the beauty parlor operator," whereupon Somerville indicated it would not be necessary to do that.

Explaining further, Somerville said that in view of the fact that Mrs. Michael already had a head injury when she went for the permanent wave, her being placed under the heat generated by the "head piece" could well have aggravated her injuries and been a contributing factor in her death.

Somerville, stated that he had known Michael who lives on Oldtown road since he was a boy and that in his opinion his IQ was such that an examination by a psychiatrist was in order.

"Drunken Brawl"

Noel Speir Cook, also a defense attorney, said that Michael and his wife had been drinking prior to the kicking and that while he was not excusing Michael, it was his opinion that a manslaughter charge would be preferable in this particular instance. Assistant State's Attorney Fletcher said the state would bring the murder charge but that "Mr. Cook was probably correct in mentioning manslaughter — it was a drunken brawl."

Fletcher also told the court the state has two witnesses who saw Michael kick his wife in the head.

Associate Judge Walter C. Capper said that in view of the fact that the state concedes manslaughter and that the defense will have their client examined, bail would be set at $3,000.

The court refused to lower this amount with Judge Capper stating, "There have been a number of killings in the county recently. There must be a good bond."

Theatregate Play Opening Postponed

Erica Donovan, director of Theatregate, announced yesterday that tonight's scheduled opening performance of "Ladies in Retirement" has been postponed until Tuesday, July 2, at the West Side school auditorium. Reason for the postponement is to insure a professionally smooth opening night performance, it was reported.

Some cast changes by Director Donovan include the assignment of Wallace Harper, ex-serviceman and former Allegany high school football star, to the role of the nephew about whom most of the action in the pay revolves.

Miss Donovan will also make her Cumberland acting debut in this play—now scheduled to be given July 2, 5, 9 and 12. Tickets purchased for tonight will be honored at any of the four performances.

Gets Service Emblem

Vincent J. Lindner, Cumberland, was presented a sapphire emblem in recognition of 30 years of service with the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone company at a recent luncheon in his honor at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. The luncheon was attended by a number of friends and associates.

Local Woman Dies Of Heart Attack

Funeral Rites Are Planned for Mrs. Anna C. Reynolds, 68

Funeral arrangements for Mrs. Anna C. Reynolds, 68, widow of James William Reynolds, Forty and Eight club steward, who was found dead in bed at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Roy C. Lottig, Woodlawn, LaVale, yesterday morning, will be conducted tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in St. Patrick's Catholic church. Interment will be on the church cemetery.

Mrs. Reynolds, who had been dividing her time between her Harrison street apartment and her daughter's home since the death of her husband May 31, was stricken by a heart attack sometime during the night.

She had been in good health in recent months and did not complain of any illness when she retired about 1 a. m.

Mrs. Reynolds's passing marks the fourth sudden death in her immediate family in recent years. A sis-

Three Vacancies At Post Office Arouse Conjecture

Resignations To Become Effective Sunday Are Not Yet Filled

There is considerable talk and conjecture at the post office and around town about the situation which has developed with the simultaneous resignations of James C. Shriver, postmaster, James Webster, assistant postmaster, and Maurice Robinette, superintendent of mails. The three resignations become effective June 30, and so far as is known here, have been accepted by the postal department as effective on that date.

Unless an appointment is made before Sunday midnight, which according to officials does not appear likely, a postal inspector or some other classified employe in the postal service here may be named as acting postmaster. However, an acting postmaster from outside the postal service can be designated until a postmaster can be properly named, it is claimed.

Several persons were mentioned yesterday as aspirants for the postmaster appointment here. A member of the Democratic state central committee indicated yesterday that four persons have definitely applied and other names have been mentioned.

Barnard Is Mentioned

Charles F. Burge, Jr., city tax collector and a member of the state central committee; Gordon Griffin, this city; James E. Niland, who has 23 years with the postal department, and C. William McDermott, have officially made application for the committee's indorsement.

Robert E. Barnard, local insurance man and former OPA official is also mentioned, and he has indicated his interest to several local residents.

Thomas Cumiskey, local postal inspector, was mentioned yesterday in a published list of possible aspirants to the job, but last night he said he is not, has not been and will not be an applicant.

It was indicated here yesterday that the procedure for appointing a postmaster may take some time. The Post Office department will advertise applications for the positions and blanks can be secured from the Post Office department or the Civil Service commission, third floor of the Post Office building. These blanks were not available yesterday, it was indicated.

Recommended by Committee

Of the applicants, the three highest candidates are selected and a recommendation then is made by the Democratic state central committee. The two Maryland Senators, Millard E. Tydings and George L. Radcliffe, will then make a recommendation to the president. The president then makes the appointment.

A communication received last week from the postal department, indicates that it is also possible to fill the vacancy from the classified personnel of the post office.

In any event, an acting postmaster must be named by the end of the week.

Small's Wage and Price Statement Coincides with New York Editorial

Coincident with a statement made by Fred T. Small, plant manager of the Amcelle plant, that the American people are "killing the goose that laid the golden egg" with their unrealistic fluid wage and controlled price policy, The New York Times commented editorially yesterday that "the myth that large wage increases could be granted without the need for price increases has been completely exploded by the events of the first half of 1946."

The Times stated that the most recent evidence of the inadequacy of this theory is found in the 91-cents-a-ton increase in the ceiling price of anthracite coal, authorized to compensate producers for the wage increases recently granted. Other instances quoted were:

Meat Prices Rise

Meat — An increase of 16 cents an hour was accompanied by price increases equivalent to more than two-thirds of the amount.

Railroads — An increase of 16 cents an hour, later made 18½ cents an hour, led to the recently approved three to six per cent rise in freight rates.

Automobiles — An 18½ cents an hour increase made necessary an increase of $16 to $60 a car for General Motors. In addition, a further rise of five per cent has been permitted in order to compensate for the higher costs of steel and other parts which in turn had been caused by higher wages.

"These instances are typical," the Times said in an article that expressed the same doubts regarding the administration's control program as Mr. Small. "Building materials, work, clothing, textiles, and many other products could be added to the list. The full impact of these wage increases has not yet been felt. This is particularly true concerning the price increases permitted for coal, steel and freight rates.

"Clearly workers cannot benefit from wage increases which necessitate price increases and hence limit the rise in real earning. The only fundamental basis for an expansion in real income is found in increased productivity. When wage increases are sharply in excess of those that can be paid out of production the inevitable result will be higher prices."

Increase Is Inevitable

Citing the local brewery strike as a specific instance of the economic contradiction of fluid wages and controlled prices, Mr. Small yesterday also cited the fact that it was

Man Is Charged With Attempting To Rape Local Office Worker

Cumberland Man Is Held at Hagerstown; Woman Is Patient in Washington County Hospital

A Cumberland man, said to be an ex-infantry lieutenant, was held in the Washington county jail at Hagerstown without bond last night on a charge of assault with intent to rape a Cumberland office worker, now a patient in the Washington county hospital, Hagerstown.

Sheriff John B. Huyett, of Washington county, arrested the man about noon yesterday at Fairview cabins, atop Fairview mountain near Clearspring, and last night identified him as Frank Sam Reid, 25, 3 Gay street.

Dr. Perry Prather, Hagerstown physician who examined her, said the "evidence points to the fact she was raped," but that he would not be able to tell definitely until he receives the results of laboratory tests, probably today.

Bruised about Face

Both the sheriff and the physician said Miss Mongold told them she was beaten by Reid and that she must have been raped while she was unconscious.

The doctor said Miss Mongold was bruised about the forehead, chin and shoulders, that one eye was bruised and that her upper lip was swollen. He added that her condition is good and that she probably will be discharged from the hospital today.

Sheriff Huyett related the story told to him by Miss Mongold and indicated that he put little credence in the story told him by Reid.

Reid, the sheriff said, stated that a group of three or four men attacked both him and Miss Mongold. Sheriff Huyett said Reid appeared to be unhurt except for scratches about his head and neck and that these marks apparently were inflicted by Miss Mongold as she resisted his attack.

Left Hagerstown

Sheriff Huyett said the couple left Cumberland about 5 p. m. Wednesday and drove to Hagerstown, arriving there about 10 p. m. They went to at least one restaurant there but left the city about midnight and started toward Cumberland, he added.

A short distance outside of Hagerstown, Reid stopped the car and beat her when she resisted his advanees, according to the sheriff, who said that Miss Mongold was knocked unconscious and removed from the car by Reid who left her lying along the road in a dazed condition.

Reid left the scene but later returned, picked up Miss Mongold and drove to Fairview cabins where the couple registered about 5 a. m. yesterday, the sheriff related.

Some hours later, Reid left the cabin, and the owner telephoned Sheriff Huyett to tell him of the woman's bruised condition. When the sheriff arrived, Reid had returned and was taken into custody, Huyett said. He added that Miss Mongold's dress was badly torn.

Pocketbook Missing

The sheriff reported that Miss Mongold's pocketbook containing about $50 in cash and about $15 in stamps are missing as well as her shoes. Reid, the sheriff said, changed his shirt and the one he had been wearing has not yet been found.

Sheriff Huyett also reported last night that Reid told Washington County Investigator Thomas Staubs that he intended to drive Miss Mongold back to Cumberland and tell her family she had been in an automobile accident.

The sheriff said he believes Reid has been separated from service and that he was wearing a blue shirt and service trousers when the alleged attack took place.

Reid will be given a preliminary hearing at 10:30 a. m. Monday before Magistrate Ross Fite at Hancock.

Dr. Prather said Miss Mongold admitted she had been drinking. It was believed that Reid also had been drinking, authorities said.

Appeal for Grocery Permit Is Filed

Glenn K. Davis, 1413 Bedford street, filed an appeal with the board of zoning appeals yesterday when his application for an occupancy permit to use the first story of a two-story brick building at 222 Davidson street as a grocery store was denied yesterday in the office of Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer.

The application stated that the premises, which have been vacant for about 18 months, were formerly used for the same purpose. The permit was denied on the ground that the building, owned by Mrs. C. N. Wilkinson, Sr., 343 Davidson street, is located in a Residential C zoning district.

James R. Nutter secured a permit to enclose a porch 8 by 20 feet at 517 Caroline street, at an estimated cost of $300. Work will be done by Lester Mullenax.

Holmes Wins Out For Third Place In Board Race By Slim Margin

Error of 104 Votes in Precinct 10-2 Assures Lonaconing Man of Nomination

Discovery of a sizeable error in his home precinct of 10-2, Lonaconing, last night assured County Commissioner James Holmes of nomination as the third man on the Republican ticket for commissioner, the board of election supervisors announced.

While it had been announced earlier that the official count of five unreported precincts had apparently assured Commissioner Simeon W. Green of the nomination, the official canvass completed on the commissioner ticket late last night showed that Holmes had been renominated by the narrow margin of 41 votes.

Patrick F. King, clerk to the board of election supervisors, said that the canvass showed that Holmes received a total of 233 votes in Precinct 10-2, instead of 104 as was originally reported.

This increase of 129 votes in the Lonaconing precinct was more than enough to offset Green's margin. The final count was Holmes 3,627; Green, 3,586.

Green picked up 201 votes in the five unreported precincts of 4-1 (AJ); 6-2 (KZ); 13-2; 14-1; 23-3, compared to 184 for Holmes.

Stewart Nominated

The board also announced that A. Charles Stewart, Frostburg, appeared to be the winner for the nomination of register of wills over David M. Steele.

With the return from 70 precincts in, Steele had 2,187 votes and Stewart 2,388. The five previously missing gave Steele 183 and Stewart 125—giving Stewart a lead of 143.

Final returns in the contest for nomination to House of Delegates showed that John T. Fey, former marine and Cumberland attorney, had moved into second place. There were no other significant changes in the first six places.

Noel Speir Cook, 4,858; Fey, 4,403; Delegate Charles M. See, 4,370; Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., 3,778; Delegate Lester B. Reed, 3,749; William H. Geppert, 3,479.

Seventh man on the ticket who lost in his race to be renominated was Delegate Jonathan Sleeman who polled 3,110 votes followed by Delegate Lulu Boucher with 2,842 votes.

Canvass Not Completed

Clerk King said last night that the board would be unable to complete the official canvass of the Republican and Democrat totals until sometime today due to the unusually big ticket.

King said that only four absentee ballots were received by the board for the primary. Eight absentee ballots were mailed out but since that time several of the applicants were discharged from the service, failed to receive their ballots, and turned up at their usual polling places to vote on Monday.

Court Takes Wife's Maintenance Suit Under Advisement

Mrs. Goldie Maloney's petition for separate maintenance which was contested by her husband, Thomas A. Maloney, was taken under advisement yesterday in circuit court following a hearing.

Mrs. Maloney, represented by Edward J. Ryan, charged her husband with desertion. She said they were married in 1941 and separated in 1945. One child, Thomas, aged 3, was born of the marriage.

In a cross bill filed by F. Brooke Whiting, Maloney denied that he and his wife had lived together until 1945 and said his wife had a habit of coming home late at night. He also charged that his wife referred to the home he provided for her as a "dump" and also objected to living in "the country" when he got a place on Hazen road.

The court previously had granted the wife $20 a week separate maintenance pending the outcome of the suit.

Walter Lester Engle, Sr., Eckhart, represented by William A. Gunter, yesterday filed suit for an absolute divorce from Mrs. Alice Anne Engle. They were married in 1927 and separated in 1941. Three children are in the custody of the respondent. Engle said he previously arranged to pay $65 a month to his wife.

Mrs. Mary L. Winebrenner, represented by Noel Spier Cook, yesterday filed suit for an absolute divorce from Henry E. Winebrenner. They were married in 1923 and separated in 1943. Abandonment and desertion is charged.

Peddlers' License Fees Will Be Increased

The city council decided at a conference yesterday to modify the ordinance governing fees charged peddlers coming here to sell produce from large trucks, according to Mayor Thomas S. Post.

William L. Wilson, Jr., local attorney, presented a petition to the council Monday urging action and suggesting that fees of $3 a day and $30 a year be raised to $25 a day and $500 a year. Mayor Post indicated the new fees will not be as large as those suggested by the attorney.

Mayor Post also said it was decided to inform Dr. Harold A. Malin, who requested that special parking space be provided chiropractors near their offices, that the council cannot grant his request unless the ordinance governing such matters is changed, and that such action is not deemed advisable at this time because the entire parking and traffic problem is being reviewed.

Conlon Urges Vets To Keep Insurance

Speaking as the local Maryland Veterans' Commission officer and also as a local insurance man, Thomas F. Conlon yesterday urged all veterans to retain their GI insurance policies.

Conlon said "government insurance, available to servicemen and veterans, is the best investment a veteran can make, and only as the veteran becomes older will he realize this fact."

Conlon, a veteran of World War I, says that some veterans are permitting their GI insurance to lapse, and later when they decide it is a good deal after all, they may not be able to pass physical requirements.

He also explained that "it should be a known fact that only the United States government is responsible for the life insurance a veteran was able to carry while in the service, and when it is converted to any of three possible forms, only the government backs up the insurance. No commercial or civilian company is involved."

Air Show May Be Held at Airport Here August 4

Cumberland Airways Announces Plans To Open Restaurant

Announcement of an air show tentatively scheduled to be held at the Cumberland Municipal Airport Sunday, August 4, was made at a brief meeting of the municipal airport commission yesterday evening in the office of Mayor Thomas S. Post.

John A. Chapman, airport manager, could not be reached last night regarding his plans for the show.

Mention was also made of the fact that Cumberland Airways, Incorporated, the West Virginia corporation which is operating the port on a lease from the city, plans to open a restaurant at the airport as soon as a building can be erected for that purpose.

Charles F. Heller, airport foreman, notified the commission that the tractor and power mower ordered for the port have not yet been delivered. He added that he has hired a farmer to cut grass at the airport.

Replies of various airport officials to letters sent to them last month by Thomas Lohr Richards, commission member, regarding the operation of restaurant concessions at airports, were tabled pending the next regular meeting of the commission, which will be held in September.

Each of the six letters stressed the fact that proper management of such restaurants is important, and all but one stated that sale of liquor was banned. The letters described management of restaurants at LaGuardia airport, N. Y.; Washington National Airport; Lockheed air terminal, Burbank, Calif., Benedum airport, Clarksburg, W. Va.; Elkins, W. Va., Municipal Airport; Allegheny County Municipal Airport, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Cleveland Municipal Airport, and Mayes field, Huntington, W. Va.

It was stated at the meeting that Charles B. Donaldson, director of airports of the Civil Aeronautics Administration, visited Cumberland Monday and asserted that conditions are favorable for completing the No. 5 runway at the airport.

TWA Interest Expressed

Assurance of the interest of Transcontinental and Western Airlines in serving Cumberland was given recently by two TWA officials following a conference here with Charles Z. Heskett, city attorney and a member of the municipal airport commission. TWA's application for serving Cumberland has received a favorable recommendation from a hearing examiner.

The officials, Gene Perkins, Kansas City, national director of public relations and expansion, and William Q. Nugent, New York, eastern regional director, expressed regret that any misunderstanding resulted from a meeting here about a year ago, when TWA representatives stated that DC-3 equipment could not be used at the airport in its present condition.

Perkins and Nugent said the research department is trying to determine the type of equipment which could be used here and at other places where topography conditions offer difficulties.

Macaroni Strike Solution May Be Reached Today

Holden Will Seek To Avert Threatened Bakery Strike

Efforts will be made at meetings scheduled today and tomorrow to reach a settlement on the strike which halted production at the Cumberland Macaroni Company June 6 and to prevent a threatened walkout of employes of Cumberland and Westernport bakeries over the weekend.

Commissioner James A. Holden, of the conciliation service, who has assisted in the settlement of practically all the major labor disputes in this city in recent years, will be here today and tomorrow to seek solutions to the wage disputes.

Holden will also check on contract disputes which led to strikes at the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Works Monday and the Wolfe Furniture Company store Tuesday.

The negotiating committee of Local 1132, Macaroni Workers Union, CIO, will meet officials of the Cumberland Macaroni Company at the company offices this morning at 10 o'clock.

Holden, who will attend the meeting in an effort to reach a solution of the wage dispute, said last evening he believes a solution can be worked out.

Want Reopening Clause

J. L. McDermott, president, said the union reduced its demands and that the company offered three and later five cents an hour but insisted on freezing wages for a year. The union, he added, insisted on a thirty-day reopening clause due to the possibility of an increase in the cost of living.

At a later meeting, the union official said, seven cents was offered, but the union still insisted on the thirty-day reopening.

McDermott said the union committee yesterday proposed a three months reopening clause so that the union can ask for an increase if the Bureau of Labor Statistics price-cost index rises ten points.

The union official said the company, at a meeting with Holden yesterday, agreed to consider the offer. If the company agrees, he added, the offer will be acted upon by the union membership this evening.

Bakery Meeting Set

Members of Local 246, Bakery and Confectionary Workers International Union, AFL, will meet with the management of three Cumberland and one Westernport bakery tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in Central YMCA to seek a settlement of the union's wage demands.

Harold M. Dixon, union secretary, said the union is hoping for a peaceful settlement of the dispute. The union, he said, seeks a 15 cent "across the board" hourly wage increase, retroactive to the time of the recent OPA price increase.

Master bakers are reported to have offered a ten cent hourly wage boost in the contract which would be effective until May 1, 1947.

Five Births Reported In Local Hospitals

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Campbell, 211 West Second street, yesterday morning in Memorial hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. William Fazenbaker, Westernport, announce the birth of a daughter yesterday morning in Memorial hospital.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. David Foley, Springfield, W. Va., yesterday morning in Memorial hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Light, 734 Maryland avenue, announce the birth of a daughter in Memorial hospital yesterday afternoon.

14,000 City Tax Bills Are Mailed

Approximately 14,000 city tax bills for 1946 were mailed to Cumberland residents yesterday afternoon, according to Charles F. Burke, Jr., city tax collector.

Burke said the bills are payable without interest on or before July 16. After that time they will revert to the date of the levy, May 16, and interest will be charged either on the basis of six per cent a year or one-half of one per cent each month.

Labor's Little Pink Card Picks Eight Out of Eleven Candidates

Most persons who go to the race tracks to see the ponies run and make a wee wager now and then, know they can buy a little pink card for a quarter, offering some alleged expert's selected winners.

But no little pink card probably offered more winners than the one distributed to voters going to polling places to vote on Monday. And this little card didn't cost a quarter. It was free, even though you didn't ask for it.

The Maryland Labor Unity Conference, through the authority of its political committee, submitted the little "voting form," as "Labor's Ticket," and urged the voters to support candidates listed because these particular candidates were believed "to be more acceptable to workers in general."

Eleven candidates were indorsed and eight finished "in the money" and their names will appear on the general election ballot in November.

Labor indorsed, on the Democratic ticket, W. Preston Lane, Hagerstown, for governor; Dawson J. Horine, Myersville, for Congress; and Stephen L. Cesnick, Klondike, for Maryland House of Delegates. Lane was a winner. Horine was defeated and Cesnick was unopposed, so can be considered a winner.

On the Republican ticket, the Labor Unity Conference indorsed Theodore R. McKeldin, Baltimore, for governor, who won easily; George Henderson, this city, for judge of the fourth judicial circuit, who won over Judge Walter Capper; William H. Lemmert, Frostburg, and Charles N. Wilkinson, this city, both winners for county commissioner.

On the House of Delegates side on the Republican ticket Labor did better than average by making four selections from sixteen candidates, and picking two winners. Lester B. Reed, Mt. Savage and Charles M. See, this city, both had labor's endorsement, and both were nominated. Irvin A. Alexander, Lonaconing, and George Carter this city, were the two defeated candidates in this indorsement.

William Boyd Payton, vice president of the Maryland Labor Unity Conference, indicated last night that labor is pleased with the results, and believes it showed its strength at the polls by getting eight of eleven candidates indorsed on the November ballots. "Eight winners and three losers isn't a bad score," he said.

The Maryland Labor Unity Conference is composed of the Railroad Brotherhoods, American Federation of Labor, Independent unions and Congress of Industrial Organizations.

Bad Weather Forces Eighteen Navy Corsair Fighters To Land Here

Planes Are En Route to Cleveland for Air Show Tomorrow

Eighteen Corsair fighter planes and a Grumman Hellcate photo plane en route from Brunswick, Me., to the air show to be held in Cleveland, Saturday and Sunday, landed at the Cumberland Municipal Airport yesterday about 4:30 p. m. after they were forced back by a thunderstorm ten miles northwest of here.

The planes are part of a group of sixty-four fighter planes from four squadrons of Air Group 17, based at Brunswick, assigned to take part in the air show marking the 150th anniversary of Cleveland's founding.

Reunion Held

Sixteen pilots from each of the four squadrons took off from Brunswick at 10:30 a. m. yesterday and landed at Atlantic City, N. J., at 12:30 p. m. for refueling. The formation was en route to Pittsburgh when 16 of the planes from a fighter-bomber squadron were forced to land here. Two other Corsairs and the Grumman Hellcat, attached to another squadron, also landed here because of bad weather.

Charles E. "Chick" Brode, a Cumberland fighter pilot who served with the squadron in the Southwest Pacific theater, met several of his former squadmates yesterday evening. Brode is employed as a pressman by the Times and Alleganian Company.

The commanding officer of the fighter - bomber squadron, Lt. Comdr. E. S. Conant, San Diego, Calif., said that the planes will take off from the airport at 10 a. m. today, weather permitting, and will continue on to Pittsburgh, where they will stop for refueling. Lt. Comdr. Conant served with the Flying Tigers in China and Burma before joining the squadron in 1944 as executive officer.

Praises Chapman

The navy planes will make simulated carrier group attacks on floating oil drums and barges during the air show, firing rockets and machineguns and bombing the "targets." They are scheduled to make the return flight to Brunswick Monday.

Lt. Comdr. Conant praised John A. Chapman, manager of the local airport, for his co-operation in arranging for transportation into the city and hotel reservations for the navy pilots.

The squadron has been reorganized twice since it first went into action in the Southwest Pacific. In 1944, when it was first reorganized, the squadron operated from the carrier Hornet, and took part in the first carrier plane strikes against the Tokyo area in February, 1945. Although most of the pilots then attached to the squadron are no longer serving with it, three-quarters of the fliers have had combat experience.

At present the squadron is waiting for completion next January of the giant new 1,000-foot carrier Coral Sea, to which it will be assigned.

FROSTBURG NATIVE GETS MILITARY AWARD FOR WORLD WAR I

J. Gilbert Winner, Washington, D. C., a native of Frostburg, has been presented the Meritorius Civilian Service award, second highest award given to civilians by the War department, by Col. C. J. Harroid, director of the Field Service division, office of the quartermaster general, the War department announced yesterday.

Lt. Col. Gordon W. Cook, deputy director of the remount branch, OQMC, read the citation, which follows:

"In recognition of meritorius performance of his duties and for outstanding achievments in originating and successfully carrying out plans for the operation of the remount branch, in devising and setting up a system of statistical records at the outbreak of World War I, which has since remained in operation, and for his valuable contribution in the preparation and publication of technical manuals. . . ."

Winner, born in October 1898, was educated in the graded schools and graduated from the high school at Frostburg, later going to Washington to take a course at Pace and Pace Business institute. He was appointed to the remount division August 2, 1917, and has continued with that branch of the office of the quartermaster general. He now holds the position of administrative assistant of the branch.

Craze Is Elected Local 1874 Trustee

Roy Craze, this city, a veteran of World War II, has been elected a member of the board of trustees of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, William B. Coleman, president of the union, announced yesterday.

Craze defeated Charles Smith, LaVale, in a special election held yesterday morning at the union hall. He will succeed Walter Wahl who resigned to accept a position with the Maryland State Police, Coleman said.

Coleman also announced the adoption of a schedule of meetings of the local during July, August and September. There will be no meetings on the first and second Wednesdays; a general committee meeting will be held on the third Wednesday and a general membership meeting on the fourth Wednesday. In the event there is a fifth Wednesday during the period, no meetings will be held, Coleman said.

Man Sentenced to Jail For Stealing Roast

Joseph Koelker, this city, was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail yesterday when he entered a plea of guilty in trial magistrates court to a charge of larceny.

Koelker was charged with entering the home of Mrs. Ruth Daniel last Thursday and taking a cooked roast, valued at $1.75 from the kitchen table. County Investigator Terrance J. Boyle and Detective Lt. B. Frank Gaffney preferred the charges.

Greek Girl Is Wounded While Serving as Spy

Courageous Agent Is Niece of John C. Liakos Here

John C. Liakos, 410 North Mechanic street, received word recently that his niece, Miss Machi Kyparissopoulou, who served with the American Information Service in Greece during the Nazi occupation, was badly wounded while persuading the German garrison in Agria, Greece, to desert.

The 21-year-old Grecian girl was appointed information agent in July, 1944, of the service which, with the active collaboration of the partisans of Elas, established an information service in several districts of Greece.

She was assigned to the district between Khania and the mountain of Pelion. Her knowledge of the French language enabled her to gain the confidence of the commander and other officers of the Nazi garrison. She regularly transmitted to the service any useful information she was able to glean from the Nazis.

In August of that year, she was transferred to the propaganda section and helped to distribute to members of the Nazi garrison Allied propaganda which might lead to the dissolution of the German army.

Is Warned of Danger

Some time later, after she succeeded in persuading most of the garrison to desert, the secret service warned her that her life was in danger since the Nazi commanders had begun to suspect her part in the desertions.

Fortunately, she was transferred to the Agria section late in September and soon managed to persuade nine of the German garrison to desert to the partisans. Six other members of the group, she told Liakos, were about to surrender when the German commander, suspecting her part in the mass desertions, learned of the place and time she was to meet the deserters and sent a patrol to arrest the spy and the soldiers.

The Nazi patrol ambushed the girl and deserters and fired into the group. Three of the deserters were killed and the others escaped to Pelion.

Girl Is Wounded

One of the German soldiers tried to capture the girl who managed to escape, suffering from a severe gunshot wound of the abdomen and a fractured leg.

Although weak from the severe pain and loss of blood, the plucky girl managed to make her way to an isolated house in Agria and was later taken to the hospital in Volos, the town where Liakos was born.

A group of Partisans who were asked to protect the girl left after a gun battle with the German patrol, she told Liakos.

In the letter, the Greek girl told Liakos she had not completely recovered although she had been in the hospital for nine months. She mentioned that the American Information Service left Greece after the liberation.

Liakos said that the above information is the first word he had received from the girl or her parents since before World War II began.

Early Rebuilding Of Bridge at Wiley Ford Is "Unlikely"

It is unlikely that the Wiley Ford bridge will be reconstructed for a number of years, unless some additional funds are made available for construction purposes, Robert Reindollar, chairman of the state roads commission, has advised Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer.

Reindollar said in his letter that the commission is preparing plans to cover repairs to the timber floor on the existing bridge, and that it is hoped to be able to award a contract so that the work can be accomplished some time this fall.

"The reconstruction of the bridge deck will add nothing whatsoever to the carrying capacity of the bridge," Reindollar said. "However, we do believe that it will add materially to the comfort of those riding over the bridge; and we feel that this should be done in view of the fact that it is unlikely that the bridge will be reconstructed for a number of years."

Funds for such reconstruction, the chairman said, are not on hand at the present time.

Reindollar recalled that in February he informed Rizer that there were no funds available for reconstruction of the bridge.

The city engineer wrote to Reindollar earlier this month at the request of the municipal planning and zoning commission, to notify him of the dangerous condition of the bridge, built as a temporary structure ten years ago after the St. Patrick's day flood of 1936 washed out the former bridge.

Prior to the commission's request, Charles F. Heller, airport foreman, reported to the mayor and city council that the bridge "shakes to such an extent that it is liable to collapse at any moment" when heavy trucks cross. Heller's comment was made in his monthly report on airport work. He urged that steps be taken to secure a new bridge before a serious accident occurs.

Wastepaper Drive Hits 41 Ton Mark

Eight more tons of wastepaper were collected yesterday to boost to a total of 41 tons the amount collected in the first four days of the current campaign.

The drive will end today with the collection slated to cover all streets and avenues south of Oldtown road.

Beauty Shop Visit Offered as Factor In Michael Death

Husband Is Released from County Jail on Bond of $3,000

Nile Michael's petition for a writ of habeas corpus to gain his release from county jail where he is presently being detained on a charge of murdering his wife, took an unusual turn yesterday when Defense Attorney William M. Somerville told the court the victim's experience in a beauty parlor may well have been a contributing case in her death.

At yesterday's hearing where Michael was released under $3,000 bond pending action of the grand jury, it was brought out that Mrs. Irene Murphy Michael, the victim and the defendant's wife, went to a beauty parlor for a permanent wave after she had allegedly been kicked in the head by her husband. Mrs. Michael's death did not occur until four days after the alleged kicking which took place during a drinking party, defense counsel said.

Somerville expressed the notion that Mrs. Michael's death may well have been brought on by the fact that her head was placed in "one of those hot head pieces" in a beauty parlor.

Had Head Injury

At this point, Assistant State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher tartly stated, "Apparently we should indict the beauty parlor operator," whereupon Somerville indicated it would not be necessary to do that.

Explaining further, Somerville said that in view of the fact that Mrs. Michael already had a head injury when she went for the permanent wave, her being placed under the heat generated by the "head piece" could well have aggravated her injuries and been a contributing factor in her death.

Somerville added gravely that he understood being subjected to the "head piece" was an "excruciating experience."

Somerville, stated that he had known Michael who lives on Oldtown road since he was a boy and that in his opinion his IQ was such that an examination by a psychiatrist was in order.

"Drunken Brawl"

Noel Speir Cook, also a defense attorney, said that Michael and his wife had been drinking prior to the kicking and that while he was not excusing Michael, it was his opinion that a manslaughter charge would be preferable in this particular instance. Assistant State's Attorney Fletcher said the state would bring the murder charge but that "Mr. Cook was probably correct in mentioning manslaughter — it was a drunken brawl."

Fletcher also told the court the state has two witnesses who saw Michael kick his wife in the head.

Associate Judge Walter C. Capper said that in view of the fact that the state concedes manslaughter and that the defense will have their client examined, bail would be set at $3,000.

The court refused to lower this amount with Judge Capper stating, "There have been a number of killings in the county recently. There must be a good bond."

Theatregate Play Opening Postponed

Erica Donovan, director of Theatregate, announced yesterday that tonight's scheduled opening performance of "Ladies in Retirement" has been postponed until Tuesday, July 2, at the West Side school auditorium. Reason for the postponement is to insure a professionally smooth opening night performance, it was reported.

Some cast changes by Director Donovan include the assignment of Wallace Harper, ex-serviceman and former Allegany high school football star, to the role of the nephew about whom most of the action in the pay revolves.

Miss Donovan will also make her Cumberland acting debut in this play—now scheduled to be given July 2, 5, 9 and 12. Tickets purchased for tonight will be honored at any of the four performances.

Gets Service Emblem

Vincent J. Lindner, Cumberland, was presented a sapphire emblem in recognition of 30 years of service with the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone company at a recent luncheon in his honor at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. The luncheon was attended by a number of friends and associates.

Local Woman Dies Of Heart Attack

Funeral Rites Are Planned for Mrs. Anna C. Reynolds, 68

Funeral arrangements for Mrs. Anna C. Reynolds, 68, widow of James William Reynolds, Forty and Eight club steward, who was found dead in bed at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Roy C. Lottig, Woodlawn, LaVale, yesterday morning, will be conducted tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in St. Patrick's Catholic church. Interment will be on the church cemetery.

Mrs. Reynolds, who had been dividing her time between her Harrison street apartment and her daughter's home since the death of her husband May 31, was stricken by a heart attack sometime during the night.

She had been in good health in recent months and did not complain of any illness when she retired about 1 a. m.

Mrs. Reynolds's passing marks the fourth sudden death in her immediate family in recent years. A sis-

Three Vacancies At Post Office Arouse Conjecture

Resignations To Become Effective Sunday Are Not Yet Filled

There is considerable talk and conjecture at the post office and around town about the situation which has developed with the simultaneous resignations of James C. Shriver, postmaster, James Webster, assistant postmaster, and Maurice Robinette, superintendent of mails. The three resignations become effective June 30, and so far as is known here, have been accepted by the postal department as effective on that date.

Unless an appointment is made before Sunday midnight, which according to officials does not appear likely, a postal inspector or some other classified employe in the postal service here may be named as acting postmaster. However, an acting postmaster from outside the postal service can be designated until a postmaster can be properly named, it is claimed.

Several persons were mentioned yesterday as aspirants for the postmaster appointment here. A member of the Democratic state central committee indicated yesterday that four persons have definitely applied and other names have been mentioned.

Barnard Is Mentioned

Charles F. Burge, Jr., city tax collector and a member of the state central committee; Gordon Griffin, this city; James E. Niland, who has 23 years with the postal department, and C. William McDermott, have officially made application for the committee's indorsement.

Robert E. Barnard, local insurance man and former OPA official is also mentioned, and he has indicated his interest to several local residents.

Thomas Cumiskey, local postal inspector, was mentioned yesterday in a published list of possible aspirants to the job, but last night he said he is not, has not been and will not be an applicant.

It was indicated here yesterday that the procedure for appointing a postmaster may take some time. The Post Office department will advertise applications for the positions and blanks can be secured from the Post Office department or the Civil Service commission, third floor of the Post Office building. These blanks were not available yesterday, it was indicated.

Recommended by Committee

Of the applicants, the three highest candidates are selected and a recommendation then is made by the Democratic state central committee. The two Maryland Senators, Millard E. Tydings and George L. Radcliffe, will then make a recommendation to the president. The president then makes the appointment.

A communication received last week from the postal department, indicates that it is also possible to fill the vacancy from the classified personnel of the post office.

In any event, an acting postmaster must be named by the end of the week.

Small's Wage and Price Statement Coincides with New York Editorial

Coincident with a statement made by Fred T. Small, plant manager of the Amcelle plant, that the American people are "killing the goose that laid the golden egg" with their unrealistic fluid wage and controlled price policy, The New York Times commented editorially yesterday that "the myth that large wage increases could be granted without the need for price increases has been completely exploded by the events of the first half of 1946."

The Times stated that the most recent evidence of the inadequacy of this theory is found in the 91-cents-a-ton increase in the ceiling price of anthracite coal, authorized to compensate producers for the wage increases recently granted. Other instances quoted were:

Meat Prices Rise

Meat — An increase of 16 cents an hour was accompanied by price increases equivalent to more than two-thirds of the amount.

Railroads — An increase of 16 cents an hour, later made 18½ cents an hour, led to the recently approved three to six per cent rise in freight rates.

Automobiles — An 18½ cents an hour increase made necessary an increase of $16 to $60 a car for General Motors. In addition, a further rise of five per cent has been permitted in order to compensate for the higher costs of steel and other parts which in turn had been caused by higher wages.

"These instances are typical," the Times said in an article that expressed the same doubts regarding the administration's control program as Mr. Small. "Building materials, work, clothing, textiles, and many other products could be added to the list. The full impact of these wage increases has not yet been felt. This is particularly true concerning the price increases permitted for coal, steel and freight rates.

"Clearly workers cannot benefit from wage increases which necessitate price increases and hence limit the rise in real earning. The only fundamental basis for an expansion in real income is found in increased productivity. When wage increases are sharply in excess of those that can be paid out of production the inevitable result will be higher prices."

Increase Is Inevitable

Citing the local brewery strike as a specific instance of the economic contradiction of fluid wages and controlled prices, Mr. Small yesterday also cited the fact that it was

Man Is Charged With Attempting To Rape Local Office Worker

Cumberland Man Is Held at Hagerstown; Woman Is Patient in Washington County Hospital

A Cumberland man, said to be an ex-infantry lieutenant, was held in the Washington county jail at Hagerstown without bond last night on a charge of assault with intent to rape a Cumberland office worker, now a patient in the Washington county hospital, Hagerstown.

Sheriff John B. Huyett, of Washington county, arrested the man about noon yesterday at Fairview cabins, atop Fairview mountain near Clearspring, and last night identified him as Frank Sam Reid, 25, 3 Gay street.

The sheriff said the woman is Helen Mongold, 28, 526 Broadway circle, a laundry employe.

Dr. Perry Prather, Hagerstown physician who examined her, said the "evidence points to the fact she was raped," but that he would not be able to tell definitely until he receives the results of laboratory tests, probably today.

Bruised about Face

Both the sheriff and the physician said Miss Mongold told them she was beaten by Reid and that she must have been raped while she was unconscious.

The doctor said Miss Mongold was bruised about the forehead, chin and shoulders, that one eye was bruised and that her upper lip was swollen. He added that her condition is good and that she probably will be discharged from the hospital today.

Sheriff Huyett related the story told to him by Miss Mongold and indicated that he put little credence in the story told him by Reid.

Reid, the sheriff said, stated that a group of three or four men attacked both him and Miss Mongold. Sheriff Huyett said Reid appeared to be unhurt except for scratches about his head and neck and that these marks apparently were inflicted by Miss Mongold as she resisted his attack.

Sheriff Huyett said the couple left Cumberland about 5 p. m. Wednesday and drove to Hagerstown, arriving there about 10 p. m. They went to at least one restaurant there but left the city about midnight and started toward Cumberland, he added.

A short distance outside of Hagerstown, Reid stopped the car and beat her when she resisted his advances, according to the sheriff, who said that Miss Mongold was knocked unconscious and removed from the car by Reid who left her lying along the road in a dazed condition.

Reid left the scene but later returned, picked up Miss Mongold and drove to Fairview cabins where the couple registered about 5 a. m. yesterday, the sheriff related.

Some hours later, Reid left the cabin, and the owner telephoned Sheriff Huyett to tell him of the woman's bruised condition. When the sheriff arrived, Reid had returned and was taken into custody, Huyett said. He added that Miss Mongold's dress was badly torn.

Pocketbook Missing

The sheriff reported that Miss Mongold's pocketbook containing about $50 in cash and about $15 in stamps are missing as well as her shoes. Reid, the sheriff said, changed his shirt and the one he had been wearing has not yet been found.

Sheriff Huyett also reported last night that Reid told Washington County Investigator Thomas Staubs that he intended to drive Miss Mongold back to Cumberland and tell her family she had been in an automobile accident.

The sheriff said he believes Reid has been separated from service and that he was wearing a blue shirt and service trousers when the alleged attack took place.

Reid will be given a preliminary hearing at 10:30 a. m. Monday before Magistrate Ross Fite at Hancock.

Dr. Prather said Miss Mongold admitted she had been drinking. It was believed that Reid also had been drinking, authorities said.

Appeal for Grocery Permit Is Filed

Glenn K. Davis, 1413 Bedford street, filed an appeal with the board of zoning appeals yesterday when his application for an occupancy permit to use the first story of a two-story brick building at 222 Davidson street as a grocery store was denied yesterday in the office of Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer.

The application stated that the premises, which have been vacant for about 18 months, were formerly used for the same purpose. The permit was denied on the ground that the building, owned by Mrs. C. N. Wilkinson, Sr., 343 Davidson street, is located in a Residential C zoning district.

James R. Nutter secured a permit to enclose a porch 8 by 20 feet at 517 Caroline street, at an estimated cost of $300. Work will be done by Lester Mullenax.
